As the state legislature continues to refine the legalization of recreational marijuana, Town Meeting members voted in favor of three articles designed to keep marijuana retailers out of Norwood.

Article 17, which passed by a vote of 105-11, amended the zoning bylaw to enact a moratorium on such businesses until Dec. 31, 2018.

During the second session of Special Town Meeting on May 11, Planning Board Chairman Ernie Paciorkowski said the moratorium will protect the town in case the state “pulls a 180.”

Town Planner Paul Halkiotis said it was wise to err on the side of caution.

“The state hasn’t made up the rules yet,” he said.

Although Articles 18 and 19 passed, they encountered substantial opposition as the articles proposed a complete prohibition on marijuana retailers.

Therefore, some Town Meeting members thought a prohibition could lead to legal action.

“This isn’t the time for a permanent ban, people younger than me are going to look at this and say it was a mistake,” said District 1 Town Meeting Member Richard Shay.

District 8 Town Meeting Member Daniel Foley also spoke out against the articles.

“I stand against this, if we make this a permanent ban then the only marijuana establishments operating in Norwood would be illegal ones,” he said.

However, Finance Commission (FinCom) Vice Chairman

Town Counsel Karis North spoke about changing the town’s sign bylaw to be consistent with the decision from the U.S. Supreme Court stating that sign content cannot be censored.

The Norwood Zoning Board of Appeals heard a plan for consolidation in what the Davis Marcus development team is calling a preliminary alternative to the previous plan for the 262 unit development off of Upland Road.

Originally, Davis Marcus principal Peter Cameron said the topographical features of the site required the 262 units to be spread out throughout the property, and ZBA chair Philip Riley stopped the May 2 meeting of the ZBA to ask if the developers would push the buildings back from the street, as those buildings were make up our own minds – at least I think we can,” he said.

District 4 Town Meeting Member Catherine Burgess said she did not foresee a problem should the embargo be challenged in the courtroom.

“I think the ban of a dangerous substance is going to be held up legally,” she said.

Article 22, which passed by a vote of 80-13, was triggered by the case of Reed vs. Town of Gilbert, Ariz., which was decided on June 18, 2015. Town Meeting members were asked to amend the town’s Sign Bylaw to be consistent with the outcome of the court case, which decided that signs cannot be censored. The town’s sign bylaw was not initially in compliance with this decision.

“It’s very rare that we see the decision of the Supreme Court trickle all the way down to local Town Hall, but this one did,” said Halkiotis.

Town Counsel Karis North suggested revisions in 15 sections of the bylaw.

“The purpose of this bylaw is not to limit content,” she said.

However, District 1 Town Meeting Member Michal Bergeron felt differently.

“Is there anything the Supreme Court would prohibit?” he asked. “There must be something.”

During the opening session of the Annual Town Meeting on May 15, the body voted to pass $5.1 million in budget requests under Article 5.

After reviewing the Veteran Services request of $414,042, District 4 Town Meeting Member Amy Sobchuk made a motion to transfer $25,000 from free cash and put it into that budget. She said it is not fair that in prior years, Director Edmund Mulvehill has had to go back to the FinCom to ask for additional funding.

“It should just be there,” said Sobchuk.

However, FinCom Chairman Judith Langone said there has never been a problem between the FinCom and Veteran Services.

“We have never said no to Mr. Mulvehill,” she said. “When he comes before us, we will find a way to get the money to Mr. Mulvehill.”

Langone also said it would be detrimental to pull $25,000 from free cash.

“We do not like to go down below $500,000 in free cash,” she said.

District 7 Town Meeting Member Cheryl Doyle agreed that the FinCom stands behind Mulvehill.

“It wouldn’t be an insult to vote this down knowing that this town has always given him the money,” she said.

Therefore, Sobchuk’s motion was defeated and the Veteran Services budget remained at $414,042.

The Planning Board’s $187,744 request also included funding for a full-time assistant town planner.

However, District 4 Town Meeting Member Stephen Brody presented an amendment that opposed the new position.

“I don’t understand why Norwood needs an assistant town planner,” he said.

In response, Paciorkowski said there have been a myriad of changes in the past several years that warrant an assistant town planner for Norwood.

“Times are changing fast and we need to change our by-laws,” he said.

Paciorkowski also brought up the issue of availability.

“We want to keep the Planning Office open all day,” he said, adding that hiring an assistant town planner would solve that problem.

District 3 Town Meeting Member Paul Eysie said that if the hire was not made, it could trigger an adverse effect on “hundreds of thousands of dollars” in grant funding.

Halkiotis said that compared to 14 similar communities, Norwood had the smallest Planning staff with just himself and part-time Administrative Assistant Clare Murphy, who is retiring next month.

“We came in last, I don’t think last is a place the town wants to be,” he said, adding that even with an assistant town planner, Norwood would only move up to 10 out of 14.

After much discussion, Brody’s amendment failed as the majority of Town Meeting favored adding an assistant town planner.

Verizon looking for shorter, cheaper deal

Christopher Roberson
Staff Reporter

The Cable Commission has entered into negotiations to renew its contract with Verizon, as the current 10-year deal is set to expire.

However, commission chair Richard Shay recently informed the Board of Selectmen that the negotiation process has been turbulent thus far.

"It's turning out to be a little more complicated than we expected or hoped," Shay said during the May 16 meeting. "Verizon is asking for a surprising number of changes."

One of the biggest changes pertains to the length and value of the contract itself.

Shay said the current contract is worth $15,000 per year and is paid out over 10 years for a total of $150,000. However, Verizon is now pushing for $7,500 per year to be paid out over five years, for a total of $37,500.

"They're pretty adamant about that," he said of Verizon.

Although it is not his first choice, Shay said he is willing to continue negotiations if Verizon can agree to certain considerations. He also said a number of surrounding communities have agreed to shorter contracts.

In response, Selectman Helen Abdullah-Donohue said she disagreed with Verizon's proposal.

"Why on Earth would we renew the contract for less money than what we have now and for a shorter period of time?" she asked, adding that the new contract should not be any shorter than eight years.

Selectman Paul Bishop said that under the proposed contract, Norwood Public Access Television could lose up to $120,000.

"They cannot continue that business without that money," he said.

Bishop also said he would not be willing to settle for anything less than what is stated in the current contract.

"I want the same amount of money, we booked in for $150,000, I don't want to take less than that," he said.

Chairman William Plasko said that in the past, Norwood has not been treated fairly by the larger cable companies.

"These companies are always coming at us about having a level playing field and now they want to change the field," he said.

Shay also said the number of cable subscribers has continued to decline as more residents are watching movies and television shows online.

Bishop said he agreed that the number of cable subscribers has only gotten smaller.

"People are dropping cable services left and right, streamers are the future," he said.

Shay said land phones are rapidly disappearing as well.

"My kids don't know why I have a phone on my wall, it doesn't make sense to them," said Shay.

Therefore, Shay said that Verizon has cited changes in the "regulatory atmosphere" and believes the same fate is imminent for cable.

He also said that Verizon wants to do away with its retail stores as well.

"We think that's a terrible idea," said Shay, adding that residents depend on those stores as a place to pay their bills and for technical support.

Selectman Thomas Maloney did not take part in the discussion, as his wife is a Comcast employee.

In other business, Police Chief William Brooks was also on hand to present his report from March 31 through April 25.

During that time, there were 2,144 calls for service. Within that figure, there were 343 charged motor vehicle violations, 231 warnings, 112 civil and criminal incidents, 67 car accidents and 29 arrests/complaints.

Brooks also said that distracted driving continues to be a problem and that even reading text messages while behind the wheel is against the law.

However, he said enforcement has been difficult, as it is still legal for drivers to dial a phone number or open an app.

Selectman Allan Howard asked Brooks about the current state of the opiate crisis.

Brooks said that it tends to come in waves; however, his officers have not seen many overdoses in the past "four to six weeks."

"It's been fairly low over the past month, we've seen maybe one or two," he said.

Does it get any better?

This is the best time of year to live in Norwood. Everything's in bloom, the weather is finally rewarding everyone for their infinite patience over this past winter and spring, what little there was of spring, and the town's DPW can be seen everywhere raking, planting and mulching.

Norwood's downtown area, or is it up the uptown area is looking great. We use the words downtown and uptown interchangeably when it comes to that stretch of real estate between the corner of Railroad and Washington Sts., all the way to where it splits and Walpole Street heads to the right and Washington continues down to the Flats. So, is this considered the downtown or uptown area? At a minimum everyone should be consistent so, for us anyway, we will henceforth refer to it as the downtown area, though we have no doubt we will be called to task for it.

Memorial Day weekend festivities are usually what gets people in the mood to emerge from their own house and yard work to meet up with neighbors and recognize those Norwood residents who have sacrificed, in some cases ultimately, so that the rest of us can continue to enjoy everything Norwood has to offer. If you have a little time this Memorial Day weekend, stroll down to the ceremonies taking place and let everyone know that patriotism and love of country is not dead or dormant as so many like to claim. Don't let the mudslinging going on in Washington dampen your appreciation for what is still great and honorable about this wonderful country, despite the cesspool of partisan politics.

Before you know it the Farmer's Market will once again take up residence on the Town Common, followed by some of the best of Norwood in the form of the Concerts on the Common. What other town offers concerts on Sundays and Wednesdays when residents, for no charge, can bring their own blankets and chairs and listen to some really, really good music? And if that isn't enough, there is a really cool bench seating area across from the Civic Center, nestled under some trees, where folks can just sit and relax watching the world go by, or even play a game of chess on a fixed table provided with a built in chess board. Just bring your own playing pieces and have at it. You may even be entertained when the carillon bells start tolling from the belfry of the Town Hall. Does it get any better than that?

Yes it does, because in the blink of an eye you'll be back "downtown" for all the July 4th festivities, including parades for young and old. With that in mind, the organizers of what many consider to be one of the most outstanding parades in Massachusetts will no doubt be looking to pick your pocket for funding, and please give if you can. The volunteer efforts for this event are amazing and all should tip their hats (and piggy banks) to help them pull off another outstanding event. It doesn't have to be a lot, every dollar makes a big difference to these guys, and every donation is greatly appreciated. Keep your eyes on these pages in the coming weeks to see a schedule of events and ways you can contribute, if not financially, then perhaps through volunteering to help.

And after you return from your vacations down at the Cape or up at Lake Winni, Norwood isn't done proving it is still the Crown Jewel of the Commonwealth. Norwood Day in Early September really is spectacular. For over twenty years now, residents have gathered "downtown" to celebrate the best of Norwood and thousands flock, from all over, to have fun and appreciate this wonderful hamlet.

You live in Norwood. That alone makes you part of something very special.

Former marine is now RSVP driver

Christopher Roberson
Staff Reporter

For resident Steven Eosco, the decision to volunteer as a driver for the Norfolk County Rides For Veterans Program (RSVP) was an easy one.

"Being a Chaplin, it was right up my alley," said Eosco, who is also a veteran of the Vietnam War, having served on active duty in the Marine Corps from 1969-1972.

"It's personal, I take it to heart," he said.

During the war, Eosco was assigned to the U.S.S. Shangri-La stationed in the Tonkin Gulf off the coast of the war-torn country.

Since joining RSVP two-and-a-half years ago, Eosco has given more than 50 rides and has driven 980 miles over the course of 80 hours.

"It's camaraderie, you're helping them out," he said of his fellow veterans. "I hate like hell turning them down."

In addition to Norwood, Eosco said he picks up veterans in Walpole, Dedham, Canton and Westwood and takes them to their appointments at the Veterans Administration (VA) hospitals in West Roxbury, Brockton and Jamaica Plain.

Eosco said the human connection that RSVP provides is crucial.

"It would be very easy and impersonal for Norfolk County to simply provide transportation vouchers to veterans in need of rides to medical or other important appointments," Eosco said during his speech at the State House on April 25, where he represented the Massachusetts Senior Corps, a subsidiary of RSVP. "In volunteering to provide rides for veterans, I form pleasant relationships that enhance that sense of community and I provide a ride that is safe, compassionate and friendly."

Eosco also spoke about a few of the veterans he has met along the way, including both their struggles and triumphs.

He said his first passenger was Kevin, who he met on Dec. 10, 2014.

"I got to know Kevin well, as he was my age and a veteran of Vietnam like myself," said Eosco. "Kevin was considered legally blind to the point he couldn't drive."

He said that Kevin had an appointment to have his eye bandage removed following a second surgery that was intended to restore his sight.

"When I came out with him he was so happy and excited because he could see everything, he had a smile from ear to ear," said Eosco. "Later that fall, my wife and I were having breakfast at the Mug N Muffin. After I sat down I looked up and saw Kevin, we both immediately excused ourselves from our tables and embraced each too close to the road.

To accommodate this request, Davis Marcus put together a massing plan for three buildings (technically two, with an addition to the Forbes Mansion) on the western side of the site. The buildings would be dense and about four to five stories, depending on the topography.

"We understand that it's just simply an option and it's not being presented as a definitive substitute plan or anything of that nature," Riley said. "The applicant indicated that they would be able to put something together to at least give us some idea to other possible options that they might utilize on this site."

Cameron said that the 27 acre piece of land was very mountainous, and by consolidating space they would save much of the eastern side of the site as open space. He said the new plan, just determined by the massing alone, would preserve much of the open space there for the Town going up into Upland Woods.

"The two building scenario has the entire consolidated footprint within 17 acres, leaving some of the 10-acre portion, which has some of the more challenging topography, relatively undisturbed," he said.

Cameron and Marcus representative Peter Tamm, from Goulston and Storras Law Offices, said the simplification of the new design would be, at least from this early design stage, probably a lot easier to deal with in terms of stormwater management.

"At this conceptual level, you wouldn't do stormwater management plans, we have not done that, we wanted to get this board's feedback first, but you clearly see that this is a less complicated site and would be easier," he said.

Riley asked the two flat out if there has been any consideration to reducing the unit count for the site.

"There hasn't," Cameron said.

"I don't think we're prepared to discuss any unit reduction at this time in this form," Tamm said.

The debate on the project has stemmed from a Massachusetts 40B law decision the state issued Norwood, which stated it did not qualify for 40B exemption and would allow developers to build regardless of zoning laws. While the town currently is fighting the decision, many ZBA members were less than impressed with the new massing and Marcus' unwillingness to reduce the unit count.

"I have made it perfectly clear my feelings on the project from the start, it's either a rotten apple or a rotten orange," said ZBA member Patrick Mulvehill. "They're not even close to being allowed in the town under the current zoning laws. I don't like either plan."

ZBA members Tom Brady and John Perry both said they felt this new massing was a step in the right direction, but both stipulated that there's so many other problems they have with the project, it's a drop in the bucket.

School Committee outlines goals for override and start times

Christopher Roberson
Staff Reporter

The School Committee recently formed two subcommittees, one to look at school start times and the other to look at how to request a budget override should it become necessary in the years ahead.

Regarding school start times, Member Teresa Stewart said she and Member Maura Smith reviewed studies conducted by the American Academy of Pediatrics and the National Sleep Foundation.

They also looked at schools in Newton, Sharon, Hanover and Westborough that have implemented later start times.

"It seems to be the way schools are going," Smith said during the May 10 School Committee meeting.

Stewart said the findings from the American Academy of Pediatrics indicated that school should not start earlier than 8:30 a.m.

Norwood's elementary schools currently start at 8:40 a.m., Coakley Middle School starts at 7:25 a.m. and the high school starts at 7:40 a.m.

She said sleep is critically important for teenagers, citing a physiological process known as the circadian rhythm.

"In adolescents everything shifts later," Stewart said, adding that "deep, restorative sleep" only occurs in the latter part of the night.

"This is a year, year-and-a-half, two-year process to do it right," said Smith. "It's a large game of Jenga."

In addition to sending out a survey, Smith also recommended forming a Student Advisory Panel.

Chairman Myev Bodenhofer said she supported Smith and Stewart's approach to later start times, particularly for middle school students.

"It bothers me that we have 12-year-olds standing in the dark waiting for the bus," she said.

Member Patrick McDonough voiced his support as well.

"I wish you guys did this when I was in school," he said. "Getting up early is not easy."

Students and teachers recently celebrated the opening of the Willett Wonder Garden at the Willett Early Childhood Center.

Outdoor classroom opens at Willett

It began just as a proposal, a vision was developed, and finally, became a goal set as a part of our two-year Improvement Plan for our school, the Willett Early Childhood Center. An outdoor classroom environment would enhance the learning experiences for all of the children in our early childhood setting. Young children learn best through hands-on exploration and experiential opportunities. Our goal is to increase the quantity, quality, and benefit of outdoor experiences for our young students.

On Earth Day (April 22), the vision became reality at our community build day. We had a great volunteer turnout. We want to thank all of the dedicated volunteers who tirelessly in the cold and rain, to help build our planters, move soil, and paint our storage shed. KnK Landscaping donated truckloads of soil to fill our raised garden beds that were constructed by volunteers that day. They also donated some time/manpower to dig and sink three large tractor tires for our students to climb on & though. The generous PTO funded purchase of a shed to store all of our garden equipment and the lumber/kits for the raised beds. They also provided hoses for water supply as well as shelving for inside the shed. We would also like to thank the generous PTO for all of their financial support, ordering of materials, and physical help with getting the garden underway. Amy Michienzi was awarded the NCTA grant of $300 for beginning the endeavor, it provided for garden gloves for all the staff, garden gloves for the students, the decorative stepping-stones, and all of the garden tools for the students to use.

Mrs. Ferreira, Willett School Principal, dedicated the outdoor space to our wonderful students, with Mrs. Julie Barbour-Issa as the ceremonial ribbon-cutter. Mrs. Barbour-Issa has driven the ship that has made our vision become a reality for our school.

This is just the beginning of our endeavor. I look forward to seeing through the development of Phase II of the Willett Wonder Garden.

Thank you again to our sponsors: Knk Landscaping, True Value Hardware, Papa John's Pizza, Norwood Tire, and the NCTA Grant.

other. Kevin then informed me he had his license back, as well as a vehicle to drive."

Eosco said he had another memorable experience earlier this year, while he was driving a fellow Marine veteran, Chuck, from Norwood to the VA in Jamaica Plain.

Eosco said Chuck had been afflicted by Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) since he returned home from Vietnam and was unable to "adjust to a normal life."

Without knowing it at the time, Eosco gave Chuck a glimpse at the lives they had before they were sent to fight a war 8,500 miles from home.

"I was turning left from Perkins Street onto South Huntington Avenue, as we passed 351 South Huntington I told Chuck that was the three-decker house my wife and I lived in when we got married," said Eosco. "He then proceeded to tell me his aunt and uncle owned that house. Long story short, he was a cousin to my in-laws."

Toward the end of 2016, Eosco met a young veteran named Jim who had served in Iraq and now needed weekly rides to attend a VA program in Brockton.

As they got to talking, Eosco learned that Jim had landed a number of good paying jobs, including one as a police officer. But none of them ever stuck.

"He was really hoping he would succeed this time after completing this program," said Eosco.

Then, in March of this year, Eosco received a text message from Jim.

"Along with this text was a picture of him sitting at a restaurant with his adult daughter he met for the first time," said Eosco. "I knew at this point he was succeeding and accomplished one of his life's goals - I was never prouder of this man."

NAC now requires a new sign-in/filming policy

Christopher Roberson
Staff Reporter

Nine minutes and 26 seconds into the May 10 meeting of the Norwood Airport Commission (NAC), someone in the audience caught the attention of Vice Chairman Michael Sheehan.

Christopher Donovan, Jr. was attending the meeting; however, he did not sign the attendance sheet.

"You have to sign in young man," said Sheehan.

However, Donovan responded in protest.

"I've never signed in before," he said.

Chairman then Mark Ryan stepped in.

"You can sign in now," he said.

Yet, Donovan continued to resist.

"Where does it say that?" he asked.

Ryan also noticed a blinking red light on Donovan's cell phone and asked if the meeting was being filmed.

Donovan answered, saying he had just started filming the meeting.

However, Ryan said he saw that the blinking light was on prior to the start of the meeting.

Airport Manager Russell Maguire said the NAC does not currently have a policy regarding signing in or filming meetings.

Therefore, Member Kevin Shaughnessy asked Maguire to work with Town Counsel Brandon Moss to draft a policy.

"I'm uncomfortable with someone setting up a camera before the meeting," he said, adding that filming should not be allowed before a meeting begins. "I don't know when it's on and when it's off."

Sheehan said although residents are allowed to film meetings, they should do so in a fair manner.

"They should be continuously run," he said of cameras that are brought into a meeting. "I just want the playing field to be equal for everyone."

In other news, Peter Eichleay, president of FlightLevel Aviation, said was pleased to announce that his company has finished construction of its 22,000 square-foot hangar complex, which began in June 2016.

"We're finally there, it was a long time coming," he said.

Jeffrey Adler, senior project manager for Dubois and King, presented his most recent update on the relocation of Taxiway A.

He said the project was temporarily denied under the regulations of the State Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), as it would cause "more than 5,000 square feet of impact."

However, this was expected and he is now waiting to receive the official denial notice in order to begin the variance process.

"The clock started on April 28," said Adler, adding that the DEP has 70 days to respond.

"We're hoping it doesn't take the full 70 days."

In the meantime, Adler said he will start the areal mapping process, which is required by the Federal Aviation Administration.

He said that while he was working on a similar project in Plymouth, areal mapping took two months to complete.

"It's the longest part of the project," said Adler.

In addition, Maguire said that all the cracks in the taxi lanes will be sealed and the State Department of Transportation (MassDOT) will cover $60,000 of the total cost.

Maguire also said the airport's rotating beacon is three years beyond its useful life and needs to be replaced.

"It just finally decided it had enough," he said.

However, MassDOT has agreed to pick up 80 percent of the cost, which will leave Norwood responsible for $1,370.

Maguire also discussed the cost of repairing the Gate Two card reader, saying the offending party's insurance company will cover the $1,100 bill.

He also said he is working on leases for helipad tie-downs on the West Apron.

"The big item is the insurance," said Maguire, adding that he will be working with Assistant Town Manager Bernie Cooper to work out those details.

Override Subcommittee, Smith and Bodenhofer said the priority will be to gain intimate knowledge of how the budget is developed be able to answer questions that residents are likely to have in the event that an override is truly needed.

“Part of our goal in the subcommittee is to have a firm understanding of the budget, that’s the long hard work that needs to be done,” said Smith, adding that she has been studying the reasons behind the overrides that were approved in Arlington and Needham.

In other news, Ernie Boch, Jr. was on hand to receive a certificate of appreciation from the high school cheerleading team. Boch had donated $10,000 to allow the team to travel to Lake Buena Vista, Fla. for the Americheer International Cheerleading Competition.

Superintendent of Schools James Hayden said student conduct has become an area of concern following two fights at the high school.

He said in the past that the administration has responded by having the students involved in the confrontation review the district’s good behavior skills.

“99.9 percent of our students listen to that,” he said.

Hayden also said that Student Resource Officer Paul Murphy is at the high school five days a week.

“We want our students to feel comfortable with the police,” he said.

In addition, Hayden spoke about a $4,912 grant the district received last fall, which gives school nurses the training to ask troubled students questions designed to identify the source of their violent behaviors.

“There are students who need help and we need various ways to connect with them,” he said.

However, Hayden said he was pleased with the rapid response from faculty during one of the incidents at the high school.

“We had an instance in the lunchroom and within 12 seconds people were there,” he said.

Cynthia Derrane, chairman of the high school’s Foreign Language Department, presented the department’s 82-page Passport To Global Travel.

Derrane said she and her colleagues acted on Hayden’s recommendation to create a written policy governing international field trips.

“We tried to be super thorough,” she said, adding that policy is modeled after those in

Needham and Foxboro. “There’s a lot about managing student expectations, this talks about what to do if things go awry.”

Derrane said that for future trips, students’ signatures will be required to indicate that they are aware of the policy.

She said the next step will be to meet with School Business Official Ann Marie Ellis to discuss the policy’s business components.

Hayden suggested including fingerprinting in the policy, particularly for overnight trips.

Incoming Superintendent Dr. David Thomson also attended the meeting.

In addition to signing his contract on April 3, Thomson said he was also in Norwood on April 6 and April 8.

During that time, Thomson said he met with Board of Selectmen Chairman William Plasko, Town Manager John Carroll and Assistant Town Manager Bernie Cooper.

Once again, Norwood softball tournament bound With tournament berth secured, all eyes turn to Herget chase

Norwood High first baseman Janelle Kelleher ventured into enemy territory to record an out in last week's win over the Milton Wildcats, which officially punched the Mustangs' playoff ticket.

There's no time like tournament time, for which the countdown is officially on at Norwood High after a 7-4 victory over the Milton Wildcats last Wednesday.

The Mustangs scored in four separate innings against the Wildcats, never trailing and taking the lead for good after a single run in the bottom of the second.

"It was a good game for them," Norwood head coach Carol Savino said after the game. "They qualified. They're having a good year."

Sophomore Amanda Olbrys pitched a complete game for Norwood, giving up four runs (two earned) on six hits while walking three and striking out eight.

"She's getting better with every game," Savino said of Olbrys. "She got stronger as the game went on."

Olbrys had back-to-back 1-2-3 innings in the fourth and fifth and got out of the sixth facing four batters thanks in part to an unassisted double play turned by junior Erin Murphy at shortstop.

Milton did have some success early in the game, loading the bases with just one out in the first inning before Olbrys pitched her way out of it by inducing a ground ball to freshman Emma Maturo at third, who fired home for the force out, and striking out the next batter.

The Wildcats would tack on two runs in the second, tying the game 2-2 at the time. They wouldn't score again until the seventh, but threatened in the sixth before Murphy's aforementioned double play.

Murphy, who has been Norwood's primary second baseman this season, shifted across the bag later in the game due to the absence of senior Siobhan Reen from the defensive alignment. While Reen still hit, she was nursing a knee injury which limited her mobility, and thus served as the designated player for the Mustangs.

With all sorts of shifting about the field to accommodate for Revenge, necessity and clutch.

Norwood High checked off all three boxes in its 4-1 win over the Attleboro Blue Bombardiers on Saturday afternoon at Balch Elementary School, getting back above .500 at 8-7 and within two wins of qualification for the Division 1 South tournament.

Trailing 1-0 against the very same Blue Bombardiers that had shocked them in round one of last year's postseason, the Mustangs hung four runs on Attleboro in the bottom of the sixth inning to ever so slightly ease the pain of the 2016 defeat.

"It felt really good to get back at them," said Michael James, the lone Norwood player who started in both Saturday's contest and the playoff game last June. "It feels pretty good to get this one."

James went 1 for 3 at the plate and also drew an intentional walk, a free pass which came back to haunt the Blue Bombardiers.

With one out in the bottom of the sixth, Jay Wladkowski brought home the tying run on a fielder's choice and advanced to third base on a Pat Forrest double in the very next at-bat. There were now two outs but first base was unoccupied, at which point Attleboro head coach Matt Bosh flashed four fingers to the home plate umpire, deciding he wanted nothing to do with James — one of the most feared hitters in the South section.

Up stepped Cam Flahive for the Mustangs. The senior first baseman was opportunistic, finding space on the ground between the third baseman and shortstop to plate Wladkowski and Forrest for a go-ahead two-run single.

"I was having a tough day at the plate, I just executed," Flahive said of his high-leverage at-bat.

James came around to score the fourth Norwood run after Sean Munro reached on an error, capping the frame's crooked number.

"It was a little frustrating because I always want to hit, but I got on base and was able to get all the way around and score and help the team out," James said of

Norwood sends 4 to individual tournament

Four members of the Norwood High boys tennis team participated in the MIAA Individual Tournament at Newton North High School last weekend.

Ram Goli (Sr.), Yash (Sr.) and Tej (Fr.) Aryaputra and T.J. Fehm (Fr.) represented the Mustangs in the optional event, of which head coach John Churchill said he is glad the team chose to partake in.

"I'm very glad that these four guys showed up and took on the challenge," Churchill said. "It was great to see all the high quality tennis on display."

Goli, Norwood's first singles player, fell in straight sets, 2-6, 4-6 against BC High's third singles player, Aiden Dale.

"Ram played well, keeping it close early in the first set, playing to 2-3 down in the set," Churchill said. "He started off with a couple aces in his first couple service games."

Goli led 4-3 in the second set, pushing Dale near the brink, but ran out of steam in dropping the next three games to lose both the set and the match.

Yash Aryaputra, who has spent much of the season as the second singles player for the Mustangs, was blanked by Hanover's first singles player, Nick Ginter, 0-6, 0-6.

Tej Aryaputra and Fehm did not play together much during the season, as Fehm was primarily Norwood's third singles player. However, Churchill decided to pair the freshmen together for the event, to get them some experience.

"I had never taken freshmen to the event before, but these two are likely the players the future team will be built around," Churchill explained.

Paired up with Franklin's second doubles team – which went 10-2 in Hockomock League play – Tej Aryaputra and Fehm struggled to a 1-6, 1-6 defeat.

Despite the lack of success for the team, Churchill said the overall experience was positive for all players at the respective junctures of their careers.

"The freshmen seemed to take some positive things away as they got to Reen's absence, Norwood was a bit shakier than usual defensively; the team made five errors, a very un-Savino-like number.

"The kids got the job done," Savino said, unworried about the malaise having a lasting effect.

Offensively, however, it was business as usual for the Mustangs.

Sophomore catcher Bryn Garczynski went 2 for 3 with a walk out of the leadoff spot for Norwood, scoring all three times she reached base. Junior first baseman Janelle Kelleher had two RBIs out of the cleanup spot, including one on a deep sac fly to right field in the fourth inning, while Katie Mulligan went 2 for 3 out of the No. 7 spot in the lineup, supplying the Mustangs their only extra base hit of the afternoon (a double) in the second.

Norwood was also the beneficiary of shoddy defense from Milton. The Wildcats made four errors of their own, accounting for three unearned runs for the Mustangs.

Last Friday, Norwood knocked out Needham in nine innings to improve to 10-3 on the season. Reen, all the way back from her knee ailment, supplied the heroics with a double in the top of the night to give the Mustangs a 5-4 win on the road.

Norwood hosted Newton North on Tuesday, in an event held after the Record's deadline. The team traveled to Milton yesterday for its final way game of the regular season, and will return home this afternoon to face Brockton at Cleveland Elementary School at 3:45 p.m.

The Mustangs slaughtered the Boxers, 16-0, in five innings on April 13 in Brockton.

Judgement Week looms for lax

Opportunity remains there for the taking for the Norwood High boys lacrosse team despite its 4-11 record.

That's the beauty of the Sullivan rule, which has the potential to make a seemingly forgettable season one that could, at the very least, result in a tournament appearance for the Mustangs.

It's been known all season long that all Norwood needed to do was win five of its 10 games against Division 2 and 3 competition in order to qualify for the Division 2 South tournament for the first time since 2014. The Mustangs are 4-3 in such games, with three more to go, placing the intentional walk. "That's what was important."

None of the above sequence would have been possible at all if not for Charlie Gover, however.

Gover, whom Mustangs head coach Kevin Igoe has called "the heart and soul of the team" on numerous occasions this spring, made two big plays in the latter innings to put Norwood in a position to win. His sacrifice bunt in the bottom of the sixth advanced Owen Kelly to second; it was Kelly who scored the game-tying run in Wladkowski's at-bat.

But in the top of the fifth inning, Attleboro held a 1-0 lead. Corey McKenna led off the inning with a double off Mustangs starter Mat Rice, giving the Blue Bombardiers a man in scoring position with no one out.

Matt Marguerite – who doubled and scored to create Attleboro's single run in the third inning – stepped in. He laid a bunt down to the right, in between Rice and Flahive. There was an easy play to be made at first, but Gover – who started at catcher for Norwood – saw another play.

Not wanting to put a runner 90 feet from scoring with just one out, Gover yelled out "3!" to Flahive, signaling the tag play to be made at third base.

"As soon as I saw the kid lay down the bunt, I looked to second [base] and it looked like [Marguerite] fell down almost, so he wasn't even halfway there," Gover said. "Cam had the ball and I knew I could trust him to make the play."

Flahive fired across the diamond to Forrset, who easily applied the tag to retire Marguerite.

"Don't discount that play to third, Charlie yelling '3!'" Igoe said. "That's a big play. He's been great for us all year."

Not to be lost in all of it was the performance of Rice, who went the distance on the mound for the Mustangs. The junior right-hander scattered five hits, allowing the one run (which was unearned, though the result of a wild pitch) and struck out three while walking none.

"I trust my stuff, I pitch what I can," Rice said.

"Just throwing strikes, that's all I can do."

Three quarters of the regular season is down for Norwood, with five games to go. A 2-3 record will get the Mustangs into the dance, something which seemed a long shot even two weeks ago after Norwood's 3-6 start. But the 5-1 surge has put the team squarely back in the picture, which is exactly what Igoe had hoped for.

"I expected them to," he said. "We expect every year to get into the tournament. We're hoping we can get there, but we expect it."

Monday's contest against the Newton North Tigers was rained out in Newtonville, rescheduled for today at 3:45 p.m. at Newton North High School. The Mustangs hosted the Milton Wildcats last night, in an event held after the Record's deadline. After today, Norwood is off until Monday afternoon, when the team travels to Brookline to duel the Warriors at Parsons Field, with first pitch scheduled for 3:45 p.m.

see some higher-level tennis and experience the unique format of the event," Churchill said.

Goli and Yash Aryaputra each had 8:45 a.m. starts, while the Tej Aryaputra/Fehm team did not rally for serve until 2 p.m. Churchill said that Goli and the elder Aryaputra hung around for the duration of the event to take it all in before watching their teammates.

Norwood also had a team match vs. Weymouth on Friday, which went 4-1 to the Wildcats. Goli secured the lone win for the Mustangs with a 6-4, 7-5 win over Weymouth's Sean Doogue. It was win No. 4 for Goli on the season.

All individual matches were close for Norwood against Weymouth, despite the final score. Yash Aryaputra fell to Matt Crowley in a second singles match, 3-6, 4-6, and Greg Zambrano lost to Andrew Reynolds in third singles 2-6, 4-6.

First doubles featured a pair of two-point games, with Sai Nedunchezian and Tej Aryaputra losing 4-6, 5-7, but the most exciting match of the day came at second doubles.

Fehm and David Sparks fell in a three-set thriller, 6-7 (5-7), 6-2, 10-12.

"I had T.J. play second doubles to help our chances to win this point that I saw as being winnable," Churchill said.

Since the overall outcome had already been decided by the time the third set of second doubles rolled around, Churchill said that Fehm and Sparks played a "super-tiebreaker" in lieu of the third set. Fehm and Sparks had their Wildcat opponents on the ropes, up 10-9, before succumbing in the next three points.

plenty of intrigue in the final week of the regular season.

The home stretch begins this afternoon at Walpole at 3:45 p.m. The Rebels (15-1) are amongst the favorites in the Division 2 Central-East section, which Norwood head coach Anthony Roman is aware of. Nevertheless, he's hoping the Mustangs can clean up many of the mistakes which haunted them in their final Division 1 game of the season on Tuesday, a 15-1 loss vs. the Brookline Warriors.

"We need to fix some things," Roman said after the Brookline game, one in which Norwood didn't score until the final two minutes of regulation. "We didn't fix much today, but hopefully tomorrow, watching the video, we can fix it."

Kyle McCue had the lone goal for the Mustangs, which came on a feed from Nick Girard. James Piatelli made 11 saves in net for Norwood.

Looking ahead to next week, the Mustangs will have two much more manageable games vs. nonleague opponents: the East Bridgewater Vikings on the road on Tuesday and the Norton Lancers the following day at home.

Nothing is ever a given for a 4-11 team, but signs of hope appear for Norwood. The Mustangs edged East Bridgewater earlier this season, 8-7. In 2016, Norwood defeated Norton 8-7 in overtime for one of its two wins on the season.

"Both were one-goal games so I don't think it matters where we play," Roman said when asked if he thought the location of either game may matter. The Mustangs defeated the Vikings at home on May 1, and last year's win over the Lancers was in Norton. "I'm expecting another tight one-goal game and hopefully we come out on top."

Norwood's game vs. East Bridgewater starts at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, while opening draw for the Norton game – which is also Senior Day for the Mustangs – is set for 4:30 p.m.

Roman is hopeful the bad habits which plagued Norwood against Brookline don't linger against Walpole, and even if that is the case, a remedy is found in time for next week.

"We've been awesome on clears all year so it was sort of out of character, but Brookline did a few things," Roman said. "They stopped our bread and butter and we sort of fell apart after we couldn't get the ball to [Nick] Girard in the middle."

"We bounce back real well, but you just never know how things are going to go sometimes. We've been good all season about bouncing back, so I'm hoping by next week we'll have it out of our system. You get the mojo going from making the tournament and we'll be fine."

Junior Damato began servicing vehicles in 1969. He owns a 10-bay auto repair service center in Hyde Park and an 8-bay center in Middleboro. Junior is an ASE-certified Master Technician, ASE-certified L-1 and ASE-certified Natural Gas.

Changing the car world in a 2017 G80 AWD

It's time for the old, used to be big three to play catch up. I just spent a week in this G80 with a 5-star insurance overall score. This is an amazing car that is all-wheel drive and sits low to the ground. At first glance, it looks like a high-end import. It is powered by a 3.8 liter V/6 with 311 horsepower via an 8-speed multi-mode automatic transmission. Nine air bags protect the occupants, along with automatic emergency brake control, blind spot monitoring, and lane keep assist. The G80 in standard trim has more standard equipment than most cars above its class level, such as smart cruise control, leather seating, heated front and rear seats, a multi-function touchscreen with steering controls and a center pod control that is simple to use. There are plenty of easy to reach and understand control knobs and buttons to the left of the steering wheel for additional features, including a power, rear window shade.

The car rides and handles all road conditions without any shake or suspension noise. On the highway, on smooth to course surfaces, the tires are quiet. There is insulation everywhere you look. EPA rating is 16 city, 25 highway, combined average 19 miles per gallon. Gas mileage is not as good as other cars, but the warranty is over the top: 10 year/100,000 mile power train, 3 year/36,000 mile no-cost scheduled maintenance. All this for a base price of only $43,909 (destination fee: $950). Our test car did have two very popular option packages. First, a premium package that has LED foglights, a large panoramic roof, Lexicon 14-speaker sound system, 7-inch color LCD monitor, rear-view camera with guidelines, and manual rear window shades, for $4,750. The ultimate package complements the premium package with premium leather seating, ventilated front seats, power driver's seat cushion extender and side bolster, wood and aluminum trim, and full color heads-up display (that is very clear and very useful). The center display is also upgraded to 9.2 inches, the audio has more power and 17 speakers, there is a power trunk closer, dual mode ventilation with C2 sensor, Apple car play and more, for $4,200. Just for the record, an upgraded audio in high-end imports can cost $5,000-$7,000. The G80 is truly a car for all seasons. Who makes the G80? Can you say Hyundai? Yes it is, and it will change your mind when you compare it to other cars in and above its class.

Boston's own Junior Damato, "The Auto Doctor" has agreed to field auto repair questions from Bulletin and Record readers. Please forward your questions to news@bulletinnewspapers.com and we will do our best to get your questions answered.

RAIL FAN CLUB DETAILS RAILWAY AID TO EUROPE

The unsung story of the vital role the U.S. Army Military Railway Service, America's railroad men and women, and the American railroad industry and its equipment manufacturers played in the successful 1944 Allied invasion of Europe and the post-WWII reconstruction of the continent's war-torn major railroad systems, is the subject of the May meeting of the Norfolk County Rail Road Club (NCRRC) at the Morrill Memorial Library's Simoni Room, at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, May 31.

The history-filled program will highlight the "Yanks," the more than 2,500 rugged, tough, steam locomotives designed and built in the U.S. especially for service in the war-torn railroads of Europe in the 1940s. Some 40,000 pieces of rolling stock also were sent to Europe to replace destroyed equipment and support the front line Allied troops. The illustrated presentation will show how many of these "Yanks" survived damage or post-war scrapping to continue as real "war veterans" operating today on historical railroad museums in the UK, Europe and the U.S.

The contribution of trained railroad personnel by US railroads in Army organizations like the New Haven Railroad's own 729th Railway Operating Battalion will be also highlighted in the evening's historical presentation by Ned Fenstermacher, NCRRC member from Marlborough, Mass.

This historically significant program is free and open to the public. Details call Ed Sweeney, NCRRC Program Organizer at 781-762-5587.

WILLIAM

Louis "Bill" Maini, 90, of East Falmouth, formerly of Norwood, Wayland and Cambridge, Mass. and Pelican Bay, Fla., died peacefully and surrounded by love on Wednesday morning, May 3, 2017. For 60 years, he was married to his beloved wife, Maria Lipka Maini, who passed away in 2013.

Bill led a full and wonderful life. His friends and colleagues have described him as honorable, generous, accomplished, humble, a gentleman and a devoted family man. Bill attended Tufts University while serving in the ROTC. In WWII, he was in the Corps of Engineers, and promoted to acting Second Lieutenant while managing global operations and logistics in the US Army Air Force.

Bill graduated from MIT with a BS in 1951 and a MS in 1953, both in Building Engineering & Construction. He also pursued a doctorate at MIT and taught undergraduate studies for two years. Bill remained devoted to MIT after graduation and participated in over 37 committees, often as chair or co-chair. He was a charter member of the Katherine Dexter McCormick Society and a Life Member of the Sustaining Fellows giving society. He founded the MIT Class of '51 Fund for Excellence in Education and remained on the Alumni Class Funds Review Committee until his late 80s. Bill was awarded the Harold E. Lobbell '17 Distinguished Service Award in 1991, the MIT Presidential Citation in 1992 and the MIT Bronze Beaver in 1997. Bill was Director of the MIT Alumni Association Board of Directors from 2001 to 2004.

Together with MIT grad Parker Symmes, Bill founded Vappi Symmes and Maini in 1955. Jon McKee joined the firm three years later and the firm became Symmes, Maini & McKee Architects and Engineers; now known as SMMA. Bill led SMMA for 30 years as was bestowed the honorary title of Chairman Emeritus in 1998. As President and Chief Executive Officer, his business acumen created a sustainable organization with a formula for the firm & growth and continuous improvement. Bill also instilled the importance of stability, the value of relationships and the meaning of responsible leadership. In 2007, SMMA was inducted into the Massachusetts Building Congress (MBC) Hall of Fame. Bill participated in several professional organizations including the Rotary Club of Cambridge, and was elected President of the MBC and Cambridge Chamber of Commerce. He was recognized by Cambridgeport Savings Bank for 19 years of service on the Board of Investment in 1991, became a Life Member of the American Society of Civil Engineers in 1992 and recognized by Commonwealth Gas Company for nine years of service on the Board of Directors in 1993.

Bill loved nature, cars, entertaining, traveling, music and sports. He particularly loved cruising with Maria up and down the East Coast in their '33 Cape Dory Trawler, 'Peace & Plenty.' He also loved classical music and received a Distinctive Service Award from Cape Arts and Entertainment, consisting of the Cape Symphony and Cape Conservatory, in appreciation of his 12 years of service on the Board of Trustees. Bill loved inspiring young people and was a judge for Falmouth Academy's Science Fair for over 10 years.
