PBCC's dispute gets existential

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The Permanent Building Construction Committee (PBCC) met on Thursday evening, July 26 at Town Hall. Main items on the agenda were ongoing projects regarding St. Gabriel's Chapel at Highland Cemetery and Town Hall.

In addition to PBCC members, Town Contract Administrator Cathy Carney was also present. PBCC members Francis Hopcroft and William O'Connor were absent.

As with the prior two meetings, the last item on the agenda proved to be its main one, as the PBCC continued its discussion regarding the Town Hall renovation project, paused by Town Manager Tony Mazzucco on June 12.

Unlike the last Town Hall discussion, however, this one – while continuing to express the Committee's frustration with the Town Manager's actions – was measured in tone and on point in message as the PBCC spoke of the Aug. 7 Selectmen's meeting during which it will be appearing before the Board at 7:45 p.m. regarding the work stoppage.

At the center of this discussion was a letter dated July 23, which project architect Wendall Kalsow of McGinley, Kalsow & Associates (MK & A) had prepared regarding his recommended course of action for the building – originally made at the June 7 PBCC meeting – approached both comprehensively and in a phased manner and referred to, over several PBCC meetings, as a master plan for future Town Hall work.

The letter, which outlined the schematic report that MK & A had done on the building, also served as

Celebrating 25 years on the Common

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

Norwood celebrated 25 years of Concerts on the Common on Sunday with a special presentation of Natalie Joly and the Reckless Hearts.

Hundreds of residents (and many from out of Town) came by to take part in the celebration, which was put on by the Town, the Norwood Parents Music Association and run by resident and Chair of the Sunday Concerts on the Common Committee Paul Eysie.

According to Eysie, former Town Manager John Carroll came up with the idea for the concerts about 25 years ago (he just recently retired), and he said it completely changed how people viewed the Common. He said residents felt it was a memorial to veterans and didn't use it as a park, but as Sunday's massive turnout showed, that is no longer the case.

The whole series this summer has been dedicated to Concert Committee member/photographer (and photographer for the Norwood Record) Paul Eldredge, who passed away last December.

The night was filled with classic rock standards from Joly as well as original songs. There was a raffle where several Norwood residents and a few folks from Canton received gift certificates to restaurants and five tickets to Six Flags New England.

Norwood's Parent Music Association (PMA) was in attendance for the concert, and the band kids themselves were selling concessions to support the music programs in the Norwood Public Schools.

"The students are doing a lot of the serving and we have our regular tent there as well," said PMA President Paul Campbell. "Our band director Steve Cohen has been on the grill since 4 o'clock, he's practically melting, but this is fantastic. It's great having the kids in front of the town and it's really nice to have them out getting the recognition they deserve."

"I'm here as you know every Sunday and Wednesday night and it's always a great show," he said. "The Town is always supporting us."

Former PMA Vice President Steve Eosco said the fundraising activities for the PMA have definitely improved over the years.

"It's better than when it was for us selling light bulbs for the Lyons and candy bars to go to Florida," he said.

Campbell said these concessions help to pay for most of the programming during the summer in terms of music camps as well as the music programming in the schools.

"It's for the subsidized music programs, marching band expenses and choral expenses, you know, the kids want to do music and some can't afford to so we do what we can to help them," he said.

The Norwood Marching Band will have its first performance of the summer on Sept. 8 for the Norwood Day Parade.

Resident Deb Riddick said she comes to the concerts every week, but this was definitely the biggest so far.

"And the music's fabulous," she said. "I'd say this year is spectacular, and this particular group is amazing."

Usually, the mid summer concert is the pops concert, which entails a big band for the entertainment, but the town decided to go with Joly instead. Many residents thought it was a nice change.

"It brings family together and the kids really enjoy themselves in the summertime," said resident Will Collins. "This band is very relaxing and very good."

Norwood resident cycling in Pan Mass Challenge

Jeff Sullivan
Staff Reporter

Norwood resident Diana Dorci is cycling this year for the Pan Mass Challenge for her team, Pedals for Pediatrics.

Dorci first started cycling in the race about 15 years ago when the previous year, a co-worker at her place of work, the Boston Children's Hospital, said they were taking part in the race.

"I sponsored her and she said, 'you know next year, you'll be riding in this,' and I laughed at her," she said. "This is my 15th year riding. That was the first time the Boston Children's started a team, Pedals for Pediatrics. We started as a team of maybe seven people, but this year we have about 40 riders. We've had as many as 65."

Dorci said that the first year was the toughest for her, as she had little experience in riding.

"I started in Sturbridge with a hybrid bike, it was way too heavy," she said. "I did the entire route on a hybrid and I somehow survived. My knees were pretty sore for two days, but the day after that I wanted to get back on the bike for the weekend."

A hybrid bike is a bit heavier than the long distance bikes usually associated with such long races like the PMC.

"It's more something you would use for casual riding," she said. "That was the first year for the tax-free weekend, so I thought I'd buy a new bike."

Dorci said one of the best things about her team is that she knows exactly what the money being raised is for.

"We actually get to manage our funds," she said. "One third goes to research; one third goes to patient care and the other third goes to Dorci will be riding for her charity group Pedals for Pediatrics, as she has done for the last 15 years.

our nursing contingent. (The team) was started on the nursing side of the hospital, so we support nurses who go out into the educational conferences."

Dorci said in the 15 years she's been riding, she rode alongside some of the hospital's cancer survivors and the families of those who lost their battle with cancer. She said it's that belief in what the hospital is doing that helps drive and inspire her, and though this year they don't have anyone on the team from those two groups, many still support their teams financially.

"We've had three families I know of personally who lost their child to cancer, but still continue to be involved," she said. "They still deal with that loss every day, but every day they support the organization. They deal with that loss in their day-to-day lives, who am I to say I can't ride? That inspires me to continue every year."

Dorci said she has not had to host a fundraiser for the past few years to reach the PMC's minimum fundraising requirement.

"All my fundraising has come from individual donors," she said. "Each year, I have people who totally amaze me in the amount of money they give me. A few of them are cancer survivors or are still battling, but the amount they donate seems to go up every year."

Dorci added she's already well above the minimum.

"I still have people who walk by my desk and say they haven't forgot about my PMC donation, so I never struggle to get to that minimum," she said. "The main reason I continue to ride is that I get to be a part of a team that truly does give back and I see where it goes and I see those patients and families every day and I see what they go through, so it's truly amazing to be a part of this."

The Community Preservation Committee continued working its way towards becoming fully operational by later this year, with motions approved to determine effective financial tracking and approval procedures.

CPC working its way through financial procedure

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The Community Preservation Committee (CPC) held its monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, July 11, at Town Hall during which it went over several agenda items having to do with its ongoing process to become fully operational by later this calendar year.

Two Committee members were absent: Vice Chairman John Hall and Anne White Scoble.

Over an hour of the two hour meeting was devoted to establishing budgetary and financial procedures. Although this is still developing, progress was made, with Treasurer Robert Thornton making suggestions for procedures, having shared examples from other towns that are part of the Community Preservation Act (CPA) with the rest of the CPC.

Following his initial comments, Member Debbie Holmwood asked, "Who's in charge of the checkbook?" prompting this response from Thornton:

"That's the question of the hour."

He continued by saying that "there should be some sort of process set up so there are no surprises and people are aware, and it's part of the record for this Committee."

During the discussion, Town Planner Paul Halkiotis recommended that the CPC authorize the Chairman to sign invoices in order to avoid lengthy delays in paying outstanding bills.

Thornton – fine tuning this and referencing the School Committees warrant signing system – suggested that the CPC be made aware of prospective recommended purchases, along with open discussion and a determination of whether or not there is support for them so that the invoice signing can be taken care of quickly and with as little delay as possible.

Additionally, Thornton brought up a CPC challenge: the financial tracking of CPA projects.

Using the example of St. Gabriel's Chapel – which came in over the original $1.1 million budget allocated to it is now using $400,000 of CPA money to complete the project – Thornton cited that the funds are in two different accounts that fall under two different jurisdictions.

"So you're not going to see it in one place that says 'St. Gabriel's Chapel.'"

He went on to say that money coming from different sources within the CPA and the Town's lack of an effective project based accounting system could also lead to tracking difficulties.

In response to this, Chair-

Time for Selectmen to don their diplomat hats

The Town of Norwood is blessed with civic minded individuals willing to give of their time, either in a volunteer or official capacity. Quite frankly, it never ceases to amaze this newspaper how much gets accomplished by a group of residents willing to put the best interests of the community at large before themselves. It would be impossible to name every group, either still in existence or since past, that have contributed to the quality of the lives of their neighbors without seeking money or adulation for fear of omitting some. The list of committees is long and distinguished, but none more so than the Permanent Building Construction Committee (PBCC). These guys are supermen, and the true testimony to their superhero work are the multitude of buildings gracing these streets brought in almost always on time and under budget because of the thousands of volunteer hours contributed by the PBCC.

That is why the meeting of the PBCC with Selectmen on Aug. 7 is so important. The group feels slighted, particularly by Town Manager Tony Mazzucco, who members of the PBCC feel undermines their work by making decisions contrary to the collective group, or disrespects their efforts by reporting to Selectmen on issues they feel should be discussed with them first.

"I don't see that it's worth our time to put in the effort that we put into all of these projects if the new way that this is going to run with this Town Manager is that he walks into the meeting one day, hears something he doesn't agree with, and then puts a stop to all of our work. It's a waste of the effort" – PBCC member Chris Eberly.

"It's against the law; it's as simple as that." – PBCC member Ted Callahan.

Whether or not Mazzucco's actions have been dictatorial or even illegal is for others to debate. What this newspaper suggests is that the changeover from previous Town Manager John Carroll, who had worked with the PBCC for decades and understood the personalities and peccadilloes of the PBCC collective, to Mr. Mazzucco, a newcomer needing to get a handle on a multiple of responsibilities and present day ongoing projects as soon as possible, perhaps ruffled some feathers, as is sometimes the case when the new guy comes in.

It is the Selectmen's job to ease the hard feelings of the PBCC while, at the same time, not undermining the authority bestowed upon the Town Manager. Mazzucco, in this newspaper's opinion, has done an excellent job to date of getting up to speed on everything going on in Norwood and then being able to speak articulately when queried during Selectmen's meetings. That is no small feat, and virtually impossible to do without stepping on a few toes.

When Ted Callahan made the statement at their last meeting that, "If they (Selectmen) go along with what the Town Manager says, then at that moment, if they agree that he was right (to stop the project), as far as I'm concerned, the Building Committee ceases to exist," Callahan said. "Absolutely ceases to exist", we at this address are hoping it was the adrenaline of the moment that made him utter those combative words, words that should not be repeated on Aug. 7. It will be difficult enough for Selectmen to try and assuage every ego in the room that night, even more so if trying to do so under threat.

HIT SPEEDERS IN THE WALLET

To the Editor:

I have a simple solution to the worsening problem of vehicles speeding through Norwood and endangering our lives: speeding tickets. Not warnings, but actual tickets that cost money. Each month the police department should announce in the Norwood Record how many speeding tickets they have issued. After a while, the news will get out that there is a price to pay for disregarding the speed limits in this town.

It is a win-win solution. It puts money in our coffers and creates a safer environment for our residents. The only losers will be the reckless drivers.

Once the word gets out, Norwood will be a safer place and a model for the rest of the state and nation with a simple message: you speed through Norwood – you pay a price!

Cape Ann vs. Cape Gloucester

If you follow Route 128 to its very northern end, beginning in Danvers without the I-95 overlay, you will have arrived in Cape Ann.

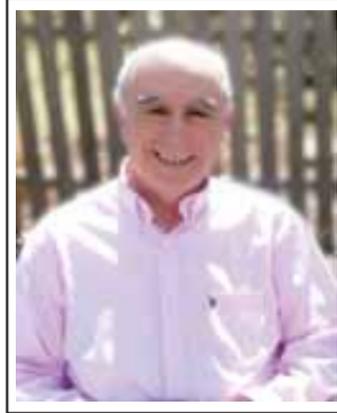

You've got to admit that Gloucester, located at the tip of Cape Ann, is a charming town, at least in the summer time. It may not be toney like its Cape neighbor, Rockport, or even as quaint as Chatham, Oak Bluffs, or Stockbridge: there are many blue-collar workers who make their living in Gloucester as part of the fishing industry. Indeed, it has rugged appeal.

It is blessed with great beaches, among them Annisquam, Half Moon, Wingersheek, and Good Harbor, the last of which shamelessly gouges out-of-towners with its unethical parking fees.

Gloucester also has its very well-to-do part out on Atlantic Avenue and on Eastern Point where mansions are valued in seven figures.

It's a great day trip whether one drives to the beach or catches the Purple Line to this fascinating town, the basis for Sebastian Junger's classic book and award-winning movie, "The Perfect Storm."

But mention "Gloucester" to a wizened, semi-hard-of-hearing veteran of World War II's Pa-

My Kind of Town/
Joe Galeota

cific theater and he might ask, "You mean Cape Gloucester?"

Gloucester, Massachusetts, is not known for any World War II story, but Cape Gloucester certainly is.

Exactly, where is Cape Gloucester? It's on New Britain, but not that city of the same name in Connecticut. And the island of New Britain, in Melanesia, is northeast of the much larger island of New Guinea, which is divided into two parts. The eastern half is Papua New Guinea and the western part is Papua (now part of Indonesia), comprised of more than 300,000 square miles to make it the second largest island in the world after Greenland.

On the day after Christmas in 1943, while most Bostonians' living rooms still had balled-up Xmas paper and empty boxes from Jordan's, R.H. White's, and Gilchrist's on the floor, the 7th Marines (and shortly afterwards, the 1st Marines) landed on the area known for its muck, mire, and at the time of the year, the monsoons. For three straight weeks, as torrential downpours occurred daily bogging down soldiers, amtracs, and tanks, no leatherneck could remain dry, not that this was this most important part of their "visit."

Ultimately, 310 Marines paid with their lives and another 1,083 were wounded; the number of Japanese dead exceeded 2,000.

There never has been any discussion whether the taking of Cape Gloucester was necessary, unlike the debate about the need for landing at Peleliu.

The tragedy of the wonderfully sounding name of Cape Gloucester is that many Americans and even more Japanese, died there, period. Never mind, they perished without any proper burial because of the conditions set by a ruthless Mother Nature. May they all rest in peace while countless toddlers and children cavort in the peaceful sunshine in the calm waters and tidal pools of our Gloucester on Cape Ann.

Moderna went before the Conservation Commission regarding a Notice of Intention for its proposed perimeter fence, which - in one section - would enter a wetland when crossing an intermittent stream.

ConCom deals with Moderna request to fence in perimeter

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The Conservation Commission met at Town Hall on Wednesday, July 18 for a meeting that ran a little over an hour. Lee Leach, Michael Bergeron, and Carol Fishman were absent.

The meeting featured two appointments, both of which were of some note.

The first concerned a notice of intent (NOI) for Moderna Therapeutics, located at 100 Tech Drive in the Upland Woods limited manufacturing subdivision.

Engineer David Mackwell of Kelly Engineering went before the Commission representing Moderna in this request, and presented a diagram based overview pertinent aspects of the project.

The project as a whole – the site plan approval for which was approved by the Planning Board at its July 16 meeting – has to do with the renovation of a 136,000 square foot building and some external improvements. The perimeter of the site will also be fenced in.

Specifically, the ConCom NOI is for the security fence planned for the property, a small portion of is proposed to pass through a section of wetlands containing an intermittent stream.

“The project – as it relates to the Commission at this time – is really a fence project. We do want to come through the wetlands: it's about 10 feet wide there. It's not that exaggerated but security's a big concern for Moderna, so they want to put the fence in," Mackwell stated.

Conservation Agent Al Goetz had recommended the NOI as an option in order to properly record the fence so that – if any maintenance needs to be done on it – it would be documented properly.

Goetz explained that – although the stream doesn't run for at least half the year – maintenance for the fence would be required. "When there is water there, we want it to flow, so that requires a maintenance program in that spot. So I decided that the full notice was the way to go here."

The main concern with the request was brought up by Commissioner Joe DiMaria, who expressed concern that he had only just received the updated plans that day after he had returned home from work, and had been unable to look at them closely.

"I'm not sure why the fence is not at the edge of the property and is in a wetland area, or a buffer zone, as opposed to the edge of the pavement, which is something I can only glance at very quickly as I look at it. I just don't think it's a proper way to address the Commission," he added.

Mackwell – while apologizing for the short review time – also stated that the original request had been on file "for quite some time" and that the update had been a clarification.

Goetz added that this clarification was to make the stream crossing more visible, "and that's the only difference between the final plan and the one that was submitted a couple of weeks ago."

Further discussion peaked with Mackwell and Commissioner Cheryl Doyle leaning over DiMaria's shoulders at his copy of the plan as everyone else in the room looked on from their seats and DiMaria brought up his concern with the fence passing too close to a drainage swale.

After Doyle resolved this with her recommendation for an ongoing condition to keep the fence line clear of debris where it goes to the swale, DiMaria moved that the Commission take the project under advisement until the Aug. 1 meeting. This was unanimously approved.

The next appointment concerned the proposed development at 429 Neponset St., which has been a work in progress since 2005 and currently also has ongoing business with the Zoning Board of Appeals regarding an application extension for the project.

As explained by Goetz, the issue to be dealt with was that the project order had expired and was refilled in order to remove and replace the deteriorated foundations from five of the six buildings on the site.

Engineer James Susi of United Consultants – representing developer Joseph Robicheau (who was present with his daughter Chrisanne Craven) – explained the plan to handle the project section by section, with a total buffer zone disturbance of 21,700 square feet.

He went on to explain that the erosion control – as had been originally planned and approved in 2005 – would be in place before work would begin.

In the question period that followed, the focus was on drainage and erosion, with Doyle asking for drainage to be noted on the new plans, a 50 foot buffer zone to be marked (both 25 and 100 foot zones had already been marked), and for erosion control to be updated to present day standards, which the Commission agreed should be in the form of a compost sock and silt fence.

That duly noted by Susi, the matter was continued until Aug. 1 at 7:45 p.m.

The next Conservation Commission meeting is scheduled for Aug. 15 at 7:30 p.m.

HOSPICE VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Salmon VNA and Hospice is looking for caring, compassionate individuals to join our volunteer team. You will touch lives in extraordinary ways through this community service opportunity. We are looking for volunteers to visit hospice patients living in Central and Metro West cities and towns and also our Nursing Facilities in Northbridge, Northborough, Worcester, Westborough, Natick and Sharon. Individuals of all ages and backgrounds are welcome, and no previous hospice or health care experience is needed. As a hospice volunteer, you'll spend a couple of hours each week providing friendly companionship to one of our patients in their home. Time spent reading a book, writing a letter, hand massaging, relieving caregivers or sitting bedside during vigil visits enhances the quality of life of hospice patients. Your visit can touch the lives of others and offer a caregiver a much-needed break. Donations of flower arrangements, blankets, music, or other sensory items are also welcome. If you would like more information about this topic, please contact Sydney Champoux at 508-422-1837 or email schampoux@salmonhealth.com.

Norwood's Circle of Hope Foundation, in association with the Norwood Recreation Department, held its annual Carnival event at the Hawes Pool last Friday dubbed the Day of Hope.

The event was held in conjunction with the Town's Playcamp offered to young residents for the summer. The day saw cotton candy, a dunk tank, music, video games, a bouncy castle and horse and pony rides.

"So as long as Playcamp has been going on, we've been doing a carnival to break up the summer," said Recreation Superintendent Travis Farley. "Obviously we try to do stuff every week, but one week in the summer we host a carnival. When we have the carnival we pick an organization to donate to. Before it was the Jimmy Fund and now it's the Circle of Hope."

Farley said one of the founders of Circle of Hope, Lee Kennedy, works with the department and they could not think of a better place to donate for this year.

"We try to help her out because she also works with the Recreation Department," he said. "After we pay out everything it's not a huge amount leftover, it's usually a couple hundred bucks, but we're not in it to make any money. We're here to donate to a good cause. It's a wonderful charity in Town, everybody here loves them and we try to give them a helping hand."

Farley said the event was very successful, with the kids from the camp and scores of other residents coming out to enjoy the day.

"It's a beautiful day, so we'll get people coming in throughout the afternoon," he said. "We have all of our camps here; Junior Play, Playcamp, Senior Play, and then obviously we'll have the public too."

Lee Kennedy said she founded the Circle of Hope back in 1998 with Cathy Ronco and several other concerned residents in the town.

"It was a promise I made to my daughter when she had Leukemia, that when she got better we would have a fundraiser for the people of Norwood," she said. "She then lost her battle, but you have to keep the promise. So we got together with a group of people in Norwood – all strangers – and we've been together for 20 years come October. We've given out over $740,000 to the people of Norwood."

Kennedy said her daughter would have loved the carnival the Town put together on Friday.

"This is great, my daughter would love it and she'd be in the dunk tank," she said.

Resident Julie Donnelly-Mathews said she came out for the event last year and she's happy to see it grow.

"I think it's awesome, the kids love it and there are a lot of counselors here for safety and the staff is really great," she said. "It's just one of the things that Norwood provides and they do great things for the kids, especially during the week because there are a lot of stay-at-home parents. I do think we need some more things on the weekends for working parents, I think that would be nice. The new leadership at the Recreational Department is really soliciting input from parents and other community members to suggest things and they're coming up with new programs."

Resident Trish Kelly said it was an amazing experience to see the neighborhood come out for the festivities and the cause.

"This is my first time, and I think it's fantastic," she said. "Everybody is enjoying it, my daughter loves it, and my son is in camp here and it's his first time too, he really loves it."

the launching point for the Committee's defense of its actions regarding the project, which it had, in its initial research, determined not to be feasible.

This led to a commentary that addressed this issue on a larger scale.

"I think it's helpful to say that every time one of these projects seems to come to us, we go through this same process," Chris Eberly explained. "Outside of the Manager's actions, every time one of these projects has rolled in from wherever these ideas are generated..."

"Town Meeting," Vice Chairman Bill Kinsman interrupted. "Town Meeting generated."

"...There's a number that's given to us that leaves some large component out," Eberly continued. "And we identify that large component in a fairly quick manner without spending much of the Town's money, and then we're vilified for going off the rails."

"That's right," Kinsman came back in. "He's absolutely right. Sitting at Town Meeting, I can attest to that. Somebody comes up with those numbers and then they throw those numbers at us and we go, 'It can't be done!'"

Continuing with this topic, members of the Committee brought up past projects – from the most recently completed Bathhouse to the Senior Center to the High School, among others – while focusing on the money it had saved for the Town by using the collective experience and expertise of its members to make the most of the projects assigned.

At a deeper level, the discussion felt existential until Ted Callahan made it explicit when he spoke of how the Board of Selectmen might possibly react on Aug. 7.

"If they go along with what the Town Manager says, then at that moment, if they agree that he was right (to stop the project), as far as I'm concerned, the Building Committee ceases to exist," Callahan said. "Absolutely ceases to exist."

Continuing along these lines, Eberly followed with his own thoughts, alluding to the March 14 PBCC meeting that Mazzucco had attended during which he was overruled regarding a $14,000 space study ordered by the PBCC for the Town Hall project.

"I don't see that it's worth our time to put in the effort that we put into all of these projects if the new way that this is going to run with this Town Manager is that he walks into the meeting one day, hears something he doesn't agree with, and that puts a stop to all of our work. It's a waste of the effort," he concluded.

"It's against the law," Callahan added. "It's as simple as that."

The PBCC is scheduled to appear before the Board of Selectmen on Aug. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

In other notable business, about 45 minutes of the meeting were spent discussing bids received for the masonry portion of the restoration of St. Gabriel's Chapel.

Chapel OPM (Owner's Project Manager) David Greene, as well as Dale Gienapp and Michael Nee of Gienapp Design were present for this segment of the meeting.

The project has been allocated $1.725 million by Town Meeting, with the job divided into three separate contracts: masonry, windows restoration, and lantern restoration.

Discussion centered on the low bidder, MJS Construction, which came in at $793,176.

Its bid was $230,524 less than the second bidder, PJ Spillane which at $1.02 million was more in line with the other four bidders, which all came in higher than $1 million.

Both Greene and Gienapp expressed some concern with the MJS application, specifically regarding its lack of Town specified qualifications regarding carrying out projects of similar size and complexity; the feasibility – or lack thereof – of its low estimate; and its seemingly high number of pending projects, which were attributed to MJS's lack of manpower, which was acknowledged by the Committee to be an industry problem.

The decision was made for Greene to review Spillane's application which according to him, had a long list of applicable references. He was also asked to further look into the MJS application, with the masonry contract likely to be awarded to one of the two.

Carney also addressed the possibility of a bid protest being filed with the Attorney General's Office by whichever vendor loses on its bid.

"You're always going to be getting into those problems because the GCs (general Contractors) are going to be throwing out the bid protests because except for the filing fee, they're really not out anything," she explained before finishing her point. "With this project here, you could end up with either company doing the bid protest."

Carney went on to add that a protest would likely delay the project by about a month.

Two bid applications have also been submitted for the lantern restoration. Greene and Gienapp will also be looking into them for discussion at the next meeting.

In Town Hall window business:

Gienapp submitted revised figures for its agreed-upon 2015 proposal, which were approved unanimously by the Committee and which enabled the search for the source of the Town Hall window leaks to resume after a lengthy pause.

The next PBCC meeting will be on Thursday, Aug. 2 at 7:30 p.m.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeal of the Town of Norwood will hold a PUBLIC HEARING in Room 12 of the Municipal Office Building on August 21, 2018 at 7:15PM on the request of Michael Baulier (Case #18-15) with respect to property located on 101 Hill Street, in a G-General Residential District.

This Application requests a SPECIAL PERMIT under Section 5.4 of the Zoning Bylaw to allow construction of a 648 sq. foot addition leaving a 15'2" side yard (15' required). The existing square footage of the house is 1,403 sq. feet. The addition will be comprised of a 224 sq. ft. laundry and mud room on the first floor and a 424 sq. ft. master bedroom and bathroom on the second floor. After the addition the total square footage of the house will be 2,051 sq. ft. The addition will be situated at the back of the existing structure and well within the required setback.

Plans are on file with this application in the office of the Zoning Board of Appeal and may be viewed during normal working hours, Monday – Thursday, 8:00 am – 4:00 pm.

BOARD OF APPEAL
Patrick J. Mulvehill, Chairman; Phillip W. Riley, Barbara A. Kinter, John R. Perry, Thomas Brady

Norwood Record, August 2, 2018, August 9, 2018

man Joseph Greeley informed the Committee that Director of Finance & Accounting Tom McQuaid would be setting up an account dedicated to the $400,000 of CPA funds allotted to the Chapel in order to avoid co-mingling funds.

“We can’t just say the PBCC is taking care of it,” he said. “We own it. We own these projects.”

Additional discussion was held regarding the CPC becoming more involved in the changeover to the new Town wide software system in order to have it possibly bring in accounting software geared toward the Committee’s unique situation.

At the conclusion of this discussion, three motions were approved unanimously:

For the Chairman to sign off on invoices, with the Vice Chairman serving as an alternate.

For any anticipated cost greater than $500 to go before the CPC for approval. Anything less than $500 would as well, but in cases where time is of the essence, the Chairman would be able to unilaterally sign off without consulting the Committee.

For the CPC (in reality Halkiotis and Assistant Town Planner Patrick Deschenes) to make Town Computer Director Mark Redlich aware of the CPC’s needs regarding the new MUNIS software system, and to investigate CPCs from other towns regarding their use of that system.

In other business, The Committee also reviewed the needs assessment – which goes over the types of projects the CPC funds – and the application required to try for a share of them.

Member Peter McFarland and Deschenes updated the Committee on their work updating both the assessment and application drafts.

The only area of concern for McFarland had to do with the historic preservation section of the assessment, in which the Historic Commission had a long list of sites that it had submitted.

“I understand what was sent by the Historic Commission – as far as what they want to look at – but I don’t see the need for putting all of these buildings and structures and bridges, and things like that, in the goals. To me, that looks like we’re giving bias to certain projects al-

The Norwood Record ready.”

McFarland went on to advocate for the list – as submitted by the Historical Commission – to be removed from the main body of the assessment and moved to the appendix, as reference, while adding to his earlier comments as further rationale for this recommendation.

“Those are goals of the Historical Commission,” he said. “Anybody reading those goals would think we’re already committed to certain projects, and we’re not.”

McFarland’s recommendation was looked favorably upon by the rest of the Committee.

The CPC’s plan is to finalize the needs assessment and application by its August meeting, at which time public outreach dates – scheduled for the early fall – will also be finalized.

Regarding outreach, the CPC discussed different methods for this over the next two months. These included public service announcements and show appearances on Norwood Community Media (NCM), a press release and possible articles in the local print media, and a reserved CPC table for Norwood Day on Sept. 8.

These things will lead into the application roll out motioned by McFarland. According to the timetable he presented, the public orientation meeting regarding the application and needs assessment will take place on Sept. 26 (subject to room availability), followed by the opening of the CPA application period on Oct. 15 and its closing on Nov. 16.

The CPC will also have its regularly scheduled meetings during this time.

This having been established, Halkiotis tried to temper expectations:

“I would not be surprised or discouraged if – this fall – we only have one (application), or maybe two, or maybe none. It will take awhile for people to understand what this is about.”

In response to this, several suggestions were put forward by Committee members, including the possibility of dredging Ellis Pond, applying to purchase the undeveloped land at 84 Morse St. should the Boch deal fall through, renovating Workman’s Hall, building a dog park, and tot lots.

The next scheduled CPC meeting will be on August 8.

THE ANCIENT ART OF NORTHERN INDIA

The Morrill Memorial Library in Norwood is excited to announce a presentation and workshop with New England artist and art instructor, Sunanda Sahay on Thursday, Aug. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Sunanda will be leading us on a journey through the history and creation of Mithila art. Mithila, or Madhubani, art is the ancient and traditional art form of Northern India, originally practiced by women and transferred to their daughters as a closely guarded secret, depicting mainly mythological stories and rites and rituals of daily life. The main theme is densely surrounded by nature and birds, making them integral motifs to the style. The evening will start with a presentation about Madhubani art and then Sunanda will lead the class in creating their own samples to take home. Sunanda Sahay has been painting in Mithila/Madhubani style for the last 20 years and has held exhibitions, workshops, artist-in-residency, talks, and interactive workshops at several museums (PEM, MFA, Danforth, Fitchburg art, Boston Children), schools, colleges, libraries, and various other community places. She is the recipient of the MCC Finalist Award (2010), Apprenticeship Award (2014, 2016), and has been part of various juried shows.

All materials will be provided and space is limited. Registration is required and all ages are welcome. To sign up, please call the library at 781-769-0200 x110, email norprograms@minlib.net, or visit the Reference or Information Desk.

TURN THE PAGE BOOK GROUP TO DISCUSS "REMARKABLE CREATURES"

The Morrill Memorial Library's Turn the Page Book Club will meet again on Wednesday, Aug. 15 at 10 a.m. and again at 7 p.m. to talk about Tracy Chevalier's "Remarkable Creatures." When Mary Anning uncovers an unusual fossilized skeleton in the cliffs near her home on the English coast, she sets the religious fathers on edge, the townspeople to vicious gossip, and the scientific world alight. Luckily, Mary finds an unlikely champion in prickly Elizabeth Philpot, and in the struggle to be recognized in the wider world, Mary and Elizabeth discover that friendship is their greatest ally. This book promises to be a great summer read! To sign up for this month's group, led by Charlotte Canelli and Irene Gotovich, please call 781-769-0200, x110 or 222, fill out the form below, or stop by the library Reference or Information Desk. Legion logs off for the summer with yet another tournament berth to show for Since taking over as manager for the Norwood Post 70 American Legion team in 2004, Paul Samargedlis has led the Boys of Summer to a 231-149-2 record, a .607 winning percentage.

Another summer has come and gone for the Norwood Post 70 American Legion baseball team, the 2018 campaign ending in the District 6 tournament last week.

Post 70 wrapped up the summer with an 11-10 mark (10-8 in the regular season), a record which was good enough to get the team into the tournament for the 14th time in 15 seasons under manager Paul Samargedlis.

After the Norwood High baseball team missed the postseason this spring for the first time since 2010, coupled with the success of several other high school teams that comprised rival legion rosters, the task before Post 70 was a tall one this summer. An 8-4 start gave way to a 1-4 tailspin, but Norwood was able to eke out a win in its regular season finale to punch its tournament ticket.

“Going into this season, we knew who was in our division and we knew the success all those teams had in high school,” Samargedlis said. “It was critical to show Norwood can be just as successful and have a shot and we did.”

Franklin Post 75 was comprised of mainly Franklin High players who’d captured the 2018 MIAA Super 8 title, while Walpole Post 104 and Foxboro Post 93 were also made up of Super 8 talent from the spring. Needham Post 14 was a combination of MIAA Division 1 state champions, as well as ISL winners from St. Sebastian’s.

Pitching was the secret sauce for Norwood all summer

New league, new-ish schedule for Norwood field hockey team

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

A new league can’t put a halt to some of the Norwood High field hockey team’s historic rivalries.

While the Mustangs begin play in the Tri-Valley League this fall, a schedule complete with 14 league games, that still leaves room for four nonconference games. And sure enough, Norwood is using three of those to keep in touch with its old Bay State Conference – Herget Division brethren.

Walpole, Wellesley and Natick remain on the docket for Norwood this fall in field hockey, even if it is just a single game vs. its three rivals rather than two. Canton, annually a nonleague opponent for Norwood out of the Hockomock League, is also hanging around.

The Mustangs play host to the Porkers on Sept. 24 and hit the road to face the Raiders on Oct. 1 and the Redhawks on Oct. 11. They’ll also be away for the nonleague contest with the Bulldogs, which takes place on Oct. 13.

Norwood hasn’t beaten Walpole in field hockey since the 2002 Division 1 South semifinals, and hasn’t earned a point against the Porkers since October 2014, when the team’s played to a 1-1 tie. The Mustangs split their season series with both Wellesley and Natick last year, winning one and losing one, and also defeated Canton in their lone matchup.

“Wellesley is always a great team,” Doliner said. “They’re always a tournament team, so we wanted to keep as much competition on our schedule as we could get.

“Natick, their coach has done such a 180 with that program, and I think you can see it in their results the last several seasons. It’s always a fun game, a fun, competitive game.”

While Norwood is facing each of its new Tri-Valley

League – Large Division opponents twice, a group that includes Westwood, Hopkinton, Holliston, Medfield and Ashland, it is playing only four games against the small side of the TVL. This group includes Dedham, which Norwood kept on the schedule last year for a nonleague game (losing, 1-0), as well as Bellingham, Dover-Sherborn and Medway.

Stingrays squeaking out wins

After dropping each of their first three meets of the summer, the Norwood Stingrays are back on track with wins in two of their last three.

As the calendar progresses, so too do the Norwood Stingrays, who picked up their first win of the season in the South Suburban Swim League.

The Stingrays have won back-to-back meets after dropping their first three contests of the summer, earning wins over the Millis Mohawks on July 19 and more recently, the Sherborn Snappers on July 26.

"The Stingrays had a great week," head coach Katherine Lee said.

The week also included a loss to Natick in Dug Pond, though the setback wasn't without its highlights for Norwood. According to Lee, the standout swimmer of the meet was 10-year-old Jordan Kinch, who qualified for the A-Regionals in Newton later this month in both the freestyle and breaststroke.

First-time Stingray Megan Weafer, 9, also qualified for the A-Regionals in the 25-yard freestyle event in the 9 and 10-year-old bracket.

"All of the Stingrays did a great job," Lee said.

Weafer was part of the med-

Allison Doliner is set to begin her sixth season as head coach of the Norwood High field hockey team. Under her guidance, the Mustangs have made the postseason each and every season.

You won't see Norton or Millis, the remaining TVL – Small schools, on the schedule for the Mustangs in field hockey this year, as neither school currently fields a field hockey team.

Norwood opens the 2018 season on Tuesday, Sept. 4 vs. Westwood at 3:45 p.m. on the front lawn of Norwood High School and closes out the regular season on Friday, Oct. 26 at Medfield.

The Mustangs finished 9-8-2 in 2017, dropping their opening round tournament game to Dartmouth, 3-2. Norwood will remain in the Division 1 South sectional for field hockey; the Mustangs have made the tournament each fall since 2011.

Soccer schedules differ greatly in TVL play

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

Jumping to the Tri-Valley League should make for much more competitive matches on the pitch this fall at Norwood High.

Both the girls' and boys' soccer teams are ready to become full-fledged members of the TVL, where a leveling of the playing field should do wonders for teams that struggled during the end of their Bay State Conference days.

Unsurprisingly, neither team stocked their nonleague slates with many BSC foes; each team will play Walpole High once, as seemingly every team at Norwood will continue to, but no one else from its former home.

The lone other nonleague match for each team is set to come against Stoughton High, a returning opponent from last year. For the girls' team, its lone win came against the Black Knights.

In league, the soccer teams will play a 16-game league schedule, consisting of 10 total games vs. TVL Large Division opponents (home-and-home series) and single games vs. each of the six TVL Small Division schools.

Save for Walpole High, neither the girls nor boys soccer teams at Norwood High will play any teams from the Bay State Conference on the pitch this fall.

The boys' team is set for eight home matches and 10 on the road, as it'll face four TVL Small schools away from Father Mac's in Dedham, Dover-Sherborn, Millis and Norton while welcoming in Bellingham and Medway. Walpole comes to Father Marc's and Stoughton is on the road.

The girls' team will play an even nine home matches and nine road matches, hosting Dover-Sherborn, Millis and Norton from the TVL Small and traveling to Bellingham, Medway and Dedham. Walpole is a home match for the girls, while long, keeping the team competitive in nearly every game it took the field. The team earned run average (ERA) was an impressive 2.78, with Cam Flahive's 0.58 mark over 24 1/3 innings the cream of the crop.

Mat Rice posted a 2.25 ERA over 28 innings and Danny Quinn logged a 4.03 ERA with a team-leading 31 2/3 innings of work, while Michael James (1.17), Jay Wladkowski (2.69) and Chris Petracca (3.21) all chipped in with more limited roles on the mound.

"The pitching all year was good. We're very particular about what's an earned run and what's not an earned run," Samargedlis said, noting how meticulous he and his staff are when it comes to making sure all of their pitchers' statistics are accurate.

The offense never fully clicked for Post 70 this summer, even with a respectable .270 team average. Paul Manning led the team with a .394 average (13 for 33), while James (.321, 17 for 53), Jay Wladkowski (.308, 20 for 65) and Michael Dooley (.333, 15 for 45) were also above .300 among qualified hitters.

James, Flahive, Petracca, Dooley and Charlie Gover exhausted their Legion eligibility this summer, as all will be at least 20 years old by the time next summer rolls around.

Thirteen players can return next summer, however, including a quartet of players set to take the field in this weekend's Massachusetts Legion All-Star Showcase at Lincoln-Sudbury High School.

Samargedlis will lead the District 6 All-Stars in the single-elimination tournament, comprised of eight Legion districts from across the state. Heading out to Feeley Field in Sudbury with him will be Jay Wladkowski, as well as a trio of 15-year-olds in Robbie Wladkowski, Jason Denehy and Sean French.

"We've got a bright future ahead," Samargedlis said. "I'm just as excited next year for as the first year I coached."

Through a decade and a half, Samargedlis has guided Post 70 to a 231-149-2 record, good enough for a .607 winning percentage.

"I still enjoy it. Being around youth and sports, there's something to say for that," Samargedlis said.

"I'm proud of them because they came prepared and competed every single day," he said of this year's group.

Samargedlis also said he expects the Norwood High baseball team to return to its rightful spot in the postseason next spring, which of course can serve as a springboard to a memorable summer.

"They're going to be strong next year," he said of Kevin Igoe's group. "I can't wait to see them make a deep run next year and then we take that as a bounce into the summer."

Ask The Doctor

Junior Damato began servicing vehicles in 1969. He owns a 10-bay auto repair service center in Hyde Park and an 8-bay center in Middleboro. Junior is an ASE-certified Master Technician, ASE-certified L-1 and ASE-certified Natural Gas.

To the Doctor: I am building a 1966 Mustang and have purchased many new reproduction parts, but found the quality to be very poor and in some cases, broken in the box. Some parts do not even line up. Any suggestions on where to purchase quality reproduction parts?

From the Doctor: You are not alone in getting poor quality reproductions and it's not only on Mustangs - it's the majority of parts sold, mostly imported from outside of the U.S. I found a company a couple of years ago that has very good quality parts for old Fords and other makes, and the pricing is also very good. I've tried rear sequential LED taillights and replacement rear-view mirrors with built-in turn signals that are a simple install. The company is United Pacific located in Long Beach, CA. Their web address is uapac.com/antique or call 1-888-986-6088 and a real person will answer.

To the Doctor: I have always wanted to build a replica Cobra and would like whatever information you can provide on how this can best be done.

From the Doctor: This is my dream car as well. I will warn you that there are many for sale on the internet and a lot are very poorly made. However, there is a company south of Boston named Factory Five. They have a Cobra kit as well as a coupe and a '33 Ford. I purchased one last fall. The Factory Five Mark IV is the way to go. If you want to build the car yourself, I suggest you attend the three-day building school at Mott College in Howell, MI (517-552-2163). This three-day school is hands on and a must if you want to build a Cobra. Next, I recommend you buy all needed components, including the engine and transmission. The engine choice should be the new Ford Mustang 5.0 Coyote. It is an easy fit and the exhaust is a lot quieter than the old 302 engines. I will say that it never gets old driving the Cobra around.

Boston's own Junior Damato, "The Auto Doctor" has agreed to field auto repair questions from Bulletin and Record readers. Please forward your questions to news@bulletinnewspapers.com and we will do our best to get your questions answered.

ley relay team that picked up a win right off the bat to begin Norwood's meet vs. Sherborn, a group which also included 11-year-old Micaela Brown, 13-year-old Sana Dhillon and the anchor, 8-year-old Lucca Connors.

John Lynch, 10, blazed through the 25-yard butterfly in 23.08 seconds, and Josh Brewer, representing the 8-and-under division, held his own in the 25-yard freestyle with a 24.47 showing.

Dual meets weren't the only competition on the agenda for the Stingrays last week, with the league's annual Mile Swim event back at Dug Pond going off on Friday.

Nine members of the Norwood team took place in the event, including four for the first time.

Victor Greene, Joseph Greene, Aidan Hurley, George Lynch, Jake Wilkinson, Hannah Abrahams, Megan Crispi, Mikhaila Hurley and Kathryn Greene represented the Stingrays, with Abrahams having the strongest showing, finishing the race in 23rd out of 47 swimmers from across the league. Lynch, Crispi, Aidan Hurley and Kathryn Greene were the first-time milers.

The Framingham Frogs won the Mile Swim, followed by Newton Recreation and the Needham Sharks to round out the top three. Norwood as a team place 10th, ahead of Westwood Recreation.

This week has been busy for the Stingrays, with dual meets vs. at home vs. the Sharks and Canton Dolphins on Tuesday and Wednesday, each race held after the Record's deadline. It'll be three nights in a row in the pool for Norwood overall, with a dual meet at the Walpole Barracudas on Thursday night.

The B-Regionals meet is on Saturday at 8 a.m. at Gath Pool in Newton.

On another note, Fire Chief Tony Greeley bid a fond farewell to the Norwood Fire Department, as he is now retired and moving on to new adventures. Norwood residents need to understand the firestorm that was the NFD when Greeley took over the helm, and only under his calming and graceful guidance was the department brought back into the good graces of both public officials and residents. A lot of hard feelings were put to rest by Tony Greeley, and the department appears to be functioning as well as any in the Commonwealth. A job well done! Good luck and good health to Chief Greeley.
