Schools report on override plan progress Superintendent evaluation discussed

Susan Kryczka
Staff Reporter

At their first meeting of the new school year held on Wednesday, Sept. 11, the Norwood School Committee reviewed progress that has been made in implementing the school budget approved by the override and tackled the specifics of the annual performance evaluation of the superintendent.

"We are in the black by $87,000 overall. We have hired all of those positions we said we were going to hire," said Superintendent David Thomson. Soon to follow will be the purchasing of non-personnel items including new curriculum materials for English Language Learners (ELL). Thomson promised more information as it is available. "I think it's important to show how and where that money is being used." Observing that school had only been in session for five days, Thomson gave a quick review noting that enrollments across the district are up 43 students, but that this could change. "We do these daily up until this week. We see a lot of fluctuation in September. We will revisit this in a few weeks." ELL numbers have increased, and students are still being assessed as to their levels. Special Ed students are also being assessed.

The Norwood Community Preservation Committee (CPC) met last week on Sept. 11 and discussed the upcoming item on the Town Meeting Warrant regarding the Town's purchase of the Saint Streets Lot.

The lot, consisting of six acres of land west of the Neponset River and East of Saint Joseph, St. Paul and St. John Avenues respectively, was put up for sale by DCD Realty and Boch Enterprises last year after DCD Realty's Michael Clemmey cut it out of his car storage plan for 84 Morse St. due to major opposition from the Norwood Planning Board and residents.

Now that the land has been properly assessed, which according to Town Manager Tony Mazzucco took longer than expected, the CPC is preparing to purchase the land for $325,000, after approval at the Fall Town Meeting on Oct. 7, for use as conservation land. Town Planner Paul Halkiotis said the land itself will cost $280,000, but the allocation was set to cover conservation restrictions, a cleanup, a land survey and bonding the property.

Halkiotis said officials had to scramble to get everything finished for the Oct. 7 date, since Fall Town meeting is usually held in November, but now he believes everything is

Sustainability Comm. discusses guidelines, goals, and ideas

The inaugural meeting of the new Norwood Sustainability Commission took place on Monday, Sept. 16 led by General Manager Tony Mazzucco who provided an overview of the commission, its functions, and goals.

The committee of seven members (an eighth member, a Norwood High School member, is yet to be named), quickly approved Mazzucco's recommendation that Peter McFarland be chair of the committee for the first year based on his experience on the Community Preservation Committee.

"Peter, starting at the very next meeting, will be under the gun to keep everyone in line," joked Mazzucco. A consultant, Keith Bergman, will be brought on to help with drafting a five-year Sustainability Action Plan that will be updated every five years or as needed.

ZBA approves first MUOD plan

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) approved the first project in the Mixed Use Overlay District (MUOD) that took advantage of the new zoning regulations.

Owner of 500 Washington St. John Pinciario returned to the ZBA on Tuesday after he withdrew his application back in November of 2018. Pinciario wanted to change four existing commercial units on the second floor of his building to residential – because he said at the time renting out the commercial spaces were next to impossible – but the dimensional requirements of the zoning for the original Central Business District did not allow it.

Pinciario said back then he already had the permit for two units, but it was the fourth unit he was looking to add that put him over the by-law that called for a multi-family building needing 10,000 square feet for the first unit and an additional 3,500 for each additional unit. For the fourth unit, he was off by 2,500 square feet.

“I was able to get three of them residential and keep one commercial and then they passed the bylaw at Town Meeting reducing it to 5,000 square feet and 2,500 for each additional dwelling unit,” Pinciario said. “I just want to add that if you do the math correctly, you could get six units out of it now, but for now we’re just looking to change the commercial.”

ZBA member Patrick Mulvehill congratulated Pinciario for being the first to take advantage of the MUOD.

“There’s actually an argument that the density may need to be increased for certain conditions,” he said.

The Norwood Zoning Board of Appeals approved its first Mixed Use Overlay District application on Tuesday night.

The Board voted 4-0 with member Jack Perry abstaining from the discussion because he was Pinciario’s architect.

The Board also discussed a change to its decision on 241 Pleasant St. Originally the membership voted to approve the conversion of the property from a single-family to a two-family, but they voted to do so with both a special permit and a variance, which is against regulations.

“This is the issue; we approved it and we were all on board with it, but we should have been a little more technical and approved it as a special permit or a variance specifically,” said Chair Tom Brady. “As it is, we basically approved both of them. It’s not the end of the world, but it should be corrected.”

Brady said he felt the way to go would have been to reopen the hearing, but that would have required the proponent and his lawyer David Hern to come, which Brady said Hern is not willing to do.

The Board voted 5-0 to clarify the decision as a variance for the project.

In other news, owners of the Mobil at 971 Providence Highway, Assad and Stephanie Nasser, came by to update the Board on a minor modification they wanted to make to a handicapped ramp behind the new building. The ramp originally was located where it would have made someone parking in the handicapped space go through a gas pump, making it more dangerous. They changed the location of the ramp.

Also, attorney Mark Bobrowski came in to ask for a minor modification of the plan for 862-878 Washington Street. Due to a mix up, the plan to the ZBA has parking spaces running parallel to the building, while the plans filed with the Planning Board have them perpendicular. The Board voted to allow the change in plans to perpendicular.

Selectmen vote 3-1 to take no position on Article Four

Mary Ellen Gambron
Staff Reporter

The Board of Selectmen voted 3-1 to take no position on Town Meeting Article Four at its meeting on Tues., Sept. 17. Selectman Allan Howard voted against it.

Article Four deals with potential conversions of certain historical structures in Town to multi-unit residences. The issue arose when a development proposal came to light regarding 289 Walpole St., which was once a former governor's mansion. If passed, it would cause a zoning bylaw change that would allow condominiums greater than four units to be developed on historical property.

The board debated whether the article's language referred to the structure itself or the property size.

"The way I see this is, the owner of this property put the property on the market for a price, and no one wanted to pay his price," Howard said. "So now we have a developer who wants to put condos inside the property. So you have the shell of the building there, and that's it, for historical purposes."

He added that the developer intends "to put condominiums around the property on adjoining lands."

"I think we have enough condos and apartments in Norwood," Howard said. "This is going to allow other locations that meet the same criteria to do the same exact thing."

Selectman Tom Maloney said that, with a special grant from the Planning Board, a developer could convert a historical property into two, three or four residential units "provided that the historic exterior is substantially maintained without making change or alteration." The two qualifications, he explained, were that the structure had to be a single-family residence built before 1930 and that it must have 4,000 feet of habitable space.

"I think we have a pretty astute and aggressive Planning Board whose responsibility it would be to judge the validity and worthiness of the individual application," he said. "I understand Mr. Howard's concerns, but I think that the article was written in such a way that we are safe moving forward, so that there would be no more than four units where there is now one."

Howard argued that the article may allow four within the structure itself, but makes no mention of the property as a whole. It could also leave "a shell of a building" solely to meet the historical designation.

"To call it historical and just have a shell there is ludicrous," he said. "It's like a movie set, for crying out loud."

Chairman Paul Bishop asked if the Board had to take a position.

Selectman William Plasko said that the locations of the surrounding properties to be converted were not outlined.

To move forward, Maloney made a motion to recommend Article Four, which no one seconded. Then Howard made a motion opposed to Article Four, which no one seconded.

After some further discussion, Plasko made a motion to take no position on the article, which Maloney seconded. It was approved 3-1, with Howard in opposition.

The other articles received the Board's approval, except for Article 14. The board approved 4-0 to not take a stand on the issue because Town Meeting members will see a presentation on it.

Norwood Light Department Superintendent James Collins gave a monthly presentation. The billing system is in the process of being converted to MUNIS. Bill formatting for water and electric is expected to be updated by late December.

If a resident installs a new solar panel system of up to 25 kilowatts, there is a grant available, he added.

Standards on pole attachments are in the works, Collins said. Attachments would only be allowed on poles with secondary voltage.

DPW head Mark Ryan discussed the maintenance of Norwood's 24 athletic fields, noting that all of them are highly used.

In other news, Bishop noted that Sat., Sept. 28 is Household Hazardous Waste and Recycling Day. From 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., materials can be dropped off at the composting facility at 370 Winter St. He stressed that no brush or leaves can be left because of the flammable materials.

Biotech company Moderna Inc., will be giving a presentation on the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) agreement that will go before Town Meeting. The Selectmen voted 4-0 to approve the TIF at its previous meeting on Sept. 10. The company develops cancer-fighting agents based on genetic information.

The Board also approved the resignation of Bill Kinsman from the Permanent Building Construction Committee by a 4-0 vote. In honor of his decades of service, the members voted to issue him a commendation.

The next meeting will be Tues, Sept. 24 at 7 p.m.

Airport, BEH not in synch

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood Airport Commission (NAC) met last Wednesday, Sept. 11 and discussed several issues facing the facility.

Firstly, the NAC discussed notification procedures necessary for meetings with Boston Executive Helicopters (BEH). The meetings were set up so as to check in with the company on a monthly basis after the Town, the NAC and BEH came to a settlement agreement for a lawsuit earlier in the summer.

According to NAC members, they arrived at the most recent meeting with no representative from BEH, after confirming the date and time with BEH General Manager Christopher Donovan.

"I was told they were going to confirm the meeting and nobody ever confirmed the time or location," Donovan said. "I would have been at the meeting, but I didn't know what the time or location was. I emailed the Town Manager today about that but I haven't gotten a response."

"It's a communication protocol meeting, but there's already been a drop in the communication," said NAC member Michael Sheehan.

NAC members said they believed the time and place had been confirmed at the first meeting.

"There's an insinuation there and I take offense to that," Donovan said.

"I don't think there's any accusation at all," Sheehan said. "I'm simply asking that going forward the Town Manager, whose part of the meeting group with the chair, establish a schedule. No one made any insinuation."

Chair Mark Ryan had to step in after a good deal of back and forth between Donovan and Sheehan. Donovan pointed out that Sheehan never signed the settlement agreement between the NAC, the Town and BEH. Sheehan pointed out that it is common practice to have attorneys do so when it is impossible or impractical for the signee to do so.

Donovan also said that he had finally received the $750,000 promised to BEH under the settlement agreement.

In other airport news, the Welch Administration Building is almost complete. The NAC also approved a payment of $175,870.84 for the month's construction costs for the building. The Town is on the hook for 5 percent of that payment, as it is for the total cost of the building's construction, which at this payment interval is $8,793.54.

Airport Manager Russ Maguire also discussed communication he's had with the car rental company Avis regarding ongoing issues the Airport has had with the company using more spaces than agreed to.

"At present, this issue has been resolved and we're looking at some type of a letter from Avis's Corporate Headquarters letting us know what they propose and will need to lease in terms of more spaces on the lot," he said.

Thomson reported a very smooth school opening and that a final enrollment number will be reported to the state on October 1.

Thomson's annual performance evaluation evolved into an unexpectedly lengthy discussion over the interpretation of the performance standards and their summary conclusion. The annual review consists of measurements against four evaluation standards and various related elements. The evaluation also includes the superintendent's own reflections on his performance and individual evaluations completed by each committee member. The final summary results are based on the combined feedback.

The results of the draft evaluation were shared at the meeting showing Thomson receiving "developing" and "proficient" for each of the standards. Committee members expressed disagreement as to their understanding of how the individual evaluations were weighted which resulted in differing ratings. One concern raised was that Thomson might have been held to certain action plan items that were not to be completed until 2020. "There wasn't enough time to implement it," said Member David Catania, pointing out that the override year prevented some things from being done. Member Joan Giblin indicated that there was no evidence presented that showed completion of some items which were reflected in the evaluation. Chair Teresa Stewart felt the summation of the standards evaluation did not appear to add up according to each individual evaluation. "The idea is that three said developing, two said proficient so it should be developing." Reading the individual evaluations however, Stewart said that proficient seemed to be the answer.

Thomson observed that the instructional rounds that he was to complete were never part of the goals. "It was not possible to get around to all the schools. The overall performance is supposed to be the sum of the overall performance," said Thomson. He added that it is a struggle for the committee to understand his daily work as some members spend more time with the superintendent than others. With the inconsistency in understanding the evaluation tool, it was decided that each member would read each individual evaluation and a discussion would be held at the next meeting. The committee also said they would start the conversation for setting Thomson's 2020 goals at the Sept. 25 meeting.

Other school business included Principal Bryan Riley from the Prescott Elementary School describing the Prescott's need for a trailer (which he prefers to call a "cottage") to help manage a space crisis at the school. "We have no other options," Riley said in trying to accommodate students and teachers in the current space.

Vice Chair Myev Bodenhofer noted in her visit to the school that the art and music room has no door on it.

"This makes me very angry," said Member Maura Smith, noting that there is no space for teachers to service high-needs students. "I don't know how we didn't kind of see this coming...I am not saying this is your fault."

Riley agreed that trying to service the most challenging students becomes difficult as the increase in students has pressed on all space and resources. No vote was taken as this was an opportunity for Riley to talk about the current situation.

During the School Committee Addendum, Catania read a personal statement acknowledging the anniversary of the Sept 11 attacks which took place 18 years ago. On that morning, he was walking to work in lower Manhattan, saw the smoke from the north tower and, shortly thereafter, witnessed the twin towers collapsing.

"What I can tell you is what I did the next day: I went to work. Not like nothing happened, because what had happened was omnipresent, but I was not going to let the terrorists win. I had to do my small part to keep America running...education provides opportunity and opportunity gives hope. As long as we have hope, fear and hate cannot and will not ever win."

to create a culture of sustainability that will be fully integrated into the community for the benefit of present and future generations. Its mission is to help develop a culture of sustainability in the community through a partnership with all residents, government, and business utilizing innovation, education communication and comprehensive and strategic planning. Mazzucco asked the committee to review the mission and vision and make suggestions. He views subcommittees as doing the bulk of the work.

“Just get the work done as you move forward. It can be formal or informal—it’s up to you to decide,” Mazzucco said.

McFarland agreed that an informal approach would be a good one. “We’ll be doing a lot of throwing things up and see who has an interest in that...we can set some goals.” McFarland added that he wants to know what brought committee members to the group and their ideas. “Everyone comes with some ideas and maybe we’ll have a brainstorming.”

Mazzucco recommended the committee first Google other towns’ action plans. “We have to find out what will work for Norwood.” He noted that some towns just focus on municipal buildings. He added, “We are never going to have wind power in Norwood. As you go through other plans, how do we want to structure ours?”

Member John Aprea suggested that it would be good to have a plan by springtime, something to show to the community. “We can stand up and talk about it.”

Mazzucco also challenged the group to think about more innovative ideas besides just participating in the Massachusetts Green grant. Green roofs for buildings or water reduction are possible ideas.

“Reduction out in the community is where to see the actual results.” Member David Ruggiero said. “We can lead by example, by getting the Green grant and following up with what the committee does.”

Mazzucco also noted the action plan could include testing some small pilot projects like moving from oil to electricity with a project. “We’re going to build something that is great, but in five years there will be something cheaper.”

McFarland proposed getting waste management to come in and talk to the group and asked Mazzucco to circulate some online links to get ideas on what might be worth pursuing and come back for a discussion on what looks promising at the next meeting.

Members also remarked about the importance of being realistic when it comes to community confusion and even reluctance to get involved. Member Mark Vedrani warned the group not to overreach.

“Pick your battles. We can’t save the planet, but we can teach them that just shutting the lights off at night has an effect.” Member Bryan Dunn said. “No one has to do something perfectly, but everyone should do something.”

Vedrani agreed, adding “Paralysis is real.” Member Joe

Shamatta agreed that there is misinformation out there about recycling. “New residents don’t know what to do. There are so many materials you don’t know about.”

All agreed that tying action to an economic benefit will gain broad support, like saving money on trash that can be used for paving more roads. Everyone can support reducing the total amount of water and sewer costs in order to save the town money that can go towards other projects.

Keeping the message simple was also proposed—like saving the environment to save money.

Member Emily Shay advised focusing on why sustainability was good for each citizen and also for the Town. “What is the goal for recycling? How about bringing reusable cups? Education is the key.”

Mazzucco brought the discussion full circle by speculating how much is truly saved by current recycling efforts and their short term and long-term results. “How much energy are we putting into sending plastic to China?”

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday Oct.8 at 7:00 pm.

(Never known to fail!)
Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech thee from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (three times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you.
Grateful thanks. —K.B.

Dear Heart of Jesus, in the past I have asked You for many favours. This time, I ask you this very special one (mention favour). Take it, dear Heart of Jesus, and place it within Your own broken heart where Your Father sees it. Then, in His merciful eyes, it will become Your favour, not mine. Amen. Say for three days, promise publication and favour will be granted.

ready to go in terms of the Town purchasing the land from DCD.

"They're about to start construction of the other two lots," Halkiotis said. "You'll recall that we tried to purchase this land from DCD last year, but the owners wanted to get everything lined up, get their permits in place and wanted to start construction before they sold the property."

According to Halkiotis, "Under the Community Preservation Act (CPA), communities can pay what the appraised or assessed value is, but they can't pay more," Halkiotis said. "When I explained that to the owners, they indicated they would be willing to sell the property to us for $280,000, the appraised value."

Halkiotis said has a purchase and sales agreement drawn up and signed by DCD. The agreement is set to be executed if the vote to purchase the property passes at Town Meeting.

Halkiotis said he has been working on setting up the restrictions necessary to put the land into conservation if and when the Town purchases it.

"This is a requirement of the CPA for any open space purchases that will be conservation land," he said.

Halkiotis said under conservation law, a conservation restriction like the one that is required has to be held by an entity other than the owners. So he said he contacted Wild Life Lands Trust and walked the site early in the spring.

"Conservation restrictions spell out what the land can be used for and what it can't be used for, and an example of this would be perhaps building a small building to see the wildlife," he said. "That would be something in the conservation restriction that we spell out."

The cost estimate for the conservation restriction came in at $10,000.

Halkiotis said DCD contracted a company to perform an environmental report of the property, and no contamination was found, but he said anecdotal evidence as well as walk throughs at the property has found evidence of industrial or commercial use.

"This is not a piece of virgin land that has never been used. However, there was an environmental assessment that we passed on to Town Counsel, and that's part of any land acquisition," he said. "It's to make sure we're not buying any property with hazardous waste or environmental hot spots."

Halkiotis said they are also budgeting $5,000 for cleanup of the site.

"Based on my site walk on Monday, there is a lot of dead wood; there are trees down and I think we're going to find a lot of stuff that's going to need to go to the dump," he said.

Halkiotis said the only unknown cost right now would be hiring a company to landscape a riverfront park for the property, but added he has been speaking with Shadley Associates. He said once that is finalized, the warrant article will have an updated cost.

Library Events

ANNUAL COMMUNITY STASHSHARE

Come to the Morrill Memorial Library's Simoni Room on Saturday, September 21, from 10:00 AM-2:00 PM for Sewstainability's annual ShashShare. At this event people share with one another rather than having to buy sewing/needlework and crafting materials and equipment. Come drop off materials from your personal Stash that don't seem to get used so others can enjoy them. While there, browse to find things you'd like to work with and take them home. Come even if you don't have anything to bring; this is a Share, not an even swap. If you come on the early side (11 AM-noon), others will get a chance to see your offerings. (If you are unable to come Saturday, you may drop things off at the Simoni Room on Friday afternoon). No registration required: drop in to the event, leave things, browse for yourself, and go home ready for productive and pleasant winter days. Community is how we work, and community works! No money needed, and NO businesses please.

The class is open to those of all fitness levels and is limited to 25. Rubber-soled shoes or sneakers are recommended. Eileen has been teaching fitness for almost 30 years and promises to make these classes fun! Participants should be able to commit to attending all four Friday classes. ## PARANORMAL INVESTIGATIONS AT THE FAIRBANKS HOUSE

Learn more about the mysteries of this dwelling that housed eight generations of the Fairbanks family at the Morrill Memorial Library on Monday, October 7 at 7:00 p.m. Enough paranormal activity has been observed in the house, where many Fairbanks family members died, to have attracted the attention of ghost hunters far and wide. Join Curator Daniel Neff as we talk about what ghost hunters actually do, and look at (and listen to) some of the most remarkable evidence of paranormal captured at the Fairbanks House. To register for this program, go to our events page at norwoodlibrary.org/morrillcalendar, call 781-769-0200, x110, or stop by the Reference or Information Desk.

2019 Ford Edge ST AWD

I remember the last Ford Edge I drove. It was AWD V/6 power and a very square vehicle. That was ten this is now, a very large grille, flat windshield, no sharp angles. Interior has quality leather and suede, Our Edge ST is more like a performance SUV in fact it is and performance vehicle with a trailer hitch and AWD. A rotary shifter with the sport mode button in the center. A large center tough pad for all radio, heat, Nav, etc. Yes there is buttons to push for the heat-a/c, heated and ventilated front seats. Drivers multi power adjustments with memory seat. Out Edge had the optional rear heated seats. The Edge is a great looking SUV that seats 5 no third row seat here. Power comes from an Eco boost 2.7 liter V/6 via a real 8 speed automatic with a sport mode that does make a powerful and fun difference.

The body lines are smooth and there is plenty of viewing area with merging into traffic. Power from the turbo charged 2.7 liter V/6 with the the 8 speed automatic put the engine in a power range no matter what speed or condition. Each week I drive a different vehicle never knowing by choice what it will be. All I know the show up usually on Tuesday's. This Edge was a pleasant surprise. It good to see Ford building an excellent SUV. The ST version is an upgrade from the standard Edge and in my opinion worth the price. From the rear the twin horizontal chrome exhaust tips stand out with a trailer hitch nicely placed not looking out of place. I drove the Edge thru the back roads from Lakeville to the Cape. The roads were very twisty and sometimes narrow with broken pavement. The Edge suspension absorbed all the bumps and rattle free, as well as no body flexing. EPA 19 city 26 highway 21 combined. Base price starts at $42,335.00 destination $995.00. Optional equipment package 401A includes everything one would want including remote start panorama roof, seat heaters and front cooling seats, heated steering wheel, plus a lot more, 20 inch alloy wheels cold weather package, floor liners and windshield deicer are the only 2 optional packages in this fully equipped Edge. Total price as tested is $49,430.00

FALL CONCERTS AT ST. GABRIEL'S

The Chapel of St. Gabriel the Archangel at Highland Cemetery in Norwood will once again be the venue for free concerts this fall. On Sunday, October 6, at 3:00 pm, harpist Lizary Rodriguez Rios will present a solo performance on the concert harp. Mr. Marchena has performed in concert and on recordings in such varied styles as classical, rock, jazz, and delta blues. After a careful restoration, the Chapel is once again available free of charge for small burial and memorial services. It is hoped these concerts will increase the public's awareness of this unique, contemplative space. With the cooperation of the Town of Norwood's Cemetery Department, the Concerts in the Chapel are organized by the Friends of St. Gabriel's under the auspices of the Old Parish Preservation Volunteers, a local non-profit organization. The concerts are free and open to the public. Seating is limited and on a first come, first serve basis. ## OLD PARISH VOLUNTEERS FIRST WORK DAY

The non-profit organization, Old Parish Preservation Volunteers (OPPV) will be holding their first fall cemetery work day of 2019 on Saturday, September 21 between 8:30am and 10:30am, at Norwood's original burial ground established in 1741. Located off Washington Street near Railroad Avenue, the Old Parish Cemetery is no longer in active use; the most recent burial on record took place there around 1950. Since that time the Town of Norwood has maintained the colonial era cemetery and opened it on special occasions such as Memorial Day, Veteran's Day and Independence Day.

The aim of the OPPV is to properly clean stone grave markers, repair and reset broken stones, and document this historic site. With care and attention, the cemetery will continue to be a valuable historical and cultural resource for the town. Additional Saturday work days this fall include: September 28, October 12, October 26, and November 2.

The groups will also host a tour of the cemetery titled "The Women of Old Parish Cemetery" on Saturday, October 19, at 2:00 pm. (Rain date Sunday, October 20 at 2).

Also survived by many nieces and nephews. Mary was a retired Special Ed. Teacher's Aide at the Norwood Coakley Middle School. Funeral from the Kraw-Kornack Funeral Home, 1248 Washington St., NORWOOD. McKEOWN

Francis Joseph "Wiff" Age 60, of Norwood & Charlestown, MA, and Portsmouth, NH, passed away on September 7, 2019. Born October 9, 1958 in Boston, MA to Francis X. & Carol A. (Riley) McKeown. Joe is survived by his mother, his best friend and loving caregiver, Karen "Pickles" Hanks, Charlestown; siblings, Maura (Scott) Nieuwenhuis, Taunton; Chris (Lisa) McKeown, Westwood; Jamie (Donna), Newton/Needham; Martha, Needham; Tim, Boston; David (Jackie), Norwood & Yarmouth; and Sean, Norwood; 10 nieces & nephews and many aunts, uncles, cousins, and their children. Joe was a 1976 graduate of Norwood High School and a 1980 graduate of UMass Dartmouth (SMU). He followed in his grandfather's footsteps to become a skilled designer, builder and finish carpenter. He fought a long, hard fight against metastatic prostate cancer. In 2011, Joe was told he had 5 years to live, but he fought hard. He was poked, prodded, injected, inspected - knowing it was not likely to spare him - but maybe someone, someday. While many a blessing has graced the "Irish sports pages," the one most appropriate for Joe may well be, "May you be in heaven a half an hour before the devil knows you're dead." But Dylan Thomas's words may be more appropriate still: "Do not go gentle into that good night. Rage, rage against the dying of the light." Long before his cancer diagnosis, Joe became a PMC rider and volunteer. He remained an active PMC supporter throughout his treatment.
