

Rogers beats Hempton in District 12 State Rep race

Sam Nickerson

Norwood voters came out in force on November 4 and voted to keep State Representative and Norwood resident John Rogers in office over challenger Tim Hempton.

Of the 17,733 registered voters in town, around 60 percent turned out to the polls on Tuesday night.

Rogers, a Democrat who has served the district since 1993, carried all nine voting precincts in Norwood and amassed almost 62% of the Norwood vote for District 12 State Representative.

District 12 includes all of Norwood and voting precincts one, two, six, and seven in Walpole.

Rogers was unable to be reached for comment by press time, but held a post-election reception at Napper Tandy's on Day Street on Tuesday night. He did have a message for voters as polls opened.

"Friends, it is an honor to be your State Representative. I love being your servant and your voice at the State House," Rogers said in a statement posted on his Facebook page.

While Norwood was a landslide for Rogers, things were much closer in the hometown of Republican challenger and first time candidate Tim Hempton. Rogers edged his opponent by 66 votes in Walpole.

Rogers won the race overall with a total of 8,873 votes over Hempton's tally of 6,399.

"Thank you to all my supporters for your efforts on this campaign for State Representative," Hempton said in a statement. "I am humbled by the efforts you made on my behalf. Moreover, thank you to all of the citizens of Norwood and Walpole who voted for candidacy. We did not achieve the re-

1.5 percent Task Force meets for first time

Sam Nickerson
Staff Reporter

The 1.5 percent Task Force, convened by the Board of Selectmen to address Norwood's affordable housing totals, met for the first time on Oct. 30 to establish the structure and format of the committee.

According to Town Planner Paul Halkiotis, the task force's primary goal would be to identify and acquire properties in town in order to fulfill Norwood's affordable housing obligations according to state 40B and 40R laws.

These laws require that either 10 percent of housing stock be affordable or 1.5 percent of the town's land be dedicated to affordable housing before the town can have more discretion in large developments. Otherwise, 40B and 40R laws enable developers to skirt certain local zoning laws.

Airport Commissioner submits compliance complaint to FAA

Sam Nickerson
Staff Reporter

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has received another Part 13 Complaint — the second one this year — against Norwood Memorial Airport, alleging that the town violated obligations it was stipulated to follow when it received federal grant money for the airport.

Norwood Airport Commissioner Oulton Hues Jr. filed the complaint, which is dated Sept. 30. According to the FAA, Part 13 Complaints are informal complaints about airport compliance with grant assurances or deed restrictions.

When an airport receives grant money from the FAA, both parties usually enter into a contract requiring that the airport follow regulations regarding the daily operations, overall layout of the airport, and other guidelines.

"I have been at and around Norwood Airport for over 30 years, as a passenger, citizen, pilot and user of the airport," Hues said. "I have been aware for years of questionable activity and was entrusted by the Board of Selectmen to try and make a positive difference at the Airport with my appointment to the Norwood Airport Commission."

Hues said he first brought his concerns to the FAA, who recommended that he speak to the selectmen. The selectmen then brought the issue back to the Norwood Airport Commission, Hues said, which he sees as problematic.

"I have had no choice than to go back to the FAA in a formal fashion," Hues said. "I am asking my fellow citizens and the Board of Selectmen to look long and hard and ask questions of the Airport."

Mark Ryan, who has represented the Airport Commission since the resignation of former chairman Tom Wynne, said that the Commission has not yet received the Part 13 Complaint and has yet to receive a directive from the FAA requiring that they respond to it.

That said, Ryan does not anticipate that the FAA will find in favor of the complainant.

"I'm very confident we're not in any noncompliance with the grant assurances," Ryan said. He also said that the day-to-day affairs of the airport would not be affected by the ongoing complaints.

"We've got a very capable manager who follows the letter of the law. We've got members of the Airport Commission, at least five of them anyways, (who) have no conflict down there," Ryan said. "We try to do the best we can for the airport and for the town of Norwood."

Previously, Hues had filed a harassment complaint with the State Ethics Commission against members of the Airport Commission and a criminal complaint against former Airport Commission Chairman Tom Wynne.

In his criminal complaint, Hues said that Wynne had thrown a stack of papers at him — the text was a complaint against the airport — though the parties settled before a magistrate's hearing at Dedham District Court not to have the complaint issued.

Norwood Airport tenants Boston Executive Helicopters (BEH) also submitted a Part 13 Complaint earlier this summer, which alleged a violation of grant obligations and discrimination against BEH, which is seeking to establish itself as a Fixed Base Operator (FBO) at sults we wanted yesterday, but moving forward, I do believe that we will still be able to make positive changes in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Norwood favored the incumbent in another contested local election, as Peter Collins won just over 61 percent of the vote in town for the office of County Commissioner. Milton Democrat Collins, who has served as commissioner for 20 years, handily defeated challenger Michael Soter of Bellingham, by 61 percent in the County.

In the race for Governor, Republican Charlie Baker received 54 percent of the votes in Norwood and carried every precinct in town except for Precinct Five on his way to beating Democrat Martha Coakley, who did not officially concede until Wednesday morning, by 40,198 votes statewide. Baker accumulated over 48 percent of the votes for governor overall.

Incumbent and Democrat Ed Markey handily beat his opponent in the race for the office of US Senator, Republican Brian Herr. Markey won 58 percent of the vote in Norwood.

Many at the polls believed that the ballot questions played a part in the high voter turnout in Norwood. Norwood, like much of the state, voted yes on Question One. The measure, which detaches the state's gas tax from inflation, received 58 percent of the votes in Norwood.

Legislation in 2013 required that the gas tax be adjusted according to inflation, but with the approval of Question One, the state gas tax will remain at 24 cents per gallon.

Question Two, in which a

'yes' vote would have expanded bottle bill to require deposits on all bottled drinks, received a resounding rejection in the state. Norwood voted in line with the state, sinking Question Two by 6,607 votes. 'No' votes on Question Two accounted for a whopping 81 percent of the total in Norwood.

Question Three, which proposed repealing a 2011 gambling law and halting plans to open three casinos in the state, was rejected in Norwood, as the 'no' vote received 66 percent of the vote. The 'no' vote received an overall majority in the state as well, meaning that plans for the proposed casinos in Springfield, Plainville, and Everett can move forward.

Norwood voters, like Massachusetts voters overall, were also largely in favor of Question Four, which proposed requiring workers at companies with at least 11 employees to earn paid sick time. In Norwood, the measure passed with 55 percent voting in favor.

Selectmen discuss town land acquisition

Sam Nickerson
Staff Reporter

Town of Norwood officials are moving forward with steps for the town to acquire land within Norwood borders, largely to help Norwood reach permanent safe harbor from state 40B and 40R developments.

During the November 4 Board of Selectmen meeting, Selectmen Bill Plasko made public a potential land purchase on Nichols Street.

Plasko motioned that the board make an offer, subject to Town Meeting approval and in accordance with Massachusetts laws in the amount of $525,000 for "three plus" acres of land on Nichols Street near Ellis Pond.

The purchase, Plasko said, would be a unique acquisition of land under the state's 30B law, the Uniform Procurement Act. The Uniform Procurement Act provides for fair and uniform processes for contracting procedures and procurements of real estate.

Selectman Helen Abdallah Donohue, who said she was in favor of the project, abstained from the vote in order to avoid an appearance of conflict, as she is a member of the St. George Orthodox Church. Selectman Allan Howard also abstained for the same reason.

The motion passed with three votes in favor and two abstentions.

The Board also addressed articles for the upcoming Special Town Meeting that deal with land acquisition.

During his Selectman's agenda, Plasko recommended that the Selectmen support funding the suggested conservation fund, proposed under Article Four, with an initial amount of approximately $100,000.

Based on discussions with the Finance Commission and subject to Town Meeting approval, the funds would likely come from existing accounts identified by the Town Accountant as available or from the "free cash" budget if those accounts are unavailable.

Donohue asked where future funds would come from for the proposed conservation fund and why the proposed amount was $100,000, which she said was not enough to do much with.

Plasko said that the amount reflected the $140,000 or so that had been identified as possibly available. He also said that the conservation fund would be limited to donated gifts from citizens or Town Meeting appropriations and would merely be a starting point.

The idea behind the fund, Plasko said, allows the Conservation Commission to move quickly in purchasing land without waiting for Town Meeting, but is still bound to approval from the Selectmen.

Plasko also suggested that the Board support funding the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, proposed under Article Six, with $375,000 from the "free cash" budget. This fund would also be limited to Town Meeting appropriations and donations.

Plasko said that the amount was based on the $350,000 cost estimate for a property purchase that could likely meet affordable housing standards, which need to be counted towards the 1.5 percent quota.

Chairman Michael Lyons clarified that some citizens had suggested a broad article giving the Selectmen power to purchase land, but "nobody wants the Board of Selectmen to have that sort of vague authority."

The articles for Town Meeting should satisfy that sentiment brought forth by some Town Meeting members to provide ways to quickly acquire land to fulfill the affordable housing quota, Lyons said.

Donohue questioned whether these articles would be taking power away from Town Meeting. Plasko said that Town Meeting would ultimately vote on whether to approve the articles and empower the bodies mentioned in the articles to take such actions.

Both motions to support the proposed funding passed, with Donohue representing the lone nay vote for each.

The Selectmen also discussed the screening committee that will narrow down candidates to replace retiring Town Clerk and Accountant Robert Thornton.

Donohue suggested that the committee - which would include a Selectman, the Human Resources Director, the Town Treasurer, the General Manager, and a Finance Commission member - also include two citizens or Town Meeting members.

"As far as citizens on the search committee, we are the elected representatives of the citizens, it's a professional job, it's our job to make these decisions, that's why people put us in office," Lyons said.

The Board discussed adding an additional Selectman and Finance Commission member, but kept the original roster. Howard will represent the Selectmen on the committee.

BEH's request for an FBO permit was tabled during a June 2014 Norwood Airport Commission meeting.

The complaint alleges that these actions were taken specifically to prevent BEH from becoming an FBO, which the Airport Commission firmly denies in its mandated response to the Part 13 Complaint. The response asks that the FAA "take no action" against the airport.

"We are awaiting their decision on it. They are very thorough in their investigations so it will take time," Ryan said. "We're looking forward to it coming to a close and we're confident in our position on that."

The Commission has been provisionally extending BEH's 2014 commercial permit during its meetings to allow current BEH operations to continue. This is done instead of approving the tabled request for a 2015 commercial permit, which includes BEH's tabled FBO plans.

Election Musings...

There is much to be hopeful for from election results yesterday. There is a clear indication, both locally and at the state and national levels, that the people have had enough. The working people of this country were tired of having their pockets picked by those whose only motivation was to continue to feed off the public trough, demonstrated in the voting booths.

Locally, home grown incumbent John Rogers did win reelection, but by a surprisingly slim margin. Just six out of every ten people cast their vote for Honest John. Here is a guy able to secure what will amount to $6-10 million to build a skating rink in a town that is already surrounded by skating rinks, at the same time children were dying because of a lack of funds to properly staff state social service agencies like DCF, and he wins by such a narrow margin? Think about that during the back slaps at the ground breaking in South Norwood.

The guess at this address is that this irony wasn't lost on a lot of residents when they circled that little oval next to Tim Hempton's name. And Hempton deserves a lot of credit for a race well run. He worked hard, didn't duck for cover when asked to debate like his opponent did, taking on what appeared to be an insurmountable task of trying to unseat a long time incumbent. Here's hoping he continues in public service and that his guts and faith in the system is an inspiration to others.

At the state level, even the union-backed political machine couldn't carry Martha Coakley over the top, though it was close. Coakley's tasteless decision to not address her staff and well wishers at her election night party was reminiscent of John Kerry's lack of character at his own party ten years ago when he lost his presidential bid. Even if she just came out on stage and confirmed she would wait until all the votes were counted and thanked those in attendance would have demonstrated she respected those who committed their hearts and souls to her campaign. But no, she again chose the easy way out, going home to bed instead of nobly facing her public. Her qualifications didn't lose her the election, her character did, which is a trait becoming more and more important to the people of Massachusetts.

So, the good news for entertainment and thrill seekers is that there will soon be a casino near you now that Question 3 failed to pass; the bad news is there won't be nearly as many bottles to redeem once you blow your kid's college fund, thanks to the failed Question 2. And hourly employees will now receive earned sick time, though there will be far less of them, since businesses will reduce the number of said employees to get below the state defined minimums. And it should cost less to fill your car at the pump, as long as the state legislature decides not to ignore the will of the people like they did when voters called for a reduction in the state's sales tax. However, the guess here is that given the current political climate, state pols are probably going to be less inclined in the future to question the intelligence of the electorate. Just ask Flaherty, Finneran, DiMasi and the recently unindicted co-conspirator DeLeo how that's working out for them.

The Norwood Record Task Force continued from page 1

Since acquiring another year of temporary safe harbor status from these projects by allowing the Upland Woods 40B project to move forward, the town has opted to pursue achieving permanent safe harbor through the 1.5 percent formula.

After some discussion of transparency to the public, David Hajjar was voted chairman of the 1.5 percent Task Force and Town Planner Paul Halkiotis was elected vice chair.

Also in attendance were Brian Hardiman, Bill Plasko, Cheryl Rogers, and John Hall. Assistant town engineer Andy Murphy was absent. Attorney Karis North, counsel for the town, was present in an advisory role.

Halkiotis introduced a suggested meeting format, saying that members should maintain a "calm, business-like manner," as disagreements were bound to happen.

"The Affordable Housing issue is a controversial issue for every town. We're not any different. And people are passionate about this issue," Halkiotis said.

Attorney North warned members that emails and other serial communications resulting in an accidental quorum could put them at risk of violating open meeting law. She also said that open meeting laws allow for discussions regarding specific parcels of land to be held in executive session.

"I know the public doesn't like it when we ask them to leave and we close the door, but when it comes to real estate deals, they're best handled kind of behind closed doors," Halkiotis said of the need for executive session. "Asking prices (for property) change when somebody knows that the town's deep pockets want to buy the land."

Hall agreed, saying that even just identifying properties of interest could generate an "immediate ripple effect on price."

Plasko said he believed they would only be identifying land and questioned whether that would be eligible for an executive session. He said that committees tend not to be good negotiators, meaning that task is better left to one or two people.

The meeting agenda also included a time for public questions and comments. According to Halkiotis, this would ensure that the committee could work without being interrupted, while allowing for citizen input in a controlled manner at the end of each meeting.

Hardiman suggested that the task force use a report done by Murphy outlining the town's current standing in regards to reaching the 1.5 percent as a "threshold" to work from. This report, coupled with an acquisition of land that could happen with Special Town Meeting authorization, Hardiman said, puts the town at two-hundredths over the 1.5 percent.

Attorney North said that, in the case of a margin of error that slim, the narrow total was no guarantee if challenged in court.

Plasko said that Murphy's report does not include some land that the town identified as counting towards the 1.5 percent after the report was filed, and said that the formula itself could change daily. There was also an issue of around three acres of City of Boston land in Norwood that could potentially become available, Plasko said.

Halkiotis said that the safest way to ensure the town has reached its quota is to "acquire as much land as we can or create as many affordable units as we can."

Hajjar agreed, saying that he believed the task force should use Murphy's report and that the 1.5 percent formula should be something all members understand.

"I think we all need to have same understanding of what constitutes numerator and what constitutes the denominator," Hajjar said. "So that when we go forward with any piece of property, we know which it's going to fit in."

During the meeting, Plasko also summarized four articles surrounding land acquisition that he suggested for the upcoming special Town Meeting.

These articles, he said, were designed to provide multiple avenues for the town to quickly be able to acquire the properties without being hampered by uniform acquisition laws or waiting for Town Meeting.

Article 4 proposed setting up a Conservation Fund, which is authorized under the same law that allows for a Conservation Commission.

"(The) big thing that this does, is try to give us ... a tool to be able to purchase some of these properties ... (that are) already in our open spaces, recreation plan ... without having to go back to Town Meeting," Plasko said.

Article 5 included the purchase of property on Nichols Street by Ellis Pond. The wooded area abuts conservation land, Plasko said, and would go to the Conservation Commission, where it could be counted on the denominator side of the 1.5 percent equation.

The property could be purchased with a Conservation Fund, Plasko said, but it was made a separate article in case Town Meeting does not accept Article 4 or does not adequately fund it.

Article 6 is in regards to cre-

Liam's LEEP race has residents running for a cause

They may only be walking or running, but the fifth annual Miles For Liam 5K walk/run event on Sunday, Oct. 26 was really an attack on the heartbreaking and devastating disease, Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy.

Beginning and ending at the Willett School, the event draws hundreds of participants each year. This year, the race was Halloween-themed. Casey Geary, of Norwood, won the race with a time of 21:53.

The race was a testimonial of the support the community feels for one of its own.

Liam McGourty is a 7-year-old student at the Cleveland School in Norwood. His mother, Kristen, says that even though Liam is repeating the first grade - not uncommon for boys with Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy (DMD), she said - the family has chosen to emphasize what is good in their lives, as best as they can.

Speaking from Philadelphia where Liam is enrolled in a double-blinded study for the drug Tadalafil, McGourty said that the foundation that organizes the run, and provides support and information, deliberately chose the name Liam's LEEP.

"For us," she said. "LEEP stands for living, enjoying, experiencing and preparing for life, and we do this 5K race every fall and have about 200 people join us."

And it's not just friends and family who show up.

Liam is an honorary member of the Northeastern University baseball team through Team Impact, which matches children with life-threatening diseases with college sports teams. And again this year, the Northeastern team showed up for the run. Max Burt, of Northeastern University, came in third place.

Proceeds from the race went to help the Pediatric Neuromuscular clinic at Massachusetts General Hospital. Some of the proceeds, Kristen McGourty said, are also used to send three boys to Muscular Dystrophy Association camp, which costs about $800 per week.

Funds were raised through registration fees and tickets. The event cost $20, and with a food ticket, the total was $25. A food ticket alone was $10, and kids aged 12 and under ate for free. Families paid the family fee of $50 for entry.

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO GET MOVING

Not only does exercise improve the health and well-being of younger individuals, it also has been linked to better health in those over the age of 65. While many studies indicate that exercise improves the muscle strength, aerobic capacity, and blood pressure levels of people in their seventies and eighties, new research shows that it is never too late to reap exercise's benefits. When researchers conducted a study involving 1,635 people between the ages of 70 and 89 who were largely sedentary and borderline frail, they found that taking up exercise and stretching led exercisers to be 18% less likely to experience "major mobility disability" in succeeding years. Chiropractic is dedicated to improving joint function and flexibility needed for regular exercise.

What many people don't know is that you don't have to be injured to benefit from chiropractic care. We can tell you about simple exercises for increasing the strength and flexibility of your body, regardless of age. Our goal is to help you develop a new identity of yourself as being healthy and moving forward. Please call us to schedule an appointment. By helping you stay well adjusted with the proper maintenance, chiropractic care can help prevent future injury. We offer both chiropractic care and physical therapy. All major insurance is accepted.

P.S. Painful, stiff joints should not prevent you from exercising and doing the things you enjoy at any age. Chiropractic treatment can give you a renewed sense of freedom.

A mismatched Balch takes on bullying

Sam Nickerson
Staff Reporter

If you looked down at the feet of many students and faculty at the Balch Elementary School on Oct. 24, you might have noticed something a little funny: they were wearing mismatched socks. But it wasn't because they got dressed in the dark that morning. The Balch School community was raising awareness about anti-bullying efforts.

The idea came from Girl Scout leader and Balch School mom Kristen Serratore, who had received an email through the Girl Scouts saying that Friday, Oct. 24 had been declared anti-bullying day.

Serratore liked the idea so much she shared it with the PTO board and Balch principal Jean Selines. A notice was then sent home to parents, asking them to have their children participate in the event and explain why they were doing it.

"Bullying is a big problem in all schools, but if we can do little fun events like this, it will help spread the word that we are against it," Serratore said.

Similar events are taking place at schools and scout troops across the country, as October has officially been named National Bullying Prevention Month since 2006 through the efforts of PACER's National Bullying Prevention Center.

For the past few years, schools, organizations, and businesses have participated in the Million Misfit Sock March. The march began in 2011 as a family's holiday tradition and in 2012 grew into a movement to celebrate difference. The Girl Scouts have been vocal supporters of the event since.

While there was no word on how connected mismatched sock day at the Balch School was to the national events, nearly the entire Balch community was sporting mismatched socks.

"We had boys and girls today, we had everybody mismatch, teachers, nurses," said Balch mom Sarah Inzodda. "We just wanted to draw attention to it to make sure we're always talking about it. We asked in our notice home that parents explain the reason for the mismatched socks."

Inzodda's daughter, fourth grader Alexandra Inzodda, even purchased a pair of intentionally mismatched socks at the mall just for the event.

The idea of celebrating differences and raising awareness about anti-bullying resonated with many other parents in the Balch School Community.

Balch Elementary School students proudly showed off their mismatched socks, worn on Oct. 24, to show their support for anti-bullying efforts.

"If all kids participated, it's not making another person stand out if everybody's doing it," said Cara, who has children in kindergarten and second grade. "It's okay to look different."

"I think it's great that they do all different things like this, it brings the kids together," said Rosa, whose son is in second grade.

Many Balch parents, including Inzodda and Rosa, feel that Norwood does a good job of handling issues like bullying with the children.

Rosa recalled a time she witnessed an incident of bullying as a lunch mom that was expertly handled by a teacher, and said there had been other examples as well.

"In my experience, yes (they do)," Inzodda said when asked if Norwood Schools does a good job dealing with bullying issues.

There are a number of resources related to bullying posted on the Norwood Public Schools website. The resources include links to anti-bullying laws, the School Department's bullying prevention plan, and ways to recognize signs of bullying.

"The Norwood Public Schools (NPS) in partnership with parents, guardians, and the community and in keeping with the NPS mission believes that students have the right to learn in a safe and nurturing environment, a community thrives when individuals contribute to the well being of others, and integrity, respect, and cooperation are essential in building trusting relationships," a statement on the Norwood Schools website reads. "Bullying and harassment are major distractions from learning and compromise a school's ability to educate its students to their greatest potential."

The website also clearly outlines how bullying incidents can be reported.

"The Norwood Public Schools administration strongly encourages anyone who sees or hears about a bullying/cyber-bullying incident to contact a school administrator personally and immediately as a way to help resolve any harmful situations as early as possible," the website reads. "It is important to act right away."

At the elementary school level, for example, family members are encouraged to contact the principal, adjust-

Anti-bullying efforts such as mismatched sock day may have a very real effect on the health of students, as researchers say that bullying and poor health are linked.

According to a 2013 study done by the Boston Children's Hospital that kept track of 4,300 school children for five years, around 30 percent had experienced bullying during that time period, and many of those who were regularly bullied experienced worse mental health, expressing symptoms of depression and low self worth. The study was accepted by the journal Pediatrics in December 2013.

While any form of muscular dystrophy can be traumatic, DMD primarily attacks the very young, can begin as early as 3 years old, and typically attacks boys.

But recent strides in medicine have been made that could extend the life expectancy of those with DMD into their 30s and 40s.

Liam's LEEP contributes to The Duchenne Alliance, which pools resources of smaller groups like Liam's to help, as Mrs. McGurty said, "make a difference in world research."

For more information about The Duchenne Alliance, visit the website duchennealliance.org.

Tadalafil, which is used in Liam's current treatment, is actually Cialis, a drug typically used to treat Erectile Dysfunction. The drug will hopefully increase the blood flow to Liam's muscles, which could eventually increase his ability to walk.

The hope is also that it will protect Liam's heart from cardio myopathy, which can be lethal for boys and young males in their 20s.

When Liam's LEEP is not hosting the Miles for Liam 5K, they run a Liam's Night on alternate years, which Kristen McGourty said includes food, fun and a silent auction.

The group posts information and specific details about Liam and the event on its Facebook page, Liam's L.E.E.P., and welcomes everyone who wants to run or walk for a cause.

paled on stakes, and a number of ghouls and monsters climbing from the hedges.

When it comes to readying their home for the spookiest evening of the year, Ron and Sue Marshalsea are experts.

This Halloween, they upped the ante even more by hosting a Haunted Driveway throughout the evening, allowing trick-or-treaters to test their bravery in the dark passageways of the Haunted Driveway.

"The front of the house, we do that every year. We've been doing that for a long time," said Ron Marshalsea, who was dressed as gorilla, while Sue donned a scary mask of her own. "The Haunted Driveway though, this is the first year we've done it."

As it turned out, the thrills and chills promised at the Haunted Driveway all came in exchange for supporting a good cause.

Admission to the Haunted Driveway was at least one canned good, to be donated to the Norwood Food Pantry. Ron said the idea was inspired by Sue's late sister, who had spent a lot of time helping out at the food pantry in her life.

"That's where the idea came from to have the donated canned goods to gain entry into the haunted house. You didn't have to, but a lot of people surprised us," Ron said. "We got bags and bags of food to donate, so I think it worked out well in the end ... People left cash donations, about $63 in total."

The Marshalseas accommodated everyone from the youngest trick-or-treaters to the most daring thrill seekers in their Haunted Driveway. From 4:30-5:30 p.m., the Haunted Driveway was more "friendly" and geared towards a younger audience, but from 6 p.m. onward, it became "scary," for older children and adults looking for a more frightening experience.

"We had all the animated stuff, figures that move, that talk, jump out at you ... the biggest difference was that there were live bodies in there for the scary part," Ron said.

Ron estimated that around 400 guests, some in costumes just as scary as the haunted driveway, passed through the Haunted Driveway over the course of the evening. Countless drivers, stopped at the intersection of Walpole Street and Walnut Avenue, took photographs of the spectacle.

Ron also said that the Haunted Driveway wouldn't have been such a success if it weren't for the help of friends and neighbors. He named Annmarie Rigby, Jennifer Jenks, Mark Gordon and high school freshman Ryan Garzinski.

"Ryan's just a young kid who came down the street and volunteered to help. And I said, 'sure you can help,'" Ron said. "He went home, got a mask and stayed for most of the night. He did a real good job."

Ron said that everyone was already talking about putting on the Haunted Driveway again next year. He said they would maybe add another carport to make the Haunted Driveway even bigger and even longer than it was this time.

"It was a great turnout and I know people enjoyed it ... It turned out a lot better than expected," Ron said. "Now the hard part is taking everything down."

Norwood Field Hockey advances in state tournament

Senior Sammy Hayes has been instrumental in Norwood's success this season. The Mustangs advanced to the Division II south sectional semifinals after a 5-2 win over Mansfield.

Staff Reporter

The Norwood Mustangs field hockey team is bound for the semi-finals of the Division II south sectional after knocking off Mansfield, 5-2, on Monday.

Kacie Smith had a hat trick for Norwood, giving her five goals total through two playoff games, and Sammy Hayes and Maura O'Neill chipped in one apiece for the Mustangs, who face off against Oliver Ames next.

"The tournament is all about mental toughness," said head coach Allison Doliner after the game. "Once they work themselves through that, they're a pretty great bunch. They work hard, and they dig deep. You can't really ask for much more."

Norwood, the 3-seed in the south sectional, has now advanced exactly one round further in the playoffs than the previous season for the fourth consecutive year. They've gone from the preliminaries in 2011 to the first round in 2012, to the quarterfinals last year, to (at least) the semi-finals this year.

Much like their win over Hopkinton, the Mustangs spent much of the first half feeling out their opponent in Mansfield (14-4-2), the winner of the Kelley-Rex Division of the Hockomock League in the regular season. Play was scoreless until Hayes's first tally of the post-season with 7:39 left in the first half, followed less than two minutes later by Smith's first goal of the afternoon. Norwood led 2-0 at half, in no small part due to some outstanding goaltending from Beth Tobio.

"It was good that we got the first goal because we started slow a little bit, but once we got the goal, it gave us a lot of potential," said Hayes. "All the girls work really well together."

The Mustangs extended their lead to 3-0 just 3 minutes, 40 seconds into the second half when Smith took a penalty stroke after a Hornet defender played the ball with a high stick off a corner from inside the circle. Smith buried her shot top-left, out of the reach of the Mansfield goalie.

Brenna Murphy scored for the Hornets at the 23:32 mark to make it 3-1, but her team could get no closer than the two-goal deficit the remainder of the afternoon. Smith completed her hat trick with 18:54 left in the contest to make it 4-1, and it was too little, too late when Julia Todesco scored for Mansfield with 2:34 left, cutting it back to 4-2. O'Neill's goal with 59 seconds remaining was the exclamation point on Norwood's victory.

Looking ahead, the Oliver Ames matchup is an intriguing one for Norwood. Like Mansfield, the Tigers are division winners in the Hockomock League, winning the league's Davenport Division.

Though the Tigers (15-0-3) are seeded higher (2) in the south sectional than the Mustangs (3), they received a lower ranking in the most recent Boston Globe Top 20 poll than Norwood (No. 8 for Norwood vs. No. 11 for Oliver Ames). The Mustangs averaged 4.1 goals per game in the regular season, compared with 2.3 for the Tigers. OA gave up a miniscule 0.3 goals per contest, while Norwood allowed a still-respectable 1.4. The teams did not face each other in the regular season.

Thus far in the tournament, Oliver Ames has defeated New Bedford, 1-0, in the first round, and beat Canton, 2-1, in the quarterfinals. Compare that with Norwood's 3-1 and 5-2 victories, and it appears a clash in styles is brewing.

The trip to the semi-finals is also somewhat of a breakthrough for Oliver Ames, having been knocked out in the quarterfinals each of the last two seasons.

The game was played yesterday after the Record's deadline, at Oliver Ames High School in Easton. Should Norwood win the matchup, the south sectional final will be on Saturday at Taunton High School, with the time still to be determined. # Football team victorious for second straight week

Norwood Quarterback Jake Vail prepares to take a snap during Norwood's victory over North Quincy. After going winless through their first six games, the Mustangs have won two in a row.

The Mustangs' football team continues to trend in the right direction after a 23-7 victory over the North Quincy Red Raiders on Saturday.

Winners of back-to-back games after a 0-6 start to the season, Norwood used a relentless rushing attack for the second week in a row to take down North Quincy. The Mustangs had 195 yards on the ground, a week after rushing for 262 against Brookline. Brian Wright eclipsed the 100-yard mark for the second straight game, carrying the ball 21 times for 101 yards and two touchdowns. Zach Pungitore had nine carries for 54 yards, while Joe Mazzotta had 12 carries for 40 yards and a score.

"Brian Wright was just a beast," said head coach Jim Tighe following the game. "He ran like a man possessed.

He's worked hard all week, and it paid off."

Tighe also said the Mustangs had a good week of practice, describing it as "physical."

Norwood has put up 66 points over the last two weeks, more than they scored during their six-game losing streak (44) combined.

"We got a little bit of momentum," said Tighe. "And, we got down early today, and the kids, it's not bothering them as much as it did."

Norwood's defense had arguably its best performance of the season, too, limiting the Red Raiders to just 124 yards of total offense. North Quincy quarterback Andrew Kiley didn't have a completion until the fourth quarter and threw two interceptions, the first of which came on Kiley's first drop back of the game, a third-and-7 pass that was tipped by Pungitore and caught by Mazzotta.

The Red Raiders did strike first, however, in the waning seconds of the first quarter after Norwood failed to score on its first two possessions. Tailback Dayvon Jones ran into the end zone from 14 yards out to give North Quincy a 7-0 lead.

The Mustangs responded with a 16-play, 82-yard scoring drive that took 7 minutes and 54 seconds, and included two fourth down conversions. Mazzotta capped the drive off on fourth-and-inches at the goal line with a burst up the middle. Norwood went for two and converted on a double reverse pass from Joe Leanos to Mazzotta and took an 8-7 lead into the half.

Girls Volleyball season ends with loss to New Bedford

Head coach praises his team for their resilience

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

The Norwood Mustangs girls volleyball team bowed out in the opening round of the Division II south sectional last Thursday, ending their season.

Despite a losing record overall, Norwood had a 4-2 record within their division, thus qualifying for the sectional tournament. But a 3-0 loss to the No. 4 seed Greater New Bedford Bears (17-2) ended the No. 13 seed Mustangs' season at 5-16, a campaign which head coach Paul Nimblett described as "overcoming."

"Overcoming," Nimblett said when asked to sum up the 2014 season in one word. "Overcoming adversity, and growing in the process of overcoming injuries and realizing injuries can happen.

"It was a rollercoaster ride of a season. Ups and downs, but we never gave up on the goal of making the tournament and our girls represented our school and town well against a good team in Greater New Bedford."

The injuries Nimblett referred to are the torn ACL suffered by senior captain Amanda Springer early in the season, and a concussion sustained by junior Emily Flavin. Though Flavin ultimately returned, Springer was ruled out for the season. Nimblett praised Springer's leadership post-injury, saying she was still there to support her team over the course of the season.

The match vs. Greater New Bedford had several bright spots for the Mustangs, despite the outcome. Krista Bradley had a season-high five blocks for Norwood, while Lauren Butts and Katie O'Donnell had five service points apiece. O'Donnell finished the season with 95 percent serve accuracy to lead the team.

"We learned many lessons this season," surmised Nimblett. "To develop mental toughness, and to never count yourself out in a match, even down 0-2."

Nimblett dished out praise to several Mustang players for their contributions on the season. He said that Shakirah Sebyala was a great addition to the team, keeping the team in matches with her great defense. He pointed out Erin Kelly's emergence towards the end of the season, making big plays down the stretch, and described Sabrina Tarara as a "weapon," in terms of her hitting and serving.

Youngsters Meghan Reen and Ally Copponi were also key, Nimblett said, with Reen's athleticism allowing her to play multiple positions, and Copponi adapting well to her first year at the varsity level.

"We were young in many areas," Nimblett said, "but the experience of these young girls bodes well for the future."

The girls volleyball team ended with a loss in the preliminaries, but coach Paul Nimblett said his team overcame great adversity throughout the year.

Mustangs defeat Hopkinton in opening playoff game

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

The scoreboard says the Norwood Mustangs field hockey team only beat Hopkinton in the first round of the Division I south sectional, but really, the Mustangs defeated two opponents on Saturday: the Hillers and the elements.

Heavy wind and rain, combined with 46 degree temperatures, made for a nasty day in 3rd seeded Norwood's 3-1 victory over the 19th seeded Hillers, who earned their way into the match by beating Notre Dame Academy (Hingham) 1-0 in the preliminary round. That game was decided in penalty strokes after neither 60 minutes of regulation nor two 15-minute overtime periods yielded a score.

Senior captain Kacie Smith, who was named the Bay State Conference's Most Valuable Player after leading the league in scoring during the regular season, had two goals for the Mustangs. Fellow captain Lisa Moynihan, a defender who's not used to scoring goals, also netted one for Norwood.

"As a senior captain, her first goal ever," noted head coach Allison Doliner. "We've been telling her to just be confident and take it until they play you, and she finally did that today and good things happened."

"She's wanted a goal really bad the last two seasons, and she finally got one," added Doliner.

Moynihan's unlikely goal wound up being pivotal for the Mustangs, as it broke a scoreless tie with just 2:20 left in the first half. It ended a scoreless stretch of 117 minutes, 40 seconds for Hopkinton to begin the playoffs.

"It's always a relief when you finally get the goal," said Doliner of her team weathering the storm-literally-in the first half. "It can be frustrating, having all those opportunities and not scoring. You can take that and go one of two ways: you can play frustrated, or play determined. And they definitely played determined today."

Smith scored her first goal just 1 minute, 26 seconds into the second half, an absolute rocket of a shot at the end of a run she began from across midfield. Hopkinton pulled within one on a goal from Stephanie Puig with 21:09 to go in the game, but Smith beat Hillers goaltender Sara Freedman with 18:35 left to re-establish a two goal advantage that would hold for the final.

"We've just improved so much in terms of being on the turf, which is great," said Doliner of her team's performance. "The passing looked great today, and the overall intensity. We got a good 60 minutes out of the girls. That's one of the things I ask them to do before every game, is give me 60 minutes. And they did that today."

the ball once each to begin the second half, Norwood extended its lead on the first play of the fourth quarter on a 1-yard touchdown run by Wright, who also ran it in on the following two-point conversion to make it

North Quincy would hang around a bit longer, picking off Norwood QB Jake Vail (4-13, 40 yards) with 6:03 left in the game, but Kiley gave the ball right back to the Mustangs with his second interception of the afternoon. It was another tipped ball, batted initially by Eric Sullivan and caught by Sean Mellen to all but seal the game for Norwood. Wright made it official with an 8-yard touchdown run with 2:31 to go.

Norwood will look to stay hot this Friday in Hingham, facing a Harbormen team out of the Patriot League that's moving in the wrong direction. Hingham is 1-7 on the season and has lost five consecutive games by an average of 24.8 points per contest, most recently to Norwood's fellow Bay State Conference rival Milton, 34-12. The game is scheduled for a 6 p.m. kickoff at Hingham High School.

DON'T THROW YOUR PUMPKINS IN THE TRASH

In an effort to reduce trash costs, DPW is asking residents to NOT throw pumpkins in the trash, but rather divert pumpkins for COMPOSTING. Pumpkins are an organic waste (relating to or derived from living matter) and can be composted either by placing in brown leaf bags for weekly curbside pickup or place in backyard composter or dropped off at the Winter Street Composting Site. IT'S SIMPLE! 1. Remove candles and ALL decorations. 2. Slice up pumpkins (accelerates decomposition). 3. Decide how you want to compost your pumpkins: BROWN LEAF BAGS — distribute sliced up pumpkins as evenly as possible into brown leaf bags. Leaf bags can be purchased at grocery stores, Home Depot, etc. DPW picks up leaf bags curbside once a week on your regular trash day. BACKYARD COMPOSTER — dig a hole in the middle of your compost and bury sliced up pumpkins, then cover up with compost/soil. Backyard composters can be purchased through Board of Health 781.762.1240 x174. DROP OFF at Winter Street Compost Site. Place sliced up pumpkins in a plastic pail and empty in designated leaf piles at the compost Site. See DPW Attendant. Do not leave buckets or plastic bags behind. Open Saturdays only. Residential sticker required to use Winter Street Compost Site. Call DPW at 781.762.1413 for more information. DPW thanks you for diverting your pumpkins for composting. free Sunday concert on Sunday, Nov. 16 at 3 p.m. This final concert of the season will be a solo cello recital by Cashman Kerr Prince. HELPLIGHT UP THE CIRCLE OF HOPE

The Norwood Circle of Hope Foundation invites you to help light up the Circle of Hope by purchasing a luminary to be lit on Saturday evening, Dec. 6 on the Town Common. Continuing a Norwood tradition begun 14 years ago, the members of the Circle of Hope Foundation call the luminaries a symbol of Life, Hope, the Season, and Remembrance of others. Last year more than 1,800 luminaries were lit on the town common. Luminaries can be purchased for $5 each from any Foundation board member, by calling 781.762.3549, or by mailing your check and messages to The Circle of Hope Foundation, 24 Myrtle St., Norwood MA 02062. The purchaser can designate a short message of life, hope, the season or remembrance to be written on their luminary. The candles will be lit beginning at 5 p.m. and the Foundation members hope that residents and friends will come out and be a part of the evening's events, which include the luminaries, music, entertainment and refreshments.

Again this year the Norwood Circle of Hope Foundation is teaming with the Norwood Theatre to bring the original holiday classic, Miracle on 34th Street, on the big screen at the beautiful Norwood Theatre on Saturday, Dec. 6, 2014 at 3:30 p.m. Starring Natalie Wood, this movie tells the story of a young girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus but has her beliefs and those of her mother challenged when a stranger named Kris fills in for a misbehaving Santa at the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. Kris quickly becomes a favorite with nearly everyone he meets helping to restore the Christmas spirit to believers and non-believers alike. The movie will let out just as the luminaries are lit on the common welcoming theater-goers to a sparkling site on the town common. All proceeds from the 3:30 ating an affordable housing trust fund, which would promote developing affordable housing in Norwood. A board of trustees would oversee the fund and purchases could be made without first waiting for Town Meeting.

Plasko also mentioned a seventh article, which would appropriate money to general government under the suggestion that the Board of Selectmen and the town purchase property.

The task force then identified a timeline they would work towards and delegated tasks for the next meeting.

Halkiotis said that the task force should be ready with all of its proposed avenues for acquiring land via donation or purchase to go towards the 1.5 percent by the annual Town Meeting, meaning they would need to be ready in March or April to have articles accepted before the deadline.

This way, the time between the annual Town Meeting and the expiration of Norwood's temporary safe harbor status in September 2015 could be used to enact the articles and go about acquiring the land.

Hajjar then delegated Hall and Murphy to consult Murphy's report and work on a spreadsheet and database to keep track of attractive parcels of land. Hardiman and Rogers were to identify criteria for prioritizing properties. Properties already being looked at will also be discussed at the next meeting.

The 1.5 percent Task Force's next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 13 at 6 p.m.
