School Com votes to change school start times in 2022

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood School Committee met on March 10 and voted unanimously to change school start times.

Recent studies have shown what the optimal sleep times are for adolescents and the new start times try to adhere to the findings when possible. The Committee voted to start elementary schools at 7:40 a.m. to 7:50 a.m. (1:55 p.m. end), Willett at 8 a.m. to 8:10 a.m. (1:30 p.m. end), the high school at 8:10 a.m. to 8:20 a.m. (2:50 p.m. end) and the Coakley to start at 8:40 a.m. to 8:50 a.m. (3:20 p.m. end).

The committee voted to have these commence in the fall of 2022 in a series of motions. First, the committee voted 4-1 with Chair Teresa Stewart voting against. She said wanted to implement new start times in the fall of 2021.

“I am just going to say that, professionally, I have to vote no on that,” she said. “It is not because I don’t hear the community. I just want to be very clear on that. But I cannot do what I do professionally and vote down the opportunity to make a difference in fall 2021.”

The next motion was to start the change in the fall of 2022, assuming school operations are back to normal. Committee member Myev Bodenhofer introduced an amendment to shift the elementary school start times later if transportation costs and feasibility allow (as it is earlier than the optimal sleep periods for those students). That motion passed unanimously.

One of the biggest factors in deciding which plan to go with (there were several) fiscally came from Transportation. Norwood Public Schools (NPS) Transportation Director Allen Bishop said having all schools start at the same time is unfeasible, as it would require the purchase or hiring of more buses at a cost of $1.3 million.

League of Women Voters wants your candidate questions

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood League of Women Voters (LWV) is hosting a community forum for the candidates running for municipal office in the Town on March 22 at 7 p.m. in a virtual format.

The forum will be held in a private Zoom meeting which residents can watch on their Norwood Community Media (NCM) channel or livestream at NorwoodCommunityMedia.org. LWV Norwood Chapter President Courtney Rau Rogers said the idea was to keep the forum moving as quickly as possible so every question can be heard.

“The moderator will read questions both from the League and any questions that come in from the public and then the candidates will have about a minute to answer,” she said. “For this election, there are lots and lots of uncontested elections, and so we’re doing a video reel for each candidate of two-to-three-minute statements that will play at the end of the forum.”

The League is asking that any residents reach out with their questions for the candidates. Rogers said these questions should not be specific to any one candidate and could be asked of any of them. Send said questions to lwvnorwoodma@gmail.com by Saturday, March 20 at 8:00 p.m. to get them in the forum.

“Any question we get from the public, we need to be able to ask all candidates running for that seat,” she said. “Sometimes people will want to ask an incumbent a very direct question, and that’s not really what we’re doing. We’re sort of soliciting information about general goals and plans for the office. You know, a challenger running against an incumbent might not have a record to run on and so that can’t be answered by

Asphalt found underneath topsoil of Saints Park spot

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood Community Preservation Committee (CPC) met with Town Planner Paul Halkiotis virtually on March 10 and discussed the state of the Saints Street Lot, soon, hopefully, to become the Saints Street Park.

“We just finalized the Conservation Restriction with the state, it’s all signed and I think it’s ready to be recorded,” Halkiotis said. “I started that last April and we finished it this February. It takes a lot of time to go through all those issues with the state and the Wildlife Trust, which will be holding the restriction. But that’s done.”

The Conservation Restriction means the land will not be put to any other use besides conservation, barring an act from the Massachusetts Legislature. With that out of the way, he said representatives from the Town met with Horsley and Witten the previous week to start preliminary discussions on a park design, which sits adjacent to St. John Avenue, St. Joseph Avenue and St. Paul Avenue.

“We had a pretty big group of people, including the principal from the Balch Elementary School, and we talked about what our priorities were going to be to include as part of the park project,” he said. “We talked about holding public outreach meetings to get information from the neighborhood residents and different Town boards and committees, and they are hoping to complete the park design by July.

I think we’ll be doing good if we get done by July.”

Halkiotis said they will give Horsley and Witten a wish list of everything residents and stakeholders want to see in the park and the design consultants will come back with a cost estimate and allow the CPC and Town Meeting to fund the construction of the park based on what Town Meeting would be willing to vote to approve.

Halkiotis also brought up a different issue facing the project, that being an asphalt parking lot is now buried underneath a thin layer of topsoil on the site, taking up about an acre of the site.

both parties, for example.”

Rogers said they put out a call for questions last week for each of three contested races and are hoping for a good response. However she said they do not believe the forum will run longer than 90 minutes or so.

For those three races, currently David Michael Hiltz Jr. is running against Benjamin Alton Moser for School Committee. Planning Board Member Al Porro will be running against his former fellow board member Debbie Holmwood, and Shannon Joyce Greenwell, Mary Paz, Sheri McLeish and Patricia Tibauda will all be running for the single vacant seat for the Board of Morrill Library Trustees.

Selectman Bill Plasko, Town Moderator David Hern, Board of Health Member Kathleen Bishop, Finance Commission members Kellie Noumi and Robert Donnelly, Trustees of Morrill Library members Sarah Begg and George Michalec and Norwood Housing Authority member Patricia Starr are all running unopposed.

“I just hope people tune in,” Rogers said. “We’ve chosen to keep the event virtual this year because even though pandemic numbers are slowly decreasing, it’s still safer for people to be at home to participate in this event. And I think we reach a greater audience, quite frankly, where people can sit in their living room with their tea or their after dinner beverage and watch in the comfort of their own home. We saw the ones we ran in the spring and summer were really successful.”

The Municipal Election is on April 5. Any resident wishing to look at a sample ballot or to fill out an absentee ballot application should go to the Town website at <http://www.norwoodma.gov/> or call the Clerk’s Office at 781-762-1240.

Selectmen considering TM split and UAVE safety issues

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood Board of Selectmen met on Tuesday, March 17 in a semi-virtual platform and discussed the idea of splitting up Town Meeting to provide a little more time for certain items to be completed and ready for meeting members to vote on.

The Board ended up not taking a vote on Tuesday to split items in the Annual Town Meeting and the Special Town Meeting – which are usually held consecutively as one big meeting – and hold the annual in May as usual and postpone the special until June. Board Chair Bill Plasko said this was because of the filing deadlines of April 6 for warrant articles that could impact issues being brought up by the Norwood Planning Board, presumably the reintroduction of the Route 1 Rezoning article.

“The dates are coming upon us very quickly,” Plasko said. “The Planning Board is trying to get back to Town Meeting and they could actually use a couple of extra weeks.”

The board agreed to take a vote next week, but this also brought up a discussion on whether or not either meeting should be held virtually.

“I have discussed with the Moderator whether he’s going to request a virtual, I think he is going to, but he hasn’t actually made that formal and said he’s going to get back to us in a couple of days,” Plasko said. “We have time for that, but we do need to keep in communication with him because once he gives us the word, he would like that we post it and have a meeting on it. Again, we can’t run out of time here, we have to watch these dates carefully.”

Town Manager Tony Mazzucco said there would be no cost impact if they decide to go virtually as all the software and training has already been purchased and completed.

The gravel excavation site at 973 University Ave.– across the street from the Skating Club of Boston – was a big topic of discussion.

The actual motion passed did not reflect the hour-and-a-half-long discussion of the site, which touched on multiple issues of the property owned by Joseph Federico Jr.

The Board voted to continue the hearing for 45 days to allow for a peer review of the sheet piling on the site (metal retaining walls put in place to stabilize a dig site), inspect the rock wall behind the piling and review the sloping. Department of Public Works (DPW) Director Mark Ryan said he wanted a peer review on that because it is not his area of expertise.

The majority of the discussion centered the installation of a fence. The site came under scrutiny in 2019 when it was discovered that there was no stormwater management infrastructure on the site as required by law. The Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), in conjunction with the Massachusetts Attorney General, fined the company that owned the site – UAVE LLC – $50,000 for that and required they pay the Neponset River Watershed Association $25,000 for any potential remediation.

During that time, it was also discovered that UAVE had not renewed its special permit allowing for rock and gravel excavation since its original two-year permit was approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) in 2013. UAVE was also required to install a fence surrounding their property, and in doing so ended up cutting down trees and encroaching on the property of its neighbor at 975 University Ave., M S Walker.

The entire point of the Board meeting was that the Selectmen have jurisdiction to ensure the public safety of residents, and the Board was specifically concerned that a second fence recommended by Town Engineer Mark Ryan in the fall of 2020 for safety was not yet installed. That fence is slated to be built atop the area where UAVE is excavating and in the sand that UAVE wants to excavate. UAVE Attorney Dan Bailey said it just wouldn’t make sense to put the fence there until the excavation was finished. The fence would overlook where the company is digging now. There’s a large section of rock ledge they are digging down against, creating a rock wall that the sheet pilings will be put against to ensure it doesn’t fall down. The fence will be at the top of that artificial cliff to ensure no one falls down.

Ryan agreed, and Bailey said the company would have no problem putting a fence there once the excavation is complete.

UAVE plans to develop the site after the excavation is completed – though the company will not specifically say what it plans to build there once the rock has been extracted. Once the excavation is complete, Bailey said the perimeter fence will remain but both he and former ZBA member Patrick Mulvehill questioned the need for the second fence given the perimeter fence should keep the public away. He said anybody gaining access to that area with the cliff is already a trespasser. Selectman Helen Abdallah-Donohue pointed out that UAVE is already a trespasser, as the perimeter fence they erected encroached M S Walker’s property by six feet. The construction of the fence also destroyed about 30 trees on M S Walker’s property (UAVE submitted plans to remedy the situation that the Board said they had no problem with).

“If somebody’s gaining access to the property, are they not a trespasser?” Mulvehill said. “I’m not going to belabor the fact of the six-foot issue with the fence, because it’s not germane to this hearing, which is about public safety.”

Plasko pointed out that there is still liability for the property owner if someone trespasses on their property and injures themselves.

“Town Counsel, (David DeLuca) correct me if I’m wrong, but I don’t think the fact that someone could travel over M S Walker’s property and then somehow get hurt on the UAVE property because they may be a trespasser doesn’t change the fact that there is a liability and concern for public safety,” he said. “It’s very similar to having swimming pools in back yards and having to have fences around them to secure them and it doesn’t matter if somebody’s a trespasser or not if they drown in that pool.”

UAVE geologist Luke Fabbri pointed out that the perimeter fence already secures that area of the property by securing the whole of the property.

Mazzucco also asked if Norwood Fire Department Chief George Morrice and Norwood Police Department Chief William Brooks could be permitted to inspect the site for safety issues as well.

“I do want to make one statement for the record, and that is – I can’t resist the pun – but we’re on a slippery slope here,” attorney Bailey stated. “The Zoning Board has issued a special permit, the time period to challenge the permit or any of the conditions in it has long since expired. There is crystal clear case law in Massachusetts that conditions in permits can’t be revisited after the appeal period has expired. We’re willing to do this, we’re trying to cooperate. I recognize there are concerns the Board has at this site, but we’re going to be careful here. What I want to point out here is I don’t want to turn this into another ZBA hearing. You mentioned getting the fire chief and the police chief out to look at the site. They had the opportunity to do that in the special permit hearing. Did they do so? I don’t know. But there are specific processes having to do with the different jurisdiction of Town Boards. We wouldn’t go to the ZBA if we had an issue with an alcohol license.”

Perhaps there was more of a message in comments

During Tuesday's Selectmen's meeting another instance of a jurisdictional dispute became public when Selectman David Hajjar commented that an operational move orchestrated by Town Manager Tony Mazzucco and Norwood School Superintendent David Thomson flew in the face of the conventional way of doing things. And in the past this newspaper would have sided with Mazzucco, the thinking at this address being that the old way of doing business was hindering the dynamic and proactive approach this Town needs to adopt to keep up with the times. Now, we're not so sure.

The issue arose when Mazzucco announced to the Selectmen that he and Thompson had figured out a way that the Town side of government could assume an administrative piece of the schools' personnel functions. The move as explained made sense in that those personnel operations would be streamlined and the Town as a whole would save some money. Hajjar wasn't against the move. In fact, he commented that it actually made sense. What he objected to was that there was no involvement by Selectmen or the School Committee prior to the decision being made. Selectman Abdallah Donohue agreed with Hajjar.

This is not the first time both Hajjar and Abdallah Donohue have pushed back against the apparent aggressive maneuverings of their Town Manager. And it does come across as the old guard trying to preserve their relevance. In this particular instance, the move by Mazzucco was small enough that the Selectmen and School Committee didn't need to be involved in any discussions. That's what you hire a town manager and school superintendent to do, make decisions on a day-to-day basis to streamline efficiencies and advance progress.

However, the comments by Hajjar seem particularly timely given what has been going on in Town Hall lately. As has been detailed recently in this newspaper and addressed in former Zoning Board of Appeals member Patrick "Packy" Mulvehill's announcement that he is stepping down in this week's issue, the changes being made within the corridors of Town Hall have some employees distressed. And there has been at least one casualty, namely former employee Ramanda Morgan, she quitting her job after alleged unfair and, perhaps, illegal treatment by superiors.

Morgan's treatment by those in authority were investigated by the Town and the findings by the law firm confirm that, at a minimum, in multiple instances Ms. Morgan was subjected to treatment considered in violation of the Town's Professional Conduct Policy. The findings did fall short of concluding that her treatment rose to the level of a hostile work environment based on race, but did conclude that Ms. Morgan was not treated with respect, dignity, honesty, integrity or fairness. Only the future will tell whether or not Ms. Morgan will consider legal action against the Town for the way she was treated, and if so the exact details in her case will be made public.

Was the treatment of Ms. Morgan an isolated case or perhaps a harbinger of things to come should Town government maintain its present course of delegating responsibility without public officials' hovering oversight? Perhaps Mr. Hajjar's comments were meant to allude to recent activities extending well beyond the personnel consolidation recently announced by Mazzucco. It is important to note that Mazzucco is not being identified by this newspaper or the findings of the Town's investigation as someone directly responsible for Ramanda Morgan's treatment. However, the issue did arise during his watch so he, as well as some elected public officials must accept some responsibility.

A letter to the fine people of Norwood,

It was with regret and yet some sense of happiness that I recently retired from my position as one of your Zoning Board of Appeal members. Happiness in that I can say that I did my part as a lifelong/third generation Norwoodite who participated in our government and had a say in how she operated. Regret in that I leave with anger and sorrow over the treatment of our admin Ms. Ramanda Morgan. I will not go into the "Horrible" way in which she was treated by her superiors, nor will I get into the way in which she was "Ostracized" by her superiors and "Upper Management" at Town Hall once she filed a formal complaint as to her work environment/treatment. Let's just say that the parties involved received a "Slap on the wrist," some "Sensitivity Training" and, oh yes, the obligatory

"Cuomo Apology" in that "I didn't know that I was offending you or making your work environment MISERABLE" should quell and appease all concerned...pathetic to say the least.

I love this Town and I will still operate my business here for years to come. However, let me be very clear; there is a problem in Town Hall and the people that work there know exactly what I am referring to. What happened to Ms. Morgan, (who, by the way is African American) can happen again and I fear it very well may given that the remedy given was as weak as Cam Newton's throwing arm! Ms. Morgan, who by all metrics was an absolute five-star, 15-year-plus employee of the Town, is no longer working there. This is wrong!

Thank You, for all the kind words and phone calls over the last two weeks and thank you Norwood for allowing a Native Son to serve you for the last 30-plus years.

NORWOOD STRONG!

*All the best,
Patrick J. "Packy"
Mulvehill*

Letters to the Editor

LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL

To the Editor:

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us . . ."

These opening lines are from A Tale of Two Cities, the classic historical novel, written by Charles Dickens in 1859 that depicts life set in London and Paris before and during the time of the French Revolution. This masterpiece usually is read by sophomores or juniors in high school.

It also appears apropos to life today, as this was the most painful lost year of lockdown and isolation. So many lives were turned upside down. For those affected by the physical horrible illness of the coronavirus, "it was the worst of times." For parents, teachers and others, whose work had to be done remotely from home, or there was no work at all, "it was the winter of despair." For schools, places of worship, restaurants and other businesses that had to close, it was the "season of Darkness." Children and seniors being home all year, with no personal socializing, caused additional emotional stress and strain on family life.

One consolation to all this adversity was time – a year to read. Books are so precious, both fiction and non-fiction. So are Newspapers like the Norwood Record that report community news and current events. Computers also are a great asset, especially with Zoom. So, during this long trying time, books, newspapers and computers were the "season of Light."

Reading in all its forms welcomes the reader to concentrate, to think, to imagine, to feel, to recognize the complexities and joys of one's life. The results are for children and others to share knowledge and to grow. It's part of one's magnificent journey of life-long learning. Try reading the Constitution of the United States, our Declaration of Independence, and the biographies of our Founding Fathers. Norwood's own history and notables can be referenced in our Morrill Memorial Library, and when this is all over, students can congregate at the library again. Although there will never be time to do it all, reading is a great custom and habit to undertake.

There are positive signs now for Norwood's students to return to school. It will be the "spring of hope." We can see the light at the end of the tunnel. The answer to this past difficult year for them is to go back to school and be awesome. Academics are top priority. Then art, music, and sports for balance. A great education begins at home and continues in elementary, middle and high school by creating the best environment for learning and enhancing the skills and talents of our Town's students. The upcoming building of a new middle school is exciting and will be absolutely wonderful. Norwood strives for excellence by setting a high standard that has absolutely no boundaries. It is who we are.

Sustainability Com finishing Action Plan

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

The Norwood Sustainability Commission (NSC) met on Monday, March 15 and made its final edits to the Sustainability Action Plan the group has been working on since its creation in 2019.

The plan deals with a myriad of local issues and goals for resilience and sustainability throughout both the municipal and civilian areas of Town life, everything from soil management and infrastructure to lawn care and water usage. The group is aiming to have the document ready for Town Meeting in May.

Committee member and Norwood Energy Manager David Ruggiero brought up the subject of home heating and energy usage and said the commission should include advocating for electric heat incentives for homeowners and for net-zero carbon standards for new municipal buildings.

Ruggiero also brought up the issue of a potential partnership with National Grid that would use the Town to promote the benefits of natural gas as what is referred to as a bridge fuel to renewable clean energy, "to promote participation, awareness and the benefits of natural gas efficiency programs by reducing greenhouse gases and increasing efficiency," he said.

Ruggiero said it had been brought up at a previous meeting but not discussed for inclusion in the plan. Member Heather Miller said she felt this might not align with sustainability goals. Natural gas may burn cleaner than heating oil or coal, but its extraction through fracking – the most prominent extraction method used in the United States currently – releases abundant plumes of methane into the atmosphere. The gas, most commonly associated with cow digestive systems, is estimated to be 30 to 80 times more potent of a greenhouse gas than carbon dioxide.

But Chair Peter McFarland pointed out that at least for the current time, power and heat generation is dependent on fossil fuels like natural gas. Even if the home heating system is running on electrical generation.

"I think for the short-term, five or 10 years out, we're still going to be dependent on natural gas," he said, adding that electric heat only accounts for 15 percent of residential, commercial and industrial properties' heating arrangements. "So it's not as though we can turn off the natural gas tap."

Miller said she felt there was an incentive to update to natural gas and she felt that National Grid doesn't promote electrical heat as much as it could, even though it's one of the primary electrical transfer utilities in the state.

"When we were updating our heating system a few years that was where the incentives and rebates were," she said. "So it seemed like they must be driving people towards that route and that's not where things are going

Novena to St. Clare

Ask St. Clare for three favors, 1 business, 2 impossible. Say nine Hail Marys for nine days, with lighted candle. Pray whether you believe or not. Publish on the ninth day. Powerful novena. Say "May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be praised, adored, glorified, now and forever, throughout the whole world. Amen." Your request will be granted, no matter how impossible it may seem.

—J.R.

St. Jude's Novena

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world, now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day. By the 9th day your prayer will be answered. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. Thank you St. Jude. My Prayers were answered.

In gratitude for helping me.

Agent and Environmental Planner) Holly Jones found an aerial photograph from 2004 and that photograph shows vegetation in this area, but no mature vegetation," he said. "Now there's mature trees that grew through this parking lot. So we talked to (Norwood Department of Public Works [DPW] Director) Mark Ryan and it was decided we really need to pull that out of there. We asked DPW if they could do that work and they said it's a big job, there are mature trees that have to come out, the asphalt has to be scraped up and disposed of responsibly, and with the park design and construction we're going to have to replace native plantings in that area."

Halkiotis said after thinking it over and discussing it with other officials, the park would go ahead with construction but add the asphalt removal to the CPC project instead of putting it in the DPW budget.

"It's going to add some money to the project, but in a way it kind of creates a blank slate for a chunk of this property," he said. "I had known that there was parking there a long time ago associated with the Burke Shingle Factory. Ernie Paciorkowski told us a story that back in 1954, when one of the big hurricanes came through – Hurricane Carol maybe, that the family car was flooded and totaled on that parking lot. I didn't know if it was a crushed stone parking lot or whatever, but when Joe Greeley was walking the site, they had discovered some asphalt there."

Halkiotis said public meetings will be coming up and those interested should keep an ear to the ground.

"It's one of those meetings where normally you'd want to do it in person as a kind of design charrette, but we'll do our best to have a format and a meeting where we can solicit everyone's input," he said.

The CPC also discussed a project from Town Manager Tony Mazzucco that proposed to put compost toilets at trail heads through the Town. These toilets would require little maintenance as they have no moving parts and would provide a needed outlet for residents using the trails. Mazzucco originally brought it up during a Board of Selectmen's meeting the previous week when the Board voted on potential CPC projects as a kind of first wave. The board took a look at projects and voted on them before they get so far along in the CPC process that a lot of time and effort was spent.

The CPC tabled the discussion, as no actual project had yet been submitted to the CPC and therefore there was formally nothing to discuss, but member and Selectman Matt Lane said he just wanted to make the committee aware.

few people are out and about and taking the opportunity to donate.

"We're happy to do it and have their mobile come," said Morrice. "Blood donors are always needed so we're happy to support that. In these times I think it's important for us to maintain that supply for those who may need it."

NPD Chief William Brooks said the pandemic put a lot of collection schedules way behind. "The Red Cross tells us there's a blood shortage so they asked us if we would host a blood drive," he said. As I understand it, many blood drives had to be canceled last year because of Covid which has put the nation's blood supply way behind. So when they asked, of course Chief Morrice said we'd be happy to host them."

All participants will be screened in the lobby with the fast acting test and will wait in the community room to be called upon. When called, they go over to the fire side of the building to the Bloodmobile.

"All Covid precautions will taken and we hope the public will come participate," Brooks said.

All donors will receive a $5 gift card for Dunkin' Donuts. If you have questions about your potential eligibility, email BloodDonor@Partners.org or call 617-632-3206.

“If we were able to start everybody at the same time, we would almost have to double our fleet of buses,” he said, which would bring the total number of buses to roughly 26. “The Coakley drives most of this as they utilize all 13 of our buses due to the geographic location of that school... It would cost an additional $1.3 million to have all the schools start at the same time at 8:30 a.m. It isn’t fiscally feasible and it doesn’t adhere to our budget nor the pledges we made at the override.”

But he did say there may be room for having late returning buses for high school and middle school students who participate in sports or after-school activities.

“That’s something we can determine once we have things nailed down,” he said. “There is wiggle time in the schedule.”

Residents who participated in the survey in February (about 1,300) stated in their answers that they would prefer a school year 2022 start for the new start times, as public transportation at the MBTA is shaky at best and many parents are experiencing times of uncertainty in their working situations. While many are still working from home, there’s no guarantee that will or won’t be changing come fall. The full results of each survey (elementary, middle school and high school) can be found at Norwood.k12.ma.us/sc/school-start-time-subcommittee.

Extended Day Program

Director Kristin Capezio noted that traditionally the program has run from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., but she said the program might have to shift to a 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. or 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. start time to cater to the new start/end times for classes. However, she said that’s not really a problem.

“The Extended Day Program has provided after-school care from the hours of 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. for quite some time,” she said. “This option of going 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. or 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. is actually more tailored to actual hours of usage than it’s ever been in the past and I think that needs to be noted.”

Stewart pointed out that in the 2019 survey, there were as many parents who responded that they would need childcare if the changes proposed here were made as there were who stated that they would no longer need childcare if the changes took place, making it a null issue.

“And I think that’s not only true for our community of parents but also for our community of staff,” she said.

Coakley Principal Margo Frazek warned that there will be issues of childcare for her staff and probably those of other schools, but she pointed out there have been issues for staff childcare for years at the current start times, especially since each staff member’s childcare issues will change over time.

“Kids grow up, it’s really annoying,” she said with a laugh. “I think all three levels have childcare issues that are probably pretty equitable across the board. I think the issues there will remain. In other words, if we don’t make a change there will be staff who have childcare issues. As I’ve said, over the past four years we’ve had staff members who weren’t able to join our NPS team for no other reason than trying to find childcare before 7 a.m. not being a feasible thing to do.”

Ask The Doctor

Junior Damato began servicing vehicles in 1969. He owns an 8-bay center in Middleboro, MA. Junior is an ASE-certified Master Technician, ASE-certified L-1 and ASE-certified Natural Gas.

Dear Doctor: I have a front-wheel drive 2010 Toyota Highlander. At any speed, as I first apply the brake to begin to slow, the pedal gradually depresses which is protocol. But as I continue pressing it feels like the pedal slightly stops and then continues to depress. Stopping is not affected and it doesn’t go to the floor. It’s not a smooth depressing feel -- but as if something’s catching it midway through the depressing stage. –Fensterblau

A) First you need to pull the wheels and check the brake caliper slides and the caliper piston operation. This is the first step even before bleeding the system. This vehicle is known for having front caliper piston problems and binding from rusted brake pads and caliper pins.

Dear Doctor: My 2001 Chrysler PT Cruiser has 150,000 miles and still drives nicely. In the past year it developed a problem of the engine cutting out when I either take my foot off the gas, or when I come to a stop. Sometimes this does not happen for weeks on, but other times it happens two or three time on the same day. I’ve been using bottles of fuel injector cleaner, and have also taken this car to my local mechanic to clean the fuel injector system to no avail. What could be my issue? –Louis

A) The first step is a check of any fault codes. Second, a road test with the scan tool connected and watch the idle control motor position. A lazy idle control motor, throttle position sensor, lazy EGR valve (slow to close). A check of the fuel filter and fuel pressure. These are all a good starting point.

Junior Damato, the “Auto Doctor,” has agreed to field auto repair questions from Bulletin and Record readers. Please send your questions to news@bulletinnewspapers.com and we will do our best to get them answered.

STAHL

Mary Wilson Kistler, Age 98, passed away peacefully on March 1, 2021 in Needham, MA. The daughter of Mary Collett Wilson Kistler and Charles Edmund Kistler, Mary was born on August 11, 1922 in Greensboro, NC, at her grandparents' home, and grew up in Morganton, NC. She graduated from St. Mary's High School in Raleigh, NC and attended Wellesley College, to which she remained devoted her entire life. Throughout her life, Mary pursued diverse passions: hometown Mimosa Festival Queen at age 18, hydroplane racer - the only woman competing against men - on Lake James in NC, X-ray technician at Grace Hospital, Morganton and Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, political campaigner for U.S. Senators Frank Porter Graham and Edward Brooke, III, first weather girl on WBZ TV in Boston, avid New England skier who once did Tuckerman's Ravine, Mt. Washington on Mother's Day, and enthusiastic scuba diver beginning at the age of 60 in the Bahamas, sometimes diving with three generations of family. Mary was first married to James Braxton Craven, Jr. in 1941 and had two sons, James Braxton Craven, III of Durham, NC and Stephen Kistler Craven of Honolulu, HI. In 1956, Mary married then Lt. Lawrence Edwin Stahl, USN, the love of her life. During his naval career, they lived all over the world. In retirement, they lived in Gulfstream, FL and continued to explore new countries around the globe. Ten years after Larry passed away, Mary moved to Westwood, MA to be closer to her daughters, Mary Powers of Dover and Betsy Wilkinson of Lexington. For many years, Mary and Larry spent six months a year in Dornoch, Scotland, where they developed many special friendships. Mary continued visiting Dornoch until she was 92. Throughout her life, Mary was very active in the Episcopal Church. Her volunteer activities extended beyond her church to various hospitals, US Navy family support groups, the Red Cross, the Junior League, the National Cathedral and THIS for Diplomats in Washington, DC and other organizations. In addition to her four children, Mary leaves behind nine loving grandchildren as well as seven nieces and nephews. Mary was predeceased by her husband Larry Stahl, her two beloved brothers Charles Edmund Kistler and Andrew Milton Kistler, II, and her grandson David Braxton Craven. The family will have a

DOG LICENSES NOW AVAILABLE

The Town Clerk's Office would like to inform the residents of the Town of Norwood that the 2021 Dog Licenses are now available. All dogs three months old or over must be licensed. Licenses are issued on a calendar basis, January 1st through December 31st.

Fees are $20 for both Male and Female dogs, $15 for Spayed Female and Neutered Male. Certificate showing the dog was spayed or neutered must be shown. Rabies Certificate must also be shown.

Due to the Town Hall being closed all dog licenses have to be registered through the mail.

AUTHOR DESCRIBES RESEARCH PROCESS FOR NEW HISTORICAL WWII NOVEL

The Morrill Memorial Library and other Boston area libraries are partnering with Haley Booksellers to offer a fascinating program with local author, Jane Healy, on Tuesday, April 6 at 7:00 pm. Author of the bestselling "Beantown Girls," Jane will debut her newest novel this Spring. "The Secret Stealers" is based on the true stories of the women of the Office of Strategic Services, the precursor to the CIA, during World War II. This exhaustively researched historical novel follows an American woman spy who joins the French Resistance in Nazi-occupied France. In this virtual program, Jane Healey will walk us through the inspiration and the research behind "The Secret Stealers," the history of the Occupation of Paris and The French Resistance, and the characters and their connection to real life events.

Registration is required. To sign up and receive Zoom access, please visit the library's online events calendar at norwoodlibrary.org/morrillcalendar, or visit or call the Reference Desk at 781-769-0200 x2. If you're interested in purchasing an autographed copy of "The Secret Stealers" from a local bookseller, details will be provided at the program.

EASTER NATURE QUEST

Spring has sprung at Bird Park, and we're celebrating the season with an interactive Easter Nature Quest. On this quest, families and friends follow the bunny trail searching for 8 signs of spring at the park. Using a quest guide, participants learn about some of the park's flora and fauna and gather clues to figure out a secret message and find their way to the Easter Bunny! Each participant receives a bag of candy as a reward for completing the quest. Photos with the Easter Bunny are welcome. The "bunny trail" is about 0.5 miles with some parts paved. Recommended for ages 2-8, but all are welcome! Come on Friday, April 2 & Saturday, April 3; 1:00-4:00 pm. Presented by The Trustees. Event starts at the Music Court (stone stage) at Francis William Bird Park, East Walpole. Largest Parking Lot at Polley Lane (use "135 Polley Lane" for GPS). Preregistration required. Please register at <http://bit.ly/FWBParkevents>. Registrants will receive event details via email. Questions? Please contact M a r a (mogara@thetrustees.org; 508.668.6136). For updates and announcements, please follow Bird Park programs on Facebook @friendsofbirdpark. Member Child $6; Member Adult $2; Nonmember Child $8; Nonmember Adult $4; Children under 2 Free.

GARDEN CLUB TO HOST VIRTUAL PROGRAM ON TREES & SHRUBS

The Norwood Evening Garden Club will virtually host Joann Vieira, the state-wide Director of Horticulture for The Trustees of Reservations on Tuesday, March 30, 2021 at 7:00 p.m. via Zoom. The public is invited to attend for a $5 donation. If you are interested in registering for this program, please send an email to membership@NorwoodEveningGardenClub.com.

Vieira is passionate about plants - trees and shrubs in particular - and will share some of her favorites, along with tips on sourcing and growing them. Come and learn more about distinctive trees and shrubs that will add interest and sophistication to your garden year-round. And learn which ones are fragrant, which ones have interesting form or winter presence, which ones have beautiful flowers and/or foliage and which ones are well suited to New England gardens.

The Club, open to novice and expert gardeners, draws its members from Norwood, Walpole, Westwood, Dedham, Medfield, Randolph, and Stoughton. For information about the Norwood Evening Garden Club, visit www.NorwoodEveningGardenClub.com.

WHEN THE IRISH INVADED CANADA: IT'S NO BLARNEY

Calling all history buffs and Irish enthusiasts! Join the Morrill Memorial Library via Zoom on Thursday, March 25 at 7:00 pm as New England author Christopher Klein tells us about a unique twist of Irish history in North America.

Just over a year after Robert E. Lee relinquished his sword, a band of Union and Confederate veterans dusted off their guns. These former foes, however, had no intention of reigniting the Civil War. Instead, they fought side by side to undertake one of the most fantastical missions in military history: to seize the British province of Canada and hold it hostage until the independence of Ireland was secured. In this talk, learn the outlandish, little-known story of the self-proclaimed Irish Republican Army that carried out five attacks on Canada—known collectively as the Fenian Raids—between 1866 and 1871. With the tacit support of the U.S. government, this motley group—including a one-armed war hero, an English spy infiltrating rebel forces, and a radical who staged his own funeral—managed to seize a piece of America's northern neighbor, if only for a matter of days.

Registration is required for this program funded by the Friends of the Library. Please sign up by visiting the library's online events calendar at norwoodlibrary.org/wp-admin, or call the Reference desk with any questions at 781-769-0200 x2.

in the future and we need to be starting to step away from it and recognizing that it's going to be a process."

Ruggiero said he felt it would make more sense to promote Norwood Light and programs for electric heating systems. He said Norwood Light has about 100 to 150 residents hooked up for electric heat and it would be a good idea to use the municipal light department to promote electric heat. The group agreed to both promote electric heat but also help residents with natural gas systems to use them as efficiently as possible.

"As diplomatically as possible," Ruggiero said with a laugh.

Norwood Police mourns retired Officer Doucette

Norwood Police Department (NPD) Chief William Brooks and the department announced this week that recently retired NPD Sgt. Bob Doucette passed away on Sunday in Boston. He retired three-and-a-half years ago following 34 years working in Norwood at the department. His career followed his service at the United States Coast Guard. The department stated he was active in the Norwood Circle of Hope Charity – which selects families and individuals in need of funds for cancer treatment – and he marched during Town events and parades in the NPD Honor Guard. Sgt. Doucette, fondly known as "Douce" to his friends and co-workers, was well liked and admired by all who knew him, according to the department. The NPD will observe a seven-day period of mourning effective immediately, with all officers will wearing a horizontal mourning band on all shields
