Carroll's reception draws an appreciative and casual crowd

On Thursday afternoon, Dec. 14, a public reception was held for retiring Town Manager John Carroll in Town Hall's Memorial Hall.

It was attended by a steady stream of visitors who stopped by to offer their best wishes to Carroll on this, his penultimate day on the job after just over 39 years of service, and to linger while chatting with the guest of honor and each other.

The reception wasn't so much in Memorial Hall as in its vestibule, where the Town Manager took his seat on the bench under the window facing Washington Street and St. Catherine's Church to receive guests and to hold court.

Unlike his retirement party a few weeks earlier, there were no formal speeches and remarks made. Rather, the appreciation shown was in quiet, individual conversations with Carroll as visitors took turns sitting next to him to enjoy private conversations.

As more people arrived from both within Town Hall and from outside, the crowd expanded into Memorial Hall and into the main building's lobby.

Many of Carroll's visitors were

School Committee focuses on modernizing through Chromebooks

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The School Committee met on Wednesday evening, Dec. 13, at the Savage Educational Center. The main item on its agenda was an appearance by Director of Technology Joe Kidd regarding his recommendations to the Committee concerning capital outlay in his department.

In starting off the spending request portion of his appearance, Kidd notified the Committee that an infrastructure grant (a digital connections grant) had been approved the week before in which the state pays 100 percent of the cost, which Kidd estimated would amount to around $120,000.

This grant allows a recipient district to update its wireless infrastructure provided it puts more technological learning devices into students' hands.

To assist with this, the state adds what it calls a 50 percent "accelerator" to the amount of the project. So, for the $120,000 amount being used as a placeholder, half of that ($60,000) added to the original amount would bring the total amount up to $180,000.

Of that amount – as Kidd explained – half ($90,000) would need to be paid out of the school budget for learning technology to go to students. This would

Selectmen approve Forbes Hill borrowing plan

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The Board of Selectmen gathered on Tuesday evening in the Harry B. Butters Room (Rm. 34) of Town Hall for its last meeting of 2017, which lasted about an hour, with the first 30 minutes of it spent in executive session regarding the Forbes Hill land purchase.

When the meeting opened, the second item of new business was Treasurer Mark Good's submission – for the Board's signatures – of closing documents pertaining to borrowing for the land purchase, some of the details of which Good requested to be read into the minutes, which Chair William Plasko did.

The first part of the submission requested that the Board approve the sale of $15,763,400 in general obligation bond anticipation notes dated Dec. 21, 2017 and payable Dec. 20, 2018.

The total amount is broken down into three subcategories, with $5 million ($42,481.67 premium) at 2.25 percent interest to Eastern Bank; $4 million ($42,240 premium) at 2.5 percent interest to TD Securities USA, LLC; and $6,763,400 ($70,340.06) at 2.5 percent interest to Jefferies, LLC.

The motion to sign was approved unanimously.

The second part of Good's submission requested the Board's approval and signatures of closing documents in connection with an interim loan with the Massachusetts Clean Water Trust.

The motion to sign was also approved unanimously.

The meeting also marked another visible sign of the changing of the guard in the Town Manager's Office, as Tony Mazzucco for the first time officially took his seat at the end of the Selectmen's table, with Assistant Town Manager Bernie Cooper also present to provide him with help, as needed.

The meeting was reopened at 7:30 p.m. with a public hearing regarding the application by Broadway Pizza and Grill (75 Cottage St. East) for a CV (common victualler) license.

After the Board had posed a few basic questions to applicant Petros Vasiladis and then opened the floor to the public for questions and comment – of which there were none – the hearing was closed and the motion to approve was approved unanimously.

The second and last public hearing of the evening went similarly, with Jam Time – to be located at Nahatan Place (111 Lenox St.) – also applying for a CV license.

The business – an indoor playground/enrichment center for children and toddlers – has two other locations in Maynard and Natick and has been in operation for seven years.

The plan with the CV license – according to owner Malcolm Sim – would be to offer “coffee, a lot of pre-packaged foods, granola bars, that have to be spent within 18 months.

However, the state would also reimburse the $90,000, although Kidd wasn't certain of when.

"So, in the end, if you're working on the $120,000 price tag, we end up getting $210,000 worth of technology for no cost to us at all."

He also spelled out that – because the spending clock wouldn't start until the completion of construction (estimated to be in late summer of 2018) – the $90,000 could be spread over fiscal year 2019 and fiscal year 2020.

As Kidd made his way through his technological priority spending list and arrived at the cost of – in fact – getting that technology (in the form of Chromebooks) to students, the conversation focused on exactly how far behind Norwood was – in these terms – to other comparable towns.

"How many districts have a Chromebook for each student?" Michele Eysie Mullen asked.

"I would say that we might be the only one or two tech districts that do not have a one-to-one program in some fashion," while generally acknowledging that the Town was lagging behind.

Mullen continued. "I think the public needed to know, as well, that we are behind, and none of us want to be behind, we want to be way ahead."

Further discussion was had about the learning and testing disadvantages presented to students without current technology. Kidd brought up the direction that the MCAS is taking.

"Reality is that this year we are forced to test two grades in each elementary school, and we are testing all three grades in the Middle School on Chromebooks. And if they're not using them on a regular basis, then they're absolutely at a disadvantage when they go to take the test."

Maura Smith commented on the technology in question.

"I just want to be clear, Chromebooks are workhorse computers. These are not like, 'Oh, we're gonna get them the iPad Pro with the stylus. This is a computer that's built for work."

The Chromebook in the target zone costs – according to Kidd – around $225 with the possibility of being marked down towards $200.

Other items that came up on Kidd's priority list included changes to the server/storage infrastructure, language labs, and lap tops for elementary school teachers.

Director of Buildings and Grounds Paul Riccardi – before the Board with Kidd on behalf of his own outlay requests (two sit down lawn mowers and money for tile replacement at the Oldham) – asked to speak before the Committee voted on the Technology Director's recommendations.

He recommended that the Committee try to get all of the money that Kidd was requesting: approximately $600,000 when deducting the grant.

"I would just say that this is the cost of education in the 21st century and you've got to stay fresh."

He also brought up the looming financial uncertainty brought about by the Forbes Hill purchase.

"To me, this is the year. Because God knows what that piece of property they bought is going to start costing. So this first two years, they're only paying the interest. So this is the year to shoot for this, I think."

The entire Committee, as well as Superintendent David Thomson, made statements in favor of approving Kidd's recommendation, with Patrick McDonough equating it to an earlier statement by Riccardi regarding money being cleared – without any opposition – for a new DPW truck.

"This is our fire truck. This is our DPW truck. This is it, for us."

The motion to approve Kidd's recommendations to be brought to the Capital Outlay Committee was approved unanimously, with McDonough abstaining.

In new business, representatives from the recently formed Norwood High School Model United Nations (who filled the gallery) appeared before the Committee to ask permission to go to New York City to participate in a model United Nations in the General Assembly of the actual UN.

"What makes this one so amazing is not only is it held at the United Nations," the club's Secretary General Adelene Jeneid said, "our solutions are actually submitted into the United Nations and up for grabs, potentially to change world issues."

After a few questions from the Committee, the field trip was approved unanimously.

The next School Committee is scheduled for Jan. 10 at the Oldham School.

kind of stuff."

The motion was also approved unanimously.

In other new business:

The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities submitted a notice that National Grid has filed a petition for an increase in gas base distribution rates, with the possibility of commenting at public hearing or in writing through Thursday, Feb. 8, 2018.

Allan Howard commented.

"This is fairly substantial, what they're saying for residential heating. They're talking about a possible increase of at least 7 percent, here."

He went on to say that the closest public hearing would be taking place in Quincy on Feb. 6 and that those interested could contact the Selectmen's Office for more information.

"My point is, it is worthy for people to comment if you so choose, because it's a pretty hefty increase that they're seeking here."

After the meeting had adjourned, Mazzucco shared his thoughts on it.

"I think it went pretty well. Not too many big mistakes for the first meeting, and hopefully I'll have more meetings that are as quick as this one."

The Board of Selectmen will not meet for the next two weeks. Its next meeting will be on Jan. 9, 2018.

At 9 a.m. on an overcast and raw Monday morning, John Carroll – whose last day as Norwood General Manager was on Friday, – had the honor of swearing in his successor Tony Mazzucco in a comfortably full Memorial Hall.

The ceremony and its accompanying program were brief, taking about 20 minutes to complete.

It started off with the presentation of the colors by the Norwood Police Department Honor Guard, the Pledge of Allegiance led by Veteran's Director Ted Mulvehill, and then the National Anthem, gracefully sung by Gia Rodriguez, a junior at the High School.

Archpriest Joseph Kimmett of St. George Orthodox Church followed with the Invocation, after which Board of Selectmen Chair William Plasko made some brief welcoming remarks.

It was then that John Carroll stepped to the podium to make some remarks of his own, referring to his own swearing in back in 1978 and a photo that he'd had on his office wall of it, with Selectmen Joe Curran, Marty Lydon, and his wife joining him in the frame.

He also mentioned in his remarks that he wasn't sure who had actually administered the Oath of Office to him that day in the same room as he was about to bookend his long career in the Town.

Mazzucco joined him at the podium as both men held their right hands up and went through the Oath, after which Carroll announced to everyone present, "Welcome to the new Town Manager," as he shook Mazzucco's hand and stepped aside to take a seat next to Plasko as Mazzucco took Carroll's place at the podium and began his brief address.

"They tell me everyone in Norwood likes to tell stories," Mazzucco joked. "That was sort of in the job description: must be able to tell stories."

Mazzucco also shared his interpretation of the number of Town employees with over 20 years of service, noting that "It's a testament that there's something very right in Norwood," and had high praise for the man he had just replaced.

Mazzucco used a favorite Greek proverb – which he paraphrased – to get at this:

"Communities prosper when men and women plant trees under whose shade they know they will never sit," he said.

With this proverb in mind, Mazzucco spoke of his final briefing with Carroll the prior Friday and how he had sat listening as the outgoing Manager painstakingly went through all of the Town's future plans, even though it was his last day on the job.

Referring back to the proverb, Mazzucco connected it to Carroll and the Town.

"He's planted a lot of trees in his time here, and there's a lot of shade that we're enjoying today because of all the trees that he's

Former officials also stopped by, including Norfolk County Register of Deeds and Norwood resident Bill O'Donnell, who jokingly genuflected before Carroll and asked for his blessing and then took a seat next to him, presented him with a gift, and sat for awhile in conversation.

Afterwards, he shared some of his thoughts on Carroll from his days on the Planning Board. "What I remember is, back in the day, Norwood didn't have a Town Planner even though there was a lot of development," O'Donnell said. "The Planning Board proposed hiring a Town Planner... and John was very receptive to the change. That's how he was. He was always thinking ahead."

O'Donnell joined the Board in 1986, when Carroll had been Town Manger for eight years.

"I remember jogging with John," O'Donnell said, recalling a July 4 road race. "I might have been in my thirties then, and John was in his sixties, and he beat me."

Standing at the doorway of Memorial Hall, he glanced over at Carroll, entertaining some more guests.

"John was a great leader in Norwood and, more importantly, just a great person," O'Donnell said. "He's done a great job here in Norwood and he's going to be missed."

A number of private citizens of the Town also stopped in throughout the early and mid-afternoon. Jed Hickson, who moved to Town for 35 years ago, brought his brother Jack and sister-in-law Sandi in for the reception, and they all spent a few moments sharing pleasantries with the Manager.

Jack, who recently retired along with his wife Sandi, brought his perspective to what was happening.

"We feel privileged to have had the opportunity to come and see the gentleman retire," he said. "It's kind of exciting."

Both Jack and Sandi had been speaking of their current road trip, which will take them part of the way down the East Coast before they turn for home, and he continued with that in mind.

"To me, retiring is exciting, because we've obviously loved our retirement," he said. "I hope he likes his retirement as much as we have."

Carroll and Selectmen Chair Bill Plasko are sitting together looking over the shrink wrapped Norwood-opoly game.

Barbara Kinter and Olga Abdallah sit on either side of Carroll, coaxing him to smile for a photo, which he eventually does.

Then he receives a Norwood-opoly game as a gift and poses for some photos with that, after which Bill Plasko comes by for a look, a chat, and another cup of coffee.

By the time Town Hall's bells chime 3 o'clock, there is still a smattering of guests.

Hearing the bells, Carroll stands and smiles.

"I'm off duty," he said. "I'm off this duty, anyways."

As he says his goodbyes and begins the long walk to his office at the opposite end of the building, a couple of building workers stop him to wish him good luck.

He continues on and Bernie Cooper pops out from a side door and says something to which Carroll replies. Then Debbie Melcher stops him to tell him something and that there's a coffee waiting for him on his desk and a root beer on the way. He continues on to his office.

Feeling much better after an upset stomach knocked him out of his last official Selectmen's meeting on Tuesday, Carroll sinks back into his comfortable chair and grabs a cupcake.

He'll have a little bit of time for that and his coffee, and then he'll be on his way to Norwood Public Access for a TV interview with Tom Cummings at 4 p.m. that had slipped his mind.

Despite Carroll's relatively busy schedule, it's not the kind he's used to, which he acknowledges.

"The problem right now is that I don't have much to do," Carroll said. "I don't like it."

planted," he said.

After Mazzucco had finished his speech and the ceremony had ended, the crowd stood up and mingled in the Hall, exchanging greetings and well-wishes with both Town Managers.

Carroll had taken a seat, rubbing his sore legs, in the first row of benches. After exchanging his thoughts on Sunday's Patriots-Steelers game with Paul Riccardi, he shared what he would be doing on his first day of retirement.

"I'm going shopping," he said. "Christmas shopping."

A few feet away, Mazzucco was being photographed in different groups, first with other Town Managers (from Foxboro, Sharon, Needham, and Maynard) who had come for the ceremony, then with the Finance Commission, then with whoever else wanted a photo with him.

Sharing what he would be up to on his first day on the job, he first mentioned a couple of department head meetings and a couple of building tours, and the budget before slowing down.

"I'm trying to keep it as calm on the first day as I can, just to make sure I'm easing in as much as possible, because any transition like this takes a long time," Mazzucco said.

During his remarks, Mazzucco had referred to Assistant Manager Bernie Cooper as "both my right and my left hand," and talked about his interaction with him leading up to the day.

"We met the first thing this morning and we've been in regular touch ever since the first day I came to meet John; later that day, we went and had lunch with Bernie and he's been absolutely fantastic," Mazzucco said.

Cooper, presented with Mazzucco's ambidextrous remark about him a few moments later, made a comment fitting with the two handed analogy:

"That's up to Tony," Cooper said. "Everybody has a style, and my job is to make sure that I do what he wants."

Cooper, having greeted and served under Carroll and now having greeted and serving under Mazzucco, nearly 40 years later, compared the two, getting at the essence of it.

"Well, he articulated the same goals, the same concern for people that John's always had," Cooper said.

A little later, Plasko, who had helped to see Carroll in as he had just done with Mazzucco, commented in terms similar to Cooper's.

"I think their core principals and beliefs – and their desire to make an impact on people's lives at the local level – are identical," Plasko said. "The difference is old school, new school."

Considering these similarities and differences, Plasko summed it up.

"We should be well served," he said.

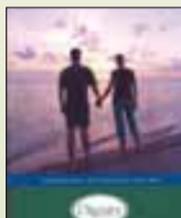

The crowd had thinned and in the vestibule of Memorial Hall, Carroll was back in his now familiar seat on the bench below the window facing out toward Washington Street and St. Catherine's, chatting as those who lingered sampled the fresh pastries and coffee.

Soon, Carroll would go one way, off to do some Christmas shopping, and Mazzucco would be going the other, making that long walk down to the other end of the hall.

South Norwood Holiday Buffet brings in some familiar faces

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

On Wednesday, Dec. 13, the South Norwood Holiday Buffet was held at Morse House (1285 Washington St.) from 4 p.m.-6:30p.m. and the pot luck dinner/holiday open house proved to be a popular destination, with everyone from Townspeople, to Chief Brooks, to all of the Board of Selectmen, to new Town Manager Tony Mazzucco dropping by and staying for awhile.

According to Morse House Director Dale Day, this was the 15th edition of the party, the preparations for which began the weekend after Thanksgiving and continued right up until the day before. She spoke of the vagaries of getting ready for Christmas.

"Every year, we break at least two or three ornaments. No matter how careful we try to be, the next thing you hear is crack and, 'Oh, well. I guess we won't be using that one this year.'"

Broken ornaments or not, the House is festive, inviting, and smacking of Christmas, with decorations strung in each room, a buffet of dinner food and desserts in the main dining room, and the constant patter of chatter between the many guests as some sit and others circulate.

"The food is wonderful. It gets a wonderful report every year, and the House holds up well to a large crowd. It goes very well, very smoothly, and we're happy to do it every year."

As welcoming and put together as Morse House looks today, it's an ongoing battle.

"We still have a lot more work to do. Of course, we're a non-profit, so you raise money and you fix whatever you can with the money that you have, but sometimes the big projects keep getting pushed off because you just don't have the funds. But we've come a long way."

Morse House plans to hold another, non-buffet open house on Dec. 30.

Mustangs weather storm vs. Wildcats, win opener

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

Mustangs new and old contributed in Norwood High's 51-44 season opening victory over Weymouth High in girls' basketball on Friday night.

Kaylin Reen led the Mustangs with 16 points in the victory, starting her senior season off with a bang. Just as impressive in the come-from-behind triumph was the debut of freshman Kate Earle, who chipped in 14 points out of the post.

Norwood head coach Amy Lepley had predicted improved post play for the Mustangs this season, between the addition of Earle and the return of senior Kiki Ryan, and right off the bat saw her vision come to fruition.

"I really can," Lepley said when asked if she could believe Earle's contributions in her first varsity game. "She is one of those kids that's definitely played quite a bit of basketball and she's very smart and she has really good intuition. I can't wait to have her for the next four years and see how much better she gets."

Norwood trailed 24-19 at the half after making just three shots from the field in the second quarter. Reen, who'd connected on two of her first three 3-pointers in the first quarter, went the entire period without a point.

But, as she's done so often in the past, she rediscovered her stroke in time to help the Mustangs pull away from the Wildcats in the fourth quarter.

"We told Kaylin that she has the green light," Lepley said. "She's a great shooter and more importantly, she's just a great leader for our team offensively and defensively. This is her senior year and she's an awesome shooter, so when she sees daylight she needs to let it fly, whether she's hitting it or not."

Norwood led 31-30 at the beginning of the fourth quarter before briefly going down by two at the start of the period. Ryan and back-to-back baskets to help the Mustangs regain control of the lead for good, her final contributions before fouling out in her return to basketball after sitting out the previous two seasons. She finished with nine points, third on the team behind Reen and Fast starts have helped the Norwood High girls' hockey team to a fast start in its own right, now 2-0 after one week of play.

The Mustangs jumped out to a 6-0 lead over Framingham High in their opener, ultimately winning 7-5, and scored two quick goals against Weymouth High last Saturday before prevailing 3-2.

Veteran Norwood head coach Tim Coskren credited his team's ability to put shots on goal in the victories over the Flyers and Wildcats, something with which it struggled mightily in the pre-season.

"I think we proved that we've been able to generate some offense, which we haven't been able to do in the past [couple of seasons]," Coskren said.

Six different Mustangs scored a goal in Norwood's first game, played at Bajko Arena in Hyde Park, led by Rose Campbell with two. Maddie O'Rourke, Jess Keller, Maggie Curran, Allie Martin and Allie McDonough. The game did not count towards Bay State Conference standings; rather, it was a "flex" game made necessary by the odd number of teams in the league this season.

The Mustangs made their Rodman Arena debut on Saturday, where Martin got Norwood out to an early lead on a breakaway just under two minutes in to the game. McDonough scored less than a minute later to increase the lead, only to see Weymouth claw back to tie the game at 2-all. But McDonough netted her team-leading third goal of the season to break the tie, leaving the Mustangs' record without a blemish.

Kayla Clifford assisted on each of McDonough's goals.

Boys' hockey on verge of securing first win after 0-1-1 opening week

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

Close, but not close enough, has been the overriding theme for Norwood High's first week on the ice in boys' hockey this winter.

The Mustangs skated to a 2-2 tie against Milton High last Wednesday night in the season opener before dropping a 4-3 decision against Weymouth High on Saturday night, each game on the road.

Still in search of their first win, Norwood had opportunities in each of their first two games to come away with two points. Mustangs head coach Chuck Allen, beginning his second year with the team, said after the opener vs. Milton that he wasn't disappointed, noting that Milton was playing in front of a new head coach of their own (Chris Watson) and trying to make an impression similar to the one Norwood made in front of him last season.

"I thought it was a pretty evenly-scaled game," Allen said. "Hats off, we need some improvement, they probably need some improvement, too. We'll learn from our mistakes."

It's the second season in a row the Mustangs have played to a draw in the opener, following last season's 3-3 tie against Mansfield High.

Sean Munro scored the first goal of the season for Norwood with only 39 seconds left in the first period, giving the team a major jolt heading into the locker room with a 1-0 lead.

Garrett Allen—Chuck's nephew—evened the score at 1-apiece at 3:43 of the second period, only for Brandon Walsh to give the Mustangs the lead right back at 6:49 of the period.

It looked like Norwood's one-goal lead was going to hold up for a victory, as neither team was able to solve the other for the remainder of the second and well into the third. But with the goalie pulled, Milton's Nolan McManus unleashed a full slapshot out of the right circle that beat Austin Reardon with 1:37 remaining in the game to let Milton escape with a tie.

Reardon still made 17 saves on 19 shots for the game for the Mustangs; Mark Guerra stopped 15 of the 17 shots he faced in goal for Milton.

"Our kids feel like they could have gotten two points, but it's your first game, away, against a team with a new coach and all that stuff and you still come up with a point," Allen said. "It was a little sloppy. I think the kids have to learn how to have a one-goal lead, and vice versa when you're down a goal. I think we've got to be stronger on the sticks. I'm not disappointed, I'm glad we got a point out of it. It's a good way to start the season with a point and we'll move on."

It was a two-point night for Munro, who assisted on Walsh's goal. Matt Hennessey and Joe Spadorcia also had assists in the game.

After jumping out to a 2-0 lead at Connell Rink in Weymouth, the Mustangs fell behind 4-2 and only got one goal back to suffer its first loss of the season. Chris Martin and Kyle McCue scored the initial goals for Norwood, while Munro scored for the second time in as many games at 1:25 of the third period to get the Mustangs back within a goal. Neither team scored in the remaining 13:35 of the period.

Norwood traveled to Babson College for a game against Wellesley High last night, in an event held after the Record's deadline. The Mustangs are at Rodman Arena in Walpole on Saturday, where they'll act as the road team for a 12:10 p.m. puck drop against Walpole High.

outshot Weymouth 33-14.

"We came out doing what we'd really worked on in practice, getting shots on net," Coskren said. "We're still not a powerhouse offensively, but it did look good having them take that many shots."

Jenna Mazzola, a sophomore playing significant minutes for the first time, was the starting goalie for the Mustangs in each of their first two games. She didn't play the first game in its entirety, exiting after she was spotted a 6-0 lead to catch a breather.

Norwood played against Wellesley High yesterday afternoon, in an event held after the Record's deadline, and plays Walpole High at Rodman Arena on Saturday at 2:10 p.m. — immediately following the boys' hockey game between the Mustangs and Rebels.

In addition to an increase in getting pucks on (and in) the net, Coskren also noted the improvement in the passing game for Norwood.

"I just hope we can stay with them and keep doing what we've been doing," Coskren said, looking ahead to the games vs. the Raiders and Rebels. "We've been moving the puck very well, passing-wise. The passing has improved a tremendous amount. Getting shots on net was obviously a big key against Weymouth."

The Mustangs will have one more game over winter break, on Wednesday, Dec. 27 at Flood-Marr Rink in Dedham against the Marauders. They then return to action on Thursday, Jan. 4 against the Latin Academy/Fontbonne Academy co-op at Shea Rink in Quincy.

Fast start on track for Norwood

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

The Norwood High boys' track team opened up its final season of Bay State Conference play with a thrilling win over archrival Walpole High, 51-49.

Head coach Matthew Curran said that it was the seniors leading the way, but pointed out that it's a deep roster of 57 athletes this year that'll comprise a solid mix of both upper and underclassmen. Curran stopped short of predicting a Herget Division title on the Mustangs' way out the door, but didn't slam shut the possibility of a title, either.

"We should be very competitive in the Herget," Curran said. "While I won't predict a league title, we should be in the mix with Natick and Wellesley. Also, we should qualify several athletes and relays by the end of season to place in the top five at the MIAA Division 4 meet."

Craig Riley, Jacob Logon, Tiago Gomes, Billy Mosca and Robby Noonan each won individual events for Norwood, in a meet held at the Reggie Lewis Track & Athletic Center in Roxbury. Riley won the mile with a time of 4 minutes, 48 seconds and Logon won the two-mile with a time of 10:43. Gomes notched a win in the hurdles, while Noonan took home the long jump.

Mosca, Ryan Motta and Billy Tomasello swept the high jump event for the Mustangs, with Mosca placing first. The 4 x 400-meter relay team of Tarek Zaki, Riley, Motta and Aidan Mulligan also won their event. Zaki also placed second in the 1,000-meter dash with a time of 2:48.

 “I was a little nervous coming out, but once I started running around I was fine,” Ryan said. “It came back pretty quickly.”

“She’s awesome, she just brings so much energy and she’s so athletic,” Lepley said of Ryan. “She’s definitely in volleyball made, but she’s got a really good knack for the game.”

The final score wound up being Norwood’s largest lead of the game, reaching the margin on a free throw from freshman Taylor Brincklow.

She added that the roster, which is comprised of four freshmen in 12 spots, had been buying in during tryouts and saw that carry over to the opener.

“It was really awesome,” Reen said. “We’ve had two weeks of practice and we have

All electricity supplied to the Customer by the NMLD shall be measured through one bi-directional meter, except that where the NMLD deems it impractical to deliver electricity through one service, or where the NMLD has installed more than one meter, then the measurement of electricity may be by two or more meters. The Customer shall furnish, at its expense, necessary facilities for metering equipment including a dedicated voice grade telephone circuit for remote reading whereby the NMLD can meter the output of the Customer's generating facilities.

Any Customer receiving service under this rate will be required to execute an interconnection Service Agreement setting forth the specific provisions of service to that customer, including but not limited to the service location, generating facilities, metering installation, protection systems, term of agreement, and any upgrades required to the NMLD distribution system to accommodate the Customer's interconnection. All such upgrades will be at the sole discretion of NMLD and at the sole cost of the Customer.

Limitations: All electricity consumed by the Customer shall be billed at the Applicable Service Rate for that customer classification.

All electricity generated by the Customer's generation equipment shall be purchased by NMLD at the rates set forth in this Schedule.

Billing Period: Billing shall be done on a monthly basis.

Monthly Charges: The monthly charge shall be the General Service Charge, minus the Energy Credit.

Estimated Bills: When an actual meter reading cannot be taken on the normal meter reading schedule for the Billing Period, an estimated bill will be rendered based on usage data provided by the Customer or by estimated by the NMLD.

Discount: A discount will be allowed based on the applicable service rate on all bills paid within 10 days of the date thereof.

Purchase Power Adjustment: As provided in the "Purchased Power Adjustment" applied after discount to all kilowatt-hours for the Customer's energy usage, exclusive of any energy generated by the Customer's generating equipment on this rate

Definitions:

General Service Charge: the total charge for the Customer's demand and energy usage, exclusive of any energy generated by the Customer's generating equipment, under the Applicable Service Rate.

Applicable Service Rate: the rate under which the customer would be eligible to receive firm service from the NMLD where no renewable energy was being generated.

Generation Energy: the amount of energy, in kWh, produced by the Customer's generating equipment during the billing month.

Energy Buyback: is equal to the product of the energy received to the NMLD Utility Grid and the Energy Buyback Rate.

Energy Credit Rate: is equal to $0.75 per kWh consumed by the customer.

Energy Buyback Rate: is equal to annual Real Time Average SEMA LMP per kWh for energy received to the NMLD Utility Grid.

Issued by John J. Carroll, Manager, Municipal Light Department Issued on May 2, 2017 Effective on all bills mailed after June 1, 2017
