

Concessions needed on concession stand project?

Vinaya Saksena
Staff Reporter

A group advocating for construction of a concession stand outside the new Norwood High School building will soon confer with the Permanent Building Construction Committee (PBCC), members of which have expressed concern that the project may require more funds than have been raised for it.

During discussion of the project last week, members of the PBCC said they needed more information on the nature of the facility that the Norwood High School Alumni Association (NHSAA) and others want to see built before they can give informed advice on it. However, PBCC members said they were concerned that the project may cost more than the $250,000 that has been allotted for it, depending on how ambitious the project's proponents want to get.

The concerns were aired during the PBCC's Jan. 12 meeting, when Compass Project Management President Tim Bonfatti offered to have his company look into the logistics of the project.

Farmers' Market Sub-Committee revamping itself

Vinaya Saksena
Staff Reporter

The Farmers' Market Sub-Committee is getting ready to re-launch its namesake event, and the group itself will be undergoing changes of its own, said its chairwoman.

Chairwoman Jean Taylor said preparations are being made to launch an improved farmers' market. She also revealed that the sub-committee will likely be undergoing some changes - including one that will see it cease to be known as a sub-committee.

The sub-committee, which meets Wednesday, Jan. 20, after the Record went to press, has been hard at work organizing what they hope will be an improved farmers' market. Taylor said three farm vendors had said yes to participating in the re-launched event, with several more possible vendors in talks with the sub-committee about joining on.

According to Taylor, the farmers' market will now take place on the town common, with vendors' trucks allowed to park there to avoid blocking Central Street, a problem, that plagued previous farmers markets. She said there is also a possibility of the event featuring non-farm vendors, including beekeepers.

And while Taylor is proud of what has been accomplished while she has chaired the sub-committee, she said she most likely will not continue to do so much longer. Taylor said the majority of the work involved in re-launching the farmers' market is complete, something she had wanted to ensure before her chairmanship ended.

"I've done what I said I would do," Taylor said. "Now I just want to be on the committee and not have a leadership role."

Yes, Taylor has decided to relinquish her chairmanship of the sub-committee. And yes, Norwood Memorial Airport has been a strong economic engine for the town, generating the most economic activity of any general aviation airport in the Boston suburbs and the second most of any such airport in the entire Commonwealth of Massachusetts, according to a recent Department of Transportation study.

Airport makes positive mark on local economy

Vinaya Saksena
Staff Reporter

Norwood Memorial Airport has earned a welcome distinction in a report by the Massachusetts Department of Transportation (DOT).

In its "Massachusetts State-wide Airport Economic Study," the DOT showed Norwood Memorial Airport to have the greatest economic impact of any general aviation airport in the suburbs of Boston. It was shown to have the second greatest economic impact of any airport in the state, superseded only by the Westfield-Barnes Regional Airport in Westfield/Springfield.

Airport Commission Co-Chairman Mark Ryan and Airport Manager Russ Maguire said they were proud of their airport's economic performance, but hardly surprised. Ryan added that the airport had a strong team running it, the work of which would not be readily apparent to anyone passing the facility in their car.

"It's quite impressive, what this airport does," Ryan said. "There's quite a support group behind it that makes the Airport work. We're not surprised, and it's something the town should be proud of."

"Our facility has always been a great economic engine, and we're certainly encouraged by how well this most recent study quantified the Norwood Airport's economic contributions," Maguire said in a statement. "Of course, we see this every day with flights coming and going - bringing people, goods and services to and from the town. So while we've always known that this airport's activity helps to boost our local economy, we now know by how much."

Ryan said Norwood Memorial Airport had come a long way since the 1970s, when it was more of a "recreational" airport. Today, he said, the airport is used frequently by a wide range of organizations and businesses, from the New England Patriots to rescue operations. As a result of the airport's growth, he said, the Airport Commission has been able to re-negotiate several leases favorably for the town, and the facility usually has several projects receiving Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) funding underway at any given time.

According to the DOT study, Norwood Memorial Airport generated $51,394,000 in total economic output in 2010. It said the airport employs 386 people, with a total payroll of $15,649,000.

By comparison, Westfield-Barnes Regional Airport generated $180,772,000 in economic output, with 2,119 employees and a $59,492,000 payroll. The next highest figures after Westfield-Barnes and Norwood came from Plymouth Municipal Airport, with $48,514,000 in economic output, 301 employees and a $12,046,000 payroll.

The DOT said its economic output figures were based on "the sum total of annual gross sales and average annual capital expenditures" at each airport. In cases where gross sales were not applicable - "such as a government agency" - output was "estimated as the sum of annual payroll, annual expenses and average annual capital expenditures."

HI GUYS, NICE GOIN'

November past, a Sports Law Symposium was held at Roger Williams University School of Law. Among the prominent sports agents, reps, attorneys, etc. in attendance, Our Town's Amanda Eysie. Amanda is the Senior Manager of legal operations for Fenway Sports Group.

CIRCLE OF HOPE

The brilliant display on Our Town's Common this past December for the COH was magical. The lighting of almost 1,200 luminaries encircled the Common and its pathways. The volunteer board members of the COH filled the luminary bags and inscribed the names of all the loved ones that were purchased through donations.

About the volunteers, in Lee Kennedy's own words... "What's so special about this group is that there never has been an 'I' or 'me', always 'us, and 'we.' They are the most caring and dedicated people I have ever known. Everyone who purchased a luminary is part of the COH family, because without their donations, we would not be able to help so many. This is truly a night of neighbor helping neighbor.

"What started out as one of Kathy St. Cyr's ideas, has blossomed to what we have now. I can't tell you what it means to me to see all those lights and know that something so beautiful came out of something so painful! Michelle's spirit lives on in all the COH, as it does for the people in Norwood that Michelle wanted to thank for helping her." Lee also stated that she could never thank the members of the Circle of Hope Board enough for all that they have done! The evening was truly inspiring!

ABUNDANT TABLE

This year for the Thanksgiving Eve feast, it was touch and go for a while due to the economy. Aislynn reached out to her amazing group of volunteers thru email, asking donations of corn, cranberries, turkeys, etc. People came out of the woodwork to give of their time and finances. Miraculously, and most inspiring, everything came together, a true statement of their mission of 'community helping community.' Staff members from Norwood Mercer came Wed. a.m. and worked tirelessly, cooking and cooling 26 turkeys and mashing more than 100 lbs. of potatoes. Wednesday evening, 280 full course meals were served.

Thanksgiving morning volunteers assembled and packaged 81 meals for homebound seniors, serviced through HESSCO elder services.

In collaboration with HESSCO and Temple Kol TikVah in Sharon for Christmas, 100 meals were prepared and delivered to homebound seniors. The menu included, lasagna, meatballs, salad, fresh bread, pies, etc.

Aislynn, (founder of Abundant Table), notes that the 'Ellis' family of Norwood (Alyssa, MJ, and three sons) was absolutely amazing and instrumental in making Christmas go so beautifully. Special thanks are also given to 'Team Farrington' for again playing Santa and donating $500 of WalMart gift cards to stand out guests who pay it forward and help throughout the year for those that truly need a little extra.

IN MEMORY

Our Town sends its sincere condolences to Kathy Czyryca and her family due to the passing of Kathy's sister, Doreen (Harrington) Farrell. Memory Eternal

LOST AND FOUND

An Our Towner has found a necklace with 2 small hearts and a locket on the open side with the names 'Chick and Jennie' engraved on it. If you are the owner, please call the Record for info.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The second annual Christmas Concert, sung by the choir of Our Town's St. George Orthodox Christian Church, was held the week before Christmas. The church was again filled to overflowing with guests who had come to celebrate the birth of Christ through music. The program was a combination of liturgical, secular, and respectfully modern music with a beautiful script written and orated by the Very Reverend Father, Joseph Kimmett, Priest of St. George. Under the musical direction of Choir Director, David Franciosi, the choir was magnificent! St. George also celebrated their 90-year anniversary in December. Congrats.

NEW HIRES

National news has reported that Pres. Obama has announced a 'summer youth employment program' for 180,000 young people to be employed by private firms. The millions of American 'bread winners' that are out of work Need Not Apply!

OCCUPY ISN'T DOING IT

The ubiquitous 'Occupy' groups across our nation have not coalesced and did not offer one voice with which to speak. They squatted for months leaving nothing but millions of dollars in clean-up on the backs of the taxpayer. On the other hand, many of 'we the taxpayers', agree with their feeling that banks should not have been bailed out, trillions wasted here and there, etc. If they had chosen another way in which to spread their message, they might have made a difference giving way to support from the people.

NO AMERICAN FLAGS (IN AMERICA) ALLOWED

A liberal California court has ruled that American public school students in Calif. 'CANNOT' wear AMERICAN Flag shirts of any kind. May 5, Cinco de Mayo day, is the commemoration of the 1862 defeat of French troops at the Battle of Puebla in Mexico. The Mexican students, legal and illegal, will be allowed to wear shirts displaying the foreign Mexican flag.

Norfolk Asphalt decision delayed again

Vinaya Saksena
Staff Reporter

The Board of Selectmen once again delayed making a decision on a permit request from Norfolk Asphalt, with members saying they planned to take up the matter next week.

This development comes a week after the selectmen closed a public hearing on the controversial request but delayed voting on the matter until conditions for approval were created. And while the matter was not specifically listed on the selectmen's agenda for Tuesday night, the Board discussed conditions proposed by Selectman William Plasko, which they unanimously voted to put on the "unfinished business" portion of their agenda for next week.

Plasko's proposal came up during discussion of an e-mail communication from Sumner Street resident Gregory Ryan, one of several residents who spoke out against Norfolk Asphalt's modified license request at the Board's previous meeting last week. Ryan had written that he wanted the selectmen to delay a decision on the matter until they addressed concerns that he and other residents about traffic conditions in their neighborhood that he said resulted from the coming and going of trucks from both Norfolk Asphalt and CertainTeed.

Plasko said he felt Ryan's concerns were valid, but not relevant to the Board's decision on Norfolk Asphalt's request, noting that the public hearing on the matter had been closed the previous week. Board Chairman Michael Lyons said he agreed that the issue Ryan raised needed to be addressed, but should be discussed separate from the license request.

Fellow Board member Helen Abdallah Donohue, however, asked that Ryan be allowed to finish making his case. Lyons initially deferred to the other selectmen, asking what they wanted to do, but then decided to let Ryan address the Board.

Ryan said he understood that the town did not have power to regulate the entry of trucks onto the Norfolk Asphalt property as a result of a court decision on the matter, but asked if they could impose conditions on trucks leaving the property in granting the revised license. Plasko said they could not do this, but that they could address the need for improved and updated signage in the area, another matter that Ryan had expressed concern about.

Plasko suggested that the Board send a letter to Police Chief Bartley King regarding traffic violations in the area, and to contact Public Works Director Mark Ryan about the aforementioned signage concerns. A motion to do so was approved unanimously.

Ryan mentioned that he had created a petition asking that approval of Norfolk Asphalt's request be delayed, for which he had garnered signatures. Lyons said he could submit it to the Board if he wished.

Plasko gave the rest of the selectmen an outline of proposed conditions for approval of the request, which he had drafted with the town's conservation agent and town engineer. The conditions, which Plasko noted were not finalized, included installation of a fire suppression system, a 36-inch minimum sump for each catch basin "outside the 200' Riverfront Area," and a "stormceptor" or "MA DOT and DEP approved equivalent downstream defender type structure," to be installed "in the existing drain line immediately upstream from the required shut-off valve."

Plasko made a motion to put approval of the specifics on the "unfinished business" portion of the Board's meeting agenda for next week, with Donohue

Prayer to the Blessed Virgin

(Never known to fail!)

Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech thee from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (three times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you.

Grateful thanks —L.A.

she did refer to it simply as a "committee."

The Sub-Committee began life as a subordinate of the Downtown Steering Committee and the Board of Selectmen. However, Taylor said town officials are considering making it an autonomous committee, independent of those boards.

Taylor said she wanted to credit other members of the sub-committee for helping to make the improved farmers' market possible. She said Laura Valls had been particularly helpful in efforts to re-organize the farmers' market, though she wanted to commend the entire group for its efforts.

"I'm just happy that it's off the ground," Taylor said. "We have a great committee."

The Farmers' Market Sub-Committee meets on Wednesday, Jan. 18 at 7:00 p.m. in the Lydon Room of the Norwood Civic Center.

A little of this and that...

Remember Nancy Reagan's program, "Just Say No" to drugs? Well, after all has been said and done, Selectmen should Just Say No to Norfolk Asphalt's request to increase storage capacity at their Pleasant Street site.

Their claim that more storage will mean less trucks sounds like fuzzy math. And their attempt at portraying themselves as good neighbors by reducing the size of their request for additional storage is a typical business move of asking for more than you need and then "settling" for less under the auspices of being the good guy. It is a transparent move to get what they want and Selectmen should recognize the request for what it is, which is another shiv in the backs of residents living in the area. And the possibility of going back to court over this issue is far less threatening than trying to stop the business from opening. Let them go. Selectman Bill Plasko was correct when he stated Selectmen have done all they can for residents on this issue, and they don't deserve criticism for how they have handled anything to date, but now is not the time to just roll over...

Has anyone ever seen Fire Chief Michael Howard and Christian Gerhartsreiter, aka Clark Rockefeller, in the same room? True, our Chief is clearly the better looking guy, but should they ever make a movie of Mr. Gerhartsreiter's life, Norwood could be in search for a new Fire Chief. The only suggestion here is that they don't put Chief Howard in charge of the movie's budget. Could be another Titanic...

Am I the only one wondering why General Manager John Carroll and Selectmen seem to be going out of their way to lease the former Norwood Printing building, on Central Street, that they don't even own yet, for a short period of time and for what really amounts to peanuts in terms of money? Now, the potential lessee only wants a part of the building and only for 18 months. Is there more going on here than meets the eye? Why is everyone monkeying around with now having to figure out how to divvy up the space and separate the utilities and deal with tenant problems for the proffered $5 per sq ft.? Doesn't make sense...

The opinion here is that the new Farmers' Market, to be located on the Town Common, will be bigger and better than the prior location. It should be more festive and draw more of a diverse crowd. With three farms already on board, and more to be signed up, those who abandoned Norwood and went over to the Dark Side (Westwood) will be sorry for their betrayal...

Been a few months since a School Committee member's been arrested...that has to be considered progress...

Bobby Conrad plans to open a second location in Walpole at the intersection of Route 27 and Walpole Street (Route 1A), site of the old Kahana Restaurant. At one point there was a rumor circulating that his Norwood location was to close because of a potential blockbuster real estate deal. However, that's all it appears to be, a rumor. So move along folks, nothing to see here...

Selectman Allan Howard made the comment at Tuesday's meeting that Norwood has been spending a lot of money lately, seemingly out of character with its history, and I agree. Need to replace a ladder truck at the NFD? No problem, but we don't think you are budgeting enough, so here is another $200k on top of the Selectmen's recommendation. Norwood Printing building is for sale, no problem; let's buy it because it's there, even though we aren't really sure what to do with it. The parcel we are eyeing to move the DPW yard isn't perfect? No problem. We will just build a bridge to make it more suitable. Need a concession stand at the football field to sell that tasty hot dog? No problem. We'll just take that $30k raised by a well-intentioned alumni group and throw another $250k at it. And when they no doubt tell us that isn't enough, we'll just throw some more money at it. Anyone else notice a pattern here?...

Have a nice week...

Norwood man dies in crash

Vinaya Saksena
Staff Reporter

A plane crash over the ocean off of Brewster claimed the lives of two men on Sunday, including a longtime Norwood resident.

Oulton A. Hues, a 73-year-old flight instructor who had also lived in Edgartown, was killed when a small plane he was riding crashed into the water. The other passenger, who has been identified as 68-year-old Robert Walker of East Falmouth, was also killed in the incident.

Born in Weymouth and a member of Weymouth High School's Class of 1957, Hues later graduated from Northeastern University. He served as an Aviation Electronics Technician Petty Officer 2nd Class in the U.S. Navy, in which he served from 1957 to 1961.

"We're very sad to hear the news," said Norwood Memorial Airport Manager Russ Maguire. "It was very unfortunate. Oulton has flown out of Norwood Airport for years."

Hues worked at Raytheon for 38 years, and was a manager and electrical engineer at Battelle Memorial Institute in Lexington for the past 10 years. According to his obituary, he was a member and Treasurer of

PRIMARY ELECTION DAY REMINDERS

To the Editor:

The Norwood League of Women Voters encourages all voters to take part in the upcoming National Primary election when the candidates who will run for President in 2012 will be selected.

The Massachusetts primary is scheduled for "Super Tuesday", March 6, 2012. Fewer than half of the states will have voted by then. The others will complete the process by June 26, 2012.

In order to qualify to vote in the Primary, as in all elections, a person must be registered to vote in his or her town, and must be 18 years old or older on or before Election Day. Registration is done at the Town Clerk's office in Town Hall.

The deadline for registering to vote in the Primary this year is Wednesday, Feb. 15, 2012. The Town Clerk's office will be open until 8 p.m. that evening.

Several Public Works vehicles are kept outside at night, partly because many of them do not even fit in the department's garage, says Public Works Director Mark Ryan.

Public Works facility up for a face-lift

Things need to change at the headquarters of the Norwood Department of Public Works - specifically the headquarters itself, according to some town officials, who will unveil plans to do just that next week.

The building, which was constructed in 1949, may have been fine in the 1950s, but does not meet Department needs in 2012, according to Public Works Director Mark Ryan and Assistant Town Manager Bernie Cooper. And when the Board of Selectmen meets next week, they and their audience will hear about it.

Town Manager John Carroll announced last week that Weston and Sampson Engineers had been preparing a conceptual design for a new Public Works yard, and would present their work to the selectmen on Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 7:15 p.m. If the Selectmen approve the concept, an article will be voted on at this year's annual Town Meeting to approve borrowing of $1.2 million for design work and the hiring of an owner's project manager (OPM) for the project.

Cooper was passionate about the subject, feeling that the DPW's needs had been neglected for too long and that the existing facility was well past the days when improvements could be put off in favor of other town projects. Ryan said the scope of the department's work was much broader than it had been when the facility was constructed, and that the existing facility was no longer adequate, and in some cases was not compliant with modern regulations.

"It doesn't meet the needs of the workforce, which is much more highly skilled than in the past," Cooper said. "Public Works always goes to the bottom of the list."

Ryan noted that the building did not have wash bays for workers to remove chemicals from trucks after snow removal in the winter, something he said the Department of Environmental Management (DEM) requires. He also said that most of his department's twenty-six vehicles did not fit in the existing garage, which had been designed before many types of vehicles currently used were even on the market.

"We have a $4 million fleet of vehicles, and we can only put six of them inside," Ryan said. "It affects the capability of the vehicle. It shortens its lifespan."

Ryan also said most of his vehicles have an expected lifespan of roughly ten years. Having a garage where the vehicles could be stored may increase that number to fourteen or fifteen years, making the need to replace vehicles less frequent.

asking that the Conservation Commission be provided with a copy of the specifics. The motion was approved unanimously by the selectmen.

Fire chief on the hot seat

Fire Chief Michael Howard gave his report to the selectmen, noting that a rescue vehicle formerly had been placed back in service after being sidelined for a time- news that the entire Board welcomed. However, Selectman Allan Howard questioned whether firefighters were in sufficiently good physical shape, and whether deficiencies in this regard had led to the high number of injuries the chief reported. Chief Howard said he believed his firefighters were in good physical shape, but noted that there were numerous older members in the ranks.

COA donation approved

That same evening, the selectmen voted unanimously to accept a check from the Friends of the Norwood Council on Aging in the amount of $58,904, to be used for the purchase of a new Norwood Senior Center bus from Quality Coach Sales. The group had asked only that the bus bear lettering on each side indicating that it had been donated by them.

Police chief replacement

While it was not mentioned at Tuesday's meeting, efforts to find a new police chief to replace King are expected to begin soon. Town policy dictates that a new chief be appointed annually.

In a recent letter to the selectmen, Town Manager John Carroll outlined plans to fill the position. Assistant Town Manager Bernie Cooper said the position would most likely be open to any Norwood Police officer with at least five years experience, which would basically translate as one who has attained the rank of sergeant or higher. Cooper noted that King himself had been recruited from within the ranks.

Bonfatti, whose company has been serving as Owner's Project Manager (OPM) for the nearly complete new Norwood High School building, said he did not believe the project was likely to come under the $250,000 budget threshold if the town wanted a fully appointed concession stand.

"I don't think you're going to get it built conventionally for $250,000," Bonfatti said. "You might be able to get a pre-fabrication."

"The thing we have to do is make people understand that $250,000 is just a (minimal) budget," said PBCC Chairman Ted Callahan. "I've seen what you can get for $250,000. And I don't think it's what they think they can get."

Bonfatti told the PBCC that his company would be willing to look into the matter at no extra cost beyond that of Compass' work on the high school if the Committee authorized them to do so before June, given that they would already have staff working on the site until then. No vote was taken on the matter, although Callahan said he would like Compass to get started on the work.

NHSAA President Jerry Miller said he and a committee of concession stand proponents planned to regroup this week and meet with the PBCC to discuss the issue. He noted that Town Manager John Carroll, who has been involved in the discussions, would be returning from vacation this week and that other members of his group would finally be available as well.

As for the cost of building the concession stand, Miller said he and other members of his group had been visiting similar facilities at other high schools to help determine what kind of concession stand would be right for Norwood High School and how much it might cost. And while they did not yet have hard numbers, Miller said they had no intention of letting the project become a "Taj Mahal," and that he did not expect the total cost of the project to approach $400,000, as some had suggested it might.

"That would be a shock," Miller said. "We have no desire to go back to Town Meeting and ask for more money. I don't think anyone wants to do that."

Ai3 Architects had previously reported to Carroll that a concession stand like the one built at East Bridgewater High School could cost $350,000. However, Ai3's Scott Dunlap had noted that the figure could be reduced to as low as $175,000, depending on the number of toilets to be included.

Boys' Basketball goes 2-0 for the week

Kevin Stone
Staff Reporter

Entering last week, it was unclear what type of team the Norwood boys' basketball team was.

After winning and losing games this year in some of the oddest fashions, the Mustangs entered last week 3-4 overall and 2-2 in league play.

Games against Dedham (Tuesday, Jan. 10 and Friday, Jan. 13) would be big indicators moving forward as to just what type of season this was going to be for a team hoping to make some noise in the tournament and capture a Bay State Conference title.

After a big 57-50 win over Brookline on Jan. 3 which head coach Rich Cormier called it a "huge moment in our season", it was clear that things were starting to turn for the Mustang ballers.

After a 51-44 win against Dedham and then an outstanding 48-46 win against Wellesley, questions may have been answered in regards to just what kind of team this Norwood squad is.

They now sit alone atop the Herget division at 5-4, and 4-2 in BSC play with just about a month left to go in the regular season.

The Wellesley win was huge as both teams entered the game at 3-2 in league play with Wellesley sitting right behind Norwood in the division.

However, the Dedham win three days prior to it may have actually been more important than that one due to the circumstances surrounding the victory.

Norwood trailed after the first quarter 19-14 and at the half by a score of 33-23. Trailing is never really an issue when it is kept within reach, however the Norwood squad has had trouble that game with both falling behind and blowing leads, again challenging their mental toughness in a game they really should have dominated wire-to-wire (Dedham sits at 2-5).

"It was one of our worst defensive halves of the season," said Cormier. "Dedham was getting wide-open looks, driving straight down the middle and we seemed incapable of stopping them."

The switch was then flipped.

Norwood came out and had a great defensive second half, which ended up resulting in some easy transition baskets to get the offense going. The third quarter would be the jumping off point as the Mustangs scored 20 of their 51 points in the frame. Astonishingly, Norwood only allowed 11 points in the second half. Cormier was also quick to point out the job Tommy Bartucca did on Dedham star Jeremy Clifford (15 points - all in the first half).

"Once we got going on the defensive end, everything turned around for us. Troy Sousa-Semper got things going offensively in the third with some nice drives to the basket and then finished it off with the only 3-pointer of the game," explained Cormier.

As for the stat lines, it was another all around team effort, something that Norwood has been taking pride in all season.

Tommy Munro had 11 points and 13 rebounds, Troy Sousa Semper had 13 points, 5 rebounds and 4 assists, Sean O'Neill had 12 points, 4 re-

Cheerleading raising funds for Florida

Kevin Stone
Staff Reporter

You would think being the state champions would come with some benefits when it comes to future competitions.

That is not the case with the Norwood cheering squad.

After earning a trip to the National High School Cheering Competition in Disney World, which is scheduled for February, the Mustang's were immediately faced with the burden of what the actual cost is to send an entire team to Florida.

With January rapidly closing, the squad is desperately trying to defray some of the cost so that they can represent the state and hopefully compete for a World High School championship as well.

On Jan. 27 and Feb. 19, the co-ed cheering squad will be holding two separate fundraisers in hopes that they can raise enough money to make the trip that they have earned to Florida a reality.

The first event will take place on Friday, Jan. 27 at 7 PM at the VFW hall on Dean Street. Food will be provided by The Chateau and Colonial House Restaurant on Savin Avenue, with entertainment being provided by the Lenox Street Band. Tickets at $10 a piece will also include some terrific raffles.

The second fundraiser takes place this Thursday, Jan. 19 from 6-8 p.m. at Legacy Place Dedham Pandora. Both events' proceeds will go towards helping the girls (and guys) in their quest for a National Championship.

Head coach Lisa Verrochi talked about how hard her team has been working in preparation of their once and a lifetime opportunity.

"The team has been working extremely hard on perfecting a new routine for the competition," she said. "Going to the National High School Cheerleading Competition entails creating a different kind of performance, integrating props and crowd-leading cheers so, they have been hard at work creating and perfecting a routine that will yield the points they need to advance to finals." If they are able to afford to go, the team will be competing on Saturday, Feb. 11 in the National High School Cheering Competition. If they qualify for finals, they will compete twice on Sunday, Feb. 12.

The first competition will be for the NHSCC, the other for the World High School Cheerleading

Girls Hockey ties with Wellesley

Kevin Stone
Staff Reporter

On Wednesday, Jan. 11, the Norwood girls' hockey team entered the game unbeaten. It left unbeaten as well, but learned a lot about themselves in a 2-2 tie with league rival Wellesley that may end up going a long way in showing just how far this team can go in the postseason if and when they make it back there.

The team now sits at 7-0-1 after beating Natick on Saturday night, but the Wellesley game, at just about the half way point of the season, had many twists and turns that can go a long way in building character for a young team that had not faced much adversity yet this year.

"It's good to see how far along we are with a game like this," said head coach Bill O'Donnell. "The fact that we had a lead late, the game got tied up and then we almost ended up winning it...it's a good learning tool. Right now, they are disappointed that they only came away with one point instead of two, and that is important because it shows how far their expectations have come for themselves. They're mad that they got the tie, and that's good."

Early on in the game, both goaltenders were excellent. Norwood's Samantha Baturin had a few huge saves that allowed the Mustangs to get their legs under them and into the flow of the game.

A big 3-on-2 stop and point blank save from a shot in the slot with 3:18 left in the first period were huge as Karyn Colomey put home a break away opportunity a minute later for a 1-0 lead at the first intermission.

Jenny Rossman circled around the Red Raider net and put home a wrap around chance on the power play after nice passes from Emily Kelly and Jenny O'Donnell 4:07 into the second period to give Norwood the 2-0 lead.

To Wellesley's credit they fought back, tying the game with 6:01 left in the period. Baturin again had some big stops down the stretch to send her team to the locker room with a one-goal lead heading into the third period.

The final frame was a wild one, where Norwood faced its first real trouble of the season.

With 4:32 remaining in the game, the Mustangs had a chance to ice the game with a 2-on-1 opportunity, but the Wellesley net minder came up huge.

Exactly two minutes later, Wellesley tied the game with a traffic-tip out in front.

Both teams then had some spectacular chances to give their team a win, but neither could capitalize.

Astoundingly, Norwood then got a power play chance with 49.7 seconds left in the game after the Red Raiders were called for hooking.

Norwood controlled possession for the duration of the game, and finally got what appeared to be a huge break with 10.4 seconds left when a loose puck after a shot from the point seemed to trickle over the goal line before anyone could cover it up. Unfortunately, the referee waived it off, and one last futile effort with two seconds left missed the mark, ending the game in a deadlock.

It was visibly clear that Norwood and Wellesley both viewed the game very differently while shaking hands at center ice.

Wellesley players smiled and laughed leaving the ice while the Norwood girls quickly skated off and headed down the tunnel to the locker room fairly quiet.

Despite the dramatics, a game like this had to happen for Norwood.

If they have any shot of returning as far in the tournament as they did last year, it is better to see adversity now rather than not being prepared for it in a one-and-done situation when March comes around.

"I told them that they played hard and deserved to win, but make sure to learn from this," said O'Donnell. "They now know what it's going to take to win against a very good opponent who's not going to quit when they get down. You need to bring it every single shift with no lapses, and they were able to learn that tonight. Wellesley is a great team and with any opponent in the Bay State Conference we aren't going to be given anything."

Girls' Basketball splits the week

Kevin Stone
Staff Reporter

After January 6th's embarrassing 62-26 loss to the number one team in Division 1 South, Braintree, Norwood girls' head basketball coach Alex DaLuz said his team "needed to win their next game against Dedham" in order to keep team morale up.

What he did not mention was that they were also still in tournament contention and any victory at this point in the season is a big one.

DaLuz and his squad got that important victory on Tuesday, Jan. 10, although it was not the way he hoped. The 49-47 final should never have been that close after Norwood held a commanding 34-14 lead at half-time.

The Mustangs, now 3-4 overall and 2-4 in Bay State Conference play, seemed to take their foot off the accelerator in the second half, nearly letting 5-5 (1-5 in the league) Dedham pull off the outrageous comeback.

The win was big, but could not be followed up as the girls fell to perennial contender Wellesley (7-2 overall, 5-1 in BSC play) 46-30 on Friday, Jan. 13.

While no league loss is ever a good loss heading into crunch time of the season, the response bounds and 3 steals. Richie Saad chipped in with 6 points off the bench and a great all-around game. Steve Martinez sat most of the first half after picking up two quick fouls but he had a great second half. Dan Flahive and Rodney Jean-Marie gave the team great minutes off the bench and combined for 7 points, seven rebounds, two assists and four steals to help seal the win.

Moving forward, it is very possible that the Mustangs could be sitting at 6-2 in league play when this week ends.

Norwood faced another big test Tuesday, Jan. 17 when they host Natick. The Red and Blue are sitting right behind Norwood in the division at 4-3 overall and 3-3 in league play. On Friday, barring any major set backs, Norwood should be able to take care of business when they host an 0-7 Walpole team.

Things are beginning to click for the gold and blue on the court, however consistency will still be the big question moving forward.

Competition, which 30 teams from 10 countries are competing in. The Sunday portion of the event would be televised by ESPN2 and through out Disney World.

Needless to say, the team needs the help of Norwood in order to be able to build off their Massachusetts State title and represent the title for the entire world to see.

win against Dedham was the more important development to come out of last week's games for the Mustang girls.

Amy Duggan scored 14 points to again lead her team. Jessica Gorman had 9 points while Kelly Duggan had 8 points in the important victory.

"The second half was a completely different story. We acted like the game was over and Dedham did not quit. They outworked us. They started making shots that they missed in the first half. This team is not used to playing with a lead and winning, and that was evident in the Dedham game," said DaLuz.

The best part about that problem is that the only cure for it is winning.

"It is something that you can only work on when we're in that position. We will get better at it with more experience," he said.

Moving forward, things do not get any easier for Norwood. On Tuesday they will travel to 6-2 (5-1 in BSC play) Natick for a huge Bay State Conference game, then immediately take on another extremely tough conference opponent when Walpole (7-1, 5-1) visits the Norwood gym Friday night, Jan. 20.

The Mustang girls' basketball team is young and continuing to learn on the fly. With that being said, the reality of them making the tournament is still up in the air, but the girls have shown signs that their chances could be as good as anyone else's with a little consistency. The stretch drive begins now.

Boys' Hockey even keeled after Fenway experience

Kevin Stone
Staff Reporter

Sitting at 7-2 heading in to last week's slate of games, it would have been understandable if the Norwood boys' hockey team had a bit of a let-down after Monday night's thrilling experience of skating under the lights at Fenway Park.

Following that experience, head coach Bill Clifford was hopeful that his team would use it as a jumping off point to make a strong push towards the postseason in the final month and a half of the schedule.

"Yeah, I hope we can use this a little," he said. "Hopefully a once-in-a-lifetime experience like this can kind of recharge them for the rest of the season here."

Well, after back-to-back 2-2 ties on Wednesday night against Wellesley and Saturday night against an emotional Natick team, both at home, nothing has really changed for Norwood.

The Mustangs sit at 7-2-2 and have a tough week coming up with games against Walpole (Wednesday, Jan. 18) and Weymouth (this Saturday night), both on the road, and it is still a bit unclear as to just where this team is heading.

The Natick result is a bit more understandable than the Wellesley one is, which was alarming in itself.

Natick, who recently lost senior Justin Bailey unexpectedly, was playing in just their second game since his passing, and is clearly playing with more emotion than any other team in the state right now.

The Wellesley tie, however, is somewhat troublesome for a team looking to potentially win the Bay State Conference and make a run in the tournament.

Peter Kelly and Mark Maggio had given Norwood a 2-0 lead over the Red Raiders and it seemed like they were cruising towards another big league win.

Not so fast, as Wellesley tied the game with two goals with less than five minutes remaining in the third period to steal a point from right under the Mustangs. To their credit, a game like that can often feel like a loss, but they were able to hold things together against a storming Natick team.

Now, the question becomes just what kind of team are the 2011-2012 Norwood hockey players?

The remaining 10 games on the schedule are very difficult, with just three home games left compared to seven on the road.

A rematch with Dedham, who they beat 9-0 just over a week ago, should be intriguing, while road games against Wellesley and Natick again could determine the postseason fate of the Mustangs during the last week of the season. Norwood is just 2-1 on the road this year while sporting a 5-1-2 record at home

As of now, the Mustangs sit alone atop the Bay State Conference Herget Division with a 5-0-2 record. Framingham, Needham and Braintree are all jockeying for position atop the Carey Division.

A non-league game against Brockton thrown in with league games against those same Flyers and Rockets will also be a strong barometer of where this team is heading down the stretch.

NORWOOD LITTLE LEAGUE REGISTRATION

Walk-in Registration dates have been set for Norwood Little League, beginning Saturday, Feb. 4, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 23, 5:30-8:00 p.m. and Saturday March 3, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. All registrations will be held at the Civic Center. On-line registration is not available for players who are new to Norwood Little League. Note: There will be an additional processing charge of approx $6.50 for 1 player, $8.50 for 2 players and $10.00 for 3 or more players. Due to the Town of Norwood increase in Field User Fee's from $10.00 to $20.00 per child we have been forced to raise the registration fees to $185.00 from last year's $175.00 for a single player. Discounts for multiple players remain the same as prior years. A second player receives a $75.00 discount. A third player receives a $100.00 discount. There is a family cap of $380.00, so for any families with 4 or more players you will not be asked to pay for more than 3 players.

HEBREW FOR ADULTS

Temple Beth David in Westwood is offering beginning

Hebrew for Adults with Debby Elk. Learn the alphabet, or alephbet, and how to read simple Hebrew. Learning Hebrew is neither only for children nor incredibly difficult. Hebrew uses an alphabet with clear connections to our Latin alphabet and is quite regular with relatively few rules or exceptions. Knowing some Hebrew can make visits to Israel, and to services, much richer experiences. Classes run: Jan. 22, 29, Feb. 10, from 9:00 - 10:30 a.m. The only charge is the cost of the book. Please register at the temple office: 7 Clapboardtree St., Westwood, info@templebethdavid.net or 781-769-5270.

GRACE CHURCH BOOK CLUB

The Grace Church book club meets the third Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. The January book selection is John P. Marquand's "Point of No Return" and it will be discussed at the Jan. 19 meeting. All are welcome to join the book discussion. Grace Episcopal Church is located at 150 Chapel Street. Light refreshments are served. (To view monthly book selections through July 2012, go to www.gracenor.org and check Upcoming Events.)

FIRESIDE COFFEEHOUSE

Come to the Fireside Coffeehouse on Sunday, Jan. 22, from 2-4 p.m. for an afternoon of acoustic music from a collection of Boston-area musical duos and trios. The featured duo will be Two for the Show, the partnership of Ellen Schmidt and Jake Kensinger, who have been performing together for 21 years. They sing and play material arranged for guitar, bass, and vocals. They present swing and standards, traditional and contemporary folk songs, instrumentals, classic hits, blues, country music, and original compositions. If your musical duo or trio would like to perform two songs as part of the Jan. 22 afternoon lineup, please email firesidecoffeehouse@gmail.com in advance for a slot. The Fireside Coffeehouse takes place at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, 24 Berwick Street. $5 donation at the door goes to a church music fund. Refreshments provided. More info at <https://sites.google.com/site/firesidecoffeehouse>.
