The first of two Special Town Meetings was held on Monday night, Nov. 6, in the High School auditorium. Of the two articles on the warrant, Article 2 – pertaining to the Town’s authorization of the Board of Selectmen to purchase the Forbes Hill development – took up the majority of the three-and-a-half hour session.

The Finance Commission recommended the original Article for indefinite postponement, largely because of its concern regarding the annual budget implications of what would be a $13 million deal.

Chairman Alan Slater explained this decision to approximately 150 Town Meeting members.

“For us to pay $1.2 million under the annual budget would be almost impossible. It would be a catastrophe for both the Town side and the School side,” he said. “We’d see significant cuts or loss of services and we found that to be unacceptable.”

A substitute motion was immediately

On Saturday, Nov. 4, the Board of Selectmen held a special meeting at Town Hall to hold public interviews for the position of General Manager being vacated by John Carroll next month.

The three finalists who went before the Board were, in order of appearance, Adams Town Administrator Tony Mazzucco, Norfolk Town Administrator Jack Hathaway, and Natick Deputy Town Administrator William Chenard.

Each candidate, escorted separately into the Selectmen’s Chambers and introduced by search committee consultant Bernie Lynch, spent almost exactly an hour fielding approximately 20 questions from each of the five members of the Board, who often asked the same ones of each interviewee.

Some of the more popular questions asked the candidates to describe their management styles and philosophies, how they viewed their relationship with the Board of Selectmen, and their thoughts on and experiences with Town Meeting.

More technical questions had to do with the applicants’ experiences with new information and financial systems (which the Town is considering) and with the growing financial challenges of OPEB (Other Post-Employment Benefits) provided by local governments to their retired employees.

Each candidate was asked variations of job interview staples such as “where do you see yourself in five years,” and candidates were also asked to share what they knew about the Town.

The finalists, each of whom brought a certain amount of similar background experience, also provided a great deal

University Avenue rink, Wendy's/BJ's top agenda

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The Conservation Commission met on Wednesday, Nov. 1 in Rm. 12 of Town Hall.

Three appointments were on the agenda, with only one of them actually appearing before the Commission.

The first appointment of the meeting concerned the long continued notice of intent regarding 1412-1420 Boston Providence Turnpike (a.k.a. the Wendy's/BJ's Development).

As at the Oct. 18 meeting, the developer's representatives had earlier requested a continuance.

This did not preclude discussion by the Commission regarding the case. Specifically, Joe DiMaria raised the question of whether or not the two lots are subdivisions, which he brought up in relation to the site's detention basin – and the responsibility for it.

In relation to this, he interpreted the driveway connecting the two lots and, by extension Route 1 and Sumner Street, make it – under the zoning bylaw – a subdivision, which would make a difference in designating the detention basin should private/public ownership become an issue.

"It's kind of important to get some agreement up front as to the future of the ownership of that detention basin," DiMaria reiterated. "And that's what I'd like to have cleared up at the next meeting."

DiMaria faced some opposition to his interpretation from Conservation Agent Al Goetz, who referred to Planning Board subdivision regulations, as explained to him by Town Planner Paul Halkiotis.

"According to the definition in his (Halkiotis') book, this is not a subdivision because it already has frontage on two streets so that it has plenty of frontage to meet the requirements for an ANR (Approval Not Required) plan," Goetz said. "So that's why they're getting away with not having a subdivision."

DiMaria continued with his point, arguing that the rule wasn't clear and that cars would be able to pull in off of Route 1 and cut through the property to Sumner Street.

"In my book, that's a road," DiMaria said. "It's not somebody's

What is Dry Needling

Dry Needling is a specific treatment technique that uses a solid filament needle to treat homeostatic and symptomatic trigger points which are creating pain and discomfort. A muscle trigger point is a highly localized, hyper-irritable spot in muscle fibers that develops from inflammation, tissue injury, and other issues. These trigger points are located throughout the body and play a role in producing and sustaining feelings of pain.

Selectmen choose General Manager

Matt MacDonald
Staff Reporter

The Board of Selectmen gathered on Tuesday evening, Nov. 7, for its regularly scheduled weekly meeting.

In direct relation to the events of last week's special meetings, the first item on the evening's agenda was the selection of the new General Manager. The vote was unanimous, with Tony Mazzucco – currently serving as Town Administrator in Adams, Massachusetts – receiving the vote of the entire Board.

Mazzucco, in his interview, had stated his intention to move to Town to begin the next phase of his life. This made its way into the Thomas Maloney's remarks after announcing his choice.

"He is – I think – a rare talent, and he possesses a wisdom, maturity, and a confidence combined with humility that surpasses his years on this Earth. I think – as promised – he will move to this Town; he will immerse himself not only in the job but in the life here in Norwood, and he will be with us for a very long time."

Helen Donohue, who said that she had seriously considered two candidates before settling on the Randolph native, took a slightly different tone than Maloney had.

"I'm going to support and vote for Antonio Mazzucco with one tiny reservation: I hope that we can impose on him the importance of him staying in the Town of Norwood for a length of time."

Chairman Plasko – as Maloney had before him – commented positively on Mazzucco's relative youth.

"I think he'll be a nice breath of fresh air. I know every time I speak with him I feel younger and enthused all over again myself, and I hope that carries on to everyone he deals with in the community because – if it does – we'll be in a very good place."

Plasko excused himself immediately after the decision had been made – handing over the gavel to Allan Howard and returning to the Selectmen's Chambers halfway through Chief Brooks' monthly report and flashing a thumbs up to Howard as he retook his chair.

This brings to fruition a search process that began in the late summer.

There were five appointments scheduled for Tuesday's meeting, three of which were show cause hearings resulting from the underage drinking sting that was carried out by the Norwood Police Department on Sept. 7. As a result of this operation, nine out of 18 establishments visited were caught in violation. Consequently, all nine have made – or will be making – appearances before the Board.

Scheduled to appear this week were Thai Boo Cuisine (712 Washington St.), Napper Tandy's (46-48 Day St.), and Lewis Restaurant & Grille (92 Central St.). The owners of Thai Boo Cuisine – through their attorney – requested a continuance to Dec. 12 which was approved.

In the cases of both Napper Tandy's and Lewis' Restaurant &

Grille, due to their clean records over the last 10 years, written warnings were approved but – as with the three prior sting cases to go before the Board – stern warnings were given not to make the same mistake again.

In his Manager's Report, John Carroll brought up the concerns of Town Engineer Mark Ryan regarding the continuous flow of sewer service cleaning calls made to homes – some on a regular basis – and recommended, on Ryan's suggestion, that a fee of $300 be charged. Currently, calls during regular hours are free, while after hours calls are charged $400.

Helen Donohue was in disagreement with this proposal.

"I really don't think that's a good idea. And the reason that I feel that way is because a lot of the problems with the sewers are the result of the way the sewer is constructed." She went on to say, "The problem is not caused by the homeowner in some cases."

Carroll agreed, "In a situation like that, we would certainly excuse them."

"If it's during the workday," Donohue continued, "I think paying a charge is unfair. We're paying through the nose for sewer and water."

When Plasko proposed adding a waiver to the motion, Donohue recommended a public hearing to make the taxpayers aware of what was happening.

The motion was tabled until next week, to give the public an option to contact the Board.

The meeting ended with Plasko commenting on both the incoming Mazzucco and the outgoing Carroll.

"I've now had the privilege of being involved in the appointment of two Town Managers, and I can only hope that the second choice is as positive and successful as that first choice was."

TM placed in a terrible mess

The Town of Norwood will soon be the owners of 27 acres of land in the Upland Woods area, commonly referred to as the Forbes Hill property. It has plenty of trees, a lot of water, and even a mansion. However, there were no claps on the back when the final vote was taken, no high fives between Town officials...in other words, there was no joy in Muddville that day. And there shouldn't have been. The choice was between two evils, and there is plenty of blame to go around as to how Town Meeting found themselves having to choose between the less odorous of them. We aren't stating TM made the right choice because there was no right choice to be made. What we are stating is that the decision was made the right way and, in that respect, everyone should be satisfied.

This isn't a fair deal for everyone, Norwood got "pantsed" in its business dealings with the pros at Marcus Davis. The developers were playing chess from the very beginning while Selectmen and keen counsel Karis North were playing checkers. However, that wasn't the discussion for TM to ponder on Monday evening, and Town Moderator David Hern made sure of it. When speakers on both sides of the issue started to wander into areas of assigning blame or defending actions, Hern was even-handed in his rebukes.

Excellent arguments were made against the purchase of the land, starting with the Finance Commission and then well-prepared speakers in the audience. And they were absolutely correct when each of them said that no decision should be made to purchase with so little information available to base the decision on. This Town should not be in the real estate business, whether in developing or flipping the property. It also doesn't have the funds on-hand to deal with the continuous renovations and maintenance required in owning a property like the Forbes Mansion. Few do, particularly a cash-strapped municipality like Norwood that will probably have to decide starting as early as next spring on which public or school services will need to be cut back or eliminated because of the purchase.

Equally good arguments were made by those in favor of buying the land. None were based on sound business principles, but that didn't make them wrong. Norwood will get to control its own destiny relative to this land, the schools won't be inundated with new kids, and perhaps ways can be devised to mitigate the cost of the property by selling off pieces and generating revenue from the mansion. Town Planner Paul Halkiotis summed it up pretty well when he said the cost of the property will ultimately be less than $13 million, given the ways the Town can recoup some of its funds.

So, a decision was made and it is up to Selectmen to carry out the purchase. Given the December 31 deadline, they have a lot to do in a short period of time. However, the guess at this address is that Marcus Davis Partners will do everything they can to help the Town along. And why not? They are going to reap a windfall without ever breaking ground. Only in America...

driveway."

"That's a Planning Board argument they would have, not a Conservation Commission," Peter Bamber said.

"The problem exists that there is a detention basin that is used by two separate properties and there's no plan about who is going to maintain it in perpetuity," DiMaria replied.

After this discussion, the hearing was unanimously continued to Nov. 15.

Representatives of the Skating Club of Boston appeared to request for an abbreviated notice of resource area delineation for its property located at 750 University Ave., part of which it plans to use for a single building skating rink holding three sheets of ice and ranging in size from 130-150,000 square feet.

Present on behalf of the skating club was its Executive Director, Doug Zeghibe, OPM (Owner's Project Manager) Tom Fanning, and Sean Reardon – Vice President of Tetra Tech – consulting on the project.

Reardon did almost all of the talking, going through a detailed diagram of the site in order to identify the almost 90 percent of its land that falls into the category of some resource area or other.

As shown by Reardon, these areas include flood plain, isolated vegetated wetlands and their borders, land under water, and outright wetlands.

As yet, there is currently no rink location.

"We know that we have to figure out what our boundaries are," Reardon explained. "We have to make sure we know exactly where all the resource areas are."

Having walked the site, Goetz determined that the lines determining the resource areas as laid out in the diagram were correct. It was also determined that one particular manmade isolated wetland was – under Norwood's jurisdiction – eligible to be moved, which it will likely have to be to put the rink in.

The motion to approve the resource area delineation was approved unanimously.

The other appointment of the evening, concerning the request for a certificate of compliance for a project at 429 Neponset St., first came up at the Oct. 18 meeting, when the Commission had granted a two-year extension on the local by-law to finish the project: the completion of some units that had been left unfinished. This vote had to be rescinded because it was determined that the extension option had expired, even through the state.

Regarding the request for a compliance certificate, the Commission voted for a partial certificate for work completed, and in favor of a Notice of Intent to be filed for the unfinished work, involving the reinstallation of foundations which are located in a buffer zone.

The next Conservation Commission meeting is scheduled for Nov. 15 at 7:30 p.m.

The Wounded Warrior Amputee Football Team (WWAFT) will play a flag football game against New England's NFL Alumni this Saturday from noon to 2 p.m. at Xaverian Brothers High School in Westwood.

The WWAFT is the creation of Volunteer Executive Director Chris Visser, a longtime producer with Fox Sports, who was brought on in part due to his experience with NFL players.

"Everyone makes this comment that football players are 'warriors' and, to a man, every single NFL player I've worked with or known over the last 35 years would tell you, 'No, we're not warriors. Those guys are warriors,'" Visser said.

Seeing what he called "a great, synergistic fit" between NFL players and wounded warriors, Visser was spurred into action while putting on a 2011 golf tribute for 9/11 survivors from western Massachusetts (he and his sister, sportscaster Lesley, hail from South Hadley). During the proceedings, he was introduced to a couple of military amputees who made an impression on him.

"As soon as I met them, I realized that there was more that we could do, more that could be done to help raise awareness for what these guys are going through," Visser said.

A few months later, the Wounded Warriors Amputee of contrast to each other, particularly in their delivery styles.

During his interview, Mazzucco spoke quickly and excitedly, cramming seemingly as much information as possible into his responses, always at the ready with more.

Thomas Maloney asked Mazzucco about how his experience had prepared him to oversee a $190 million municipality with its own airport, light department, recreation department, and department of public works.

“The size of an organization isn’t necessarily where its complexity lies,” Mazzucco said.

He then went into some of his additional responsibilities in Adams, which include dealing with two regional school districts and a charter school. He then went back to his time as Assistant Town Manager of Caribou, Maine, including the regional responsibilities centered there, as well as the responsibilities inherent with managing a border town.

“The complexity is going to be there one way or the other,” Mazzucco said, referring to the increased resources that typically go with a larger organization

In comparison to Mazzucco, Hathaway came across as relatively slow spoken and understated, which reflected itself in the fact that during his hour, he was asked the fewest number of questions.

One question that Hathaway was asked by William Plasko referred to his references and the fact that they cited his success at eliminating “fiefdoms” and that “he broke down the barrier that once existed between the Town and Schools.”

Plasko, acknowledging some barriers in the Town, asked how he had broken Norfolk’s down.

Hathaway responded that it was “all communication” before going into his background working with the School Department and its Superintendent – of which there have been seven during his 12 years as Town Administrator – and how the two would work closely together before going back to the Board of Selectmen and School Committee, either jointly or separately, with any plans.

“So it’s all about being able to sit down and work out a reasonable plan at my level, and then bringing that up as a joint plan to the elected officials,” Hathaway said.

The final candidate to be interviewed, Chenard, fell somewhere between the first two in terms of delivery. Conversational in tone and active in body language, he was the only candidate to draw some of the Selectmen into more impromptu exchanges regarding questions asked.

His knowledge of the Town was also relatively extensive, as was his familiarity with financial information systems.

Speaking of strategic planning regarding capital projects for a town, Chenard said that the role of the General Manager should be more that of a facilitator rather than a decision maker. Going into more detail, he spoke of getting out to the different buildings by talking with the different building managers in order to better understand and forecast what repairs might need to be done over the next 20 years.

“If you can strategically plan that so that you’re doing sections of it over time, you can actually afford to do it without having a huge impact on the taxpayers,” Chenard said. “But you’ve got to think it out. If you aren’t thinking long term with capital planning, you’re missing the boat.”

At the conclusion of the three interviews, the motion was approved unanimously by the Board to make a decision on the next general manager at the Selectmen’s meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Football Team was playing its first game in Indianapolis during the week leading up to Super Bowl XLVI.

"It's not hard for us – witness the fact that Drew Bledsoe's flying all the way back from Washington for this game – it's not hard for us to try to coax a few NFL alumni to come out and help us honor these wounded warrior amputees," Visser said.

Although the WWAFT has held some of its 16 games at large venues, most have been played at high school stadiums in cities and towns across the country.

"I don't want to sound corny, but that's part of the point: a community standing up, rising up to honor these men and women," Visser said.

This game at Xaverian came about because of Visser's long friendship with Don Hasselback, whose two sons attended the high school, and because of his relationship with former New York Giants full-back and graduate Greg Comella. According to Visser, within five minutes of introducing himself to Coach Charlie Stevenson, he was told, "We would be honored to host your tribute."

The game itself is made up of two 30-minute halves, with the core of the Wounded Warrior Amputee Football Team made up of between 15 and 20 players. Additional local amputees are also encouraged to join in.

This weekend, the WWAFT will go to Quincy Market on Friday night and then attend the Boston Bruins game against the Toronto Maple Leafs on Saturday night before flying home on Sunday.

The 30 or so NFL alumni – with the exception of Bledsoe – will all be local, with around 15 of them coming from Boston College.

Marathon amputees supported and befriended during their rehabilitations by some of the same wounded warriors who will be playing, will also be at the game to cheer them on.

Before the game, fans will be able to go onto the field to mingle with players, coaches, local sports celebrities, and whoever else happens to be there.

"The game is part of it, and it's fun, but it's more just about everyone being together," Visser said.

Proceeds from the event will primarily go toward Sierra Delta: The Service Dog Network for Veterans.

"We are trying to call more attention to the need for service dogs," Visser said.

"Dogs can provide so much help, comfort, assistance, whether it's military dealing with TBI (traumatic brain injury) or CTE (chronic traumatic encephalopathy), or civilians dealing with some health issues. More can be done in this area, I believe, and that's why we adopted this cause."

In keeping with that theme, any attendees bringing dogs to the game will be allowed in free of charge.

In keeping with Veterans Day, parents attending with a child who is wearing a uniform of any kind (team jersey, Scouts, Marching Band, etc.) will also be allowed in free of charge.

Speaking of what he is hoping for on Saturday, Visser brought up a special expression for him.

"My late mother used to say, 'Make a memory. Make a memory.' and I'm hoping that the communities will make a memory," he said.

Tickets cost $10 for adults. Children, students, and military families may enter free of charge.

For more on this event, visit wwaft.org. The Norwood Record has free tickets available until Friday at 4 p.m.

made by the Board of Selectmen to appropriate the $13 million dollars for the purchase, with Chairman William Plasko then making a presentation outlining the background of the negotiations, estimating expenses, and offering possible funding options.

Plasko estimated the annual maintenance of the Forbes Estate at somewhere between $200,000 to $230,000 and its renovation costs at around $1.5 million.

Given the lack of time to arrange other money-raising options (the Forbes Hill developers have given the end of the calendar year as a fixed deadline), Plasko put forward the suggestion of the Town issuing BANs (Bond Anticipation Notes) – in which only interest payments would be due for the first two years – as a way to lessen expenses while determining the best way to proceed with the property.

At the conclusion of Plasko's presentation, the floor was opened for discussion. The first to speak was Finance Commission Vice Chair Anne Marie Haley who – after clarifying that she was speaking in her capacity as a Town Meeting member rather than a FinCom member – made brief but forceful remarks in favor of passing the article.

Haley got at a recurring theme from the meeting.

"If we vote yes for this tonight, we will have the time to take back our Town and to be able to make our own decisions."

In the two hours that followed, approximately 30 people stood up to ask questions about or comment on the proposed purchase of the property. These included Board of Selectmen members Allan Howard – who informed the assembly that he had spoken with a couple of interested parties regarding the purchase of the site – and Helen Donohue, who again voiced her opinion in opposition.

"If it's so great for $13 million, how come somebody else didn't buy it?"

The opinions of those who shared them were strong:

Catherine Burgess bemoaned the fact that the Town had been lacking for so long in purchasing land for open space, and viewed approval of the article as an opportunity.

"We cannot let any more land go. Nobody's making land. I just think we have to do it... It will be a Town jewel. Guarantee it."

Mike Riley, although expressing interest in buying the land, expressed equal reservations regarding financing it, referring specifically to the BANs.

"The Bond Anticipation Note is really just kicking the can down the road two years or three years, and at that point we're going to be told it's a fait accompli. We need to pay this bond money."

Ed Ferris – in an exchange on overrides that included Town Moderator David Hern, Plasko, and Slater – expressed his own misgivings.

"While I myself have been pushing for an override for a very long time for the schools, an override for this I find very questionable. Passions aside – these I understand very well, which bothers me no end because there is no good choice here – I'm very concerned. I honestly don't know what I will do right now."

Late in the discussion, Paul Eysie stood up and spoke.

"For most of the night, I was definitely against this, but I've completely changed my mind. I feel that the Town has to take control now."

He went into ways of subdividing the land, selling it, and having the Town coming out ahead,

"But if we don't vote this through, we're never going to have that chance."

A few minutes later, Town Planner Paul Halkiotis walked to the same microphone stand that Haley had used to start things off.

He presented three options for the property, if purchased: preservation, limited development, and using it for limited manufacturing which – he pointed out – was the original intended use of the land by the Town.

"If the Town goes to buy the property, it doesn't mean we're on the hook for $13 million forever."

Lisa Igo moved the question. The vote – requiring two-thirds majority as it involved an interest in real estate as well as borrowing – was counted Town Meeting member by Town Meeting member. The matter carried with 99 in favor and 47 opposed.

Article 1 – regarding the Town's approval of $84,862,768 in borrowing authorized by the Blue Hills Regional Technical High School District for the renovation of its high school – carried unanimously.

The second Special Town Meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Girls volleyball sees postseason spike in performance

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

There's no better time to peak than tournament time.

The Norwood High girls' volleyball team is playing its best volleyball of the season in the Division 2 South tournament, and by doing so, has advanced to the sectional semifinals by winning each of its first two tournament matches despite entering with an 8-12 record.

On the heels of a thrilling five-set victory over the No. 2 seeded Stoughton Black Knights last Thursday afternoon, the No. 15 Mustangs – the lowest seed in the field – put together arguably their finest three sets of the season on Monday afternoon in a clean sweep of the Apponequet Lakers (25-7, 25-15, 25-15) in the Div. 2 South quarterfinals.

Norwood head coach Paul Nimblett, as well as two of its co-captains in Kaylin Reen and Kiki Ryan, believe the challenges of the Stoughton match gave the Mustangs all the confidence they needed to know they could play with any team in the state.

"It goes back to the Stoughton match," Nimblett confirmed. "We talked about being even-keeled no matter what the score is. Just play consistent. If the other team makes a run, you can't back down, you can't let up. We stayed high the whole time."

"I felt like if we had the lead the whole time we wouldn't let up and we'd always stay up," Ryan said. "We've been doing that for the past few matches, like in our Stoughton match, our mentality was to stay high the whole time. We did the same thing today and it's definitely brought us far."

Right from the get-go, Norwood proved it was a team on a mission. Erin Spaulding set up Ryan for an emphatic kill on the very first point of the game, a harbinger of things to come. She had another kill on the second point of the match and finished with 16 in all to lead the team. Shaniya Seney tormented Apponequet with an eight-point service run to build an 11-1 edge for the Mustangs en route to its convincing 25-7 first set win, the final point another kill courtesy of Ryan.

Over half of the Norwood High swimming and diving roster qualified for the Division 2 South sectional meet this coming weekend at MIT, while several others have already punched their ticket to the Division 2 State meet at WPI the following weekend.

Wins and losses won't tell the story of how successful a fall season it's been for the Norwood High swimming and diving team.

Despite finishing with only a single win in a dual meet, way back in its season opener vs. Weymouth High on Sept. 12, over half of Norwood High's diminutive swimming and diving roster will be competing in sectional and state meets over the next several weeks.

Eleven of the 18 Mustangs eligible for the postseason will be swimming at the Division 2 South Sectional at MIT in Cambridge on Saturday at 8:45 a.m.

On the girls' side, senior Liana Aspinwall qualified for sectionals in the diving portion of the event. Senior Grace Gillis qualified in the 100-yard backstroke, as well as three relays; junior Mikayla Jordan qualified in the 100-yard breaststroke and one relay; senior Tori Mullen qualified in both the 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley (IM), as well as two relays; junior Gia Rodriguez qualified in the 100-yard butterfly and three relays; and freshman Megan Sople qualified in three relay events.

Sople is coming off a strong showing at the Bay State Conference Championships for Norwood, which were held last Sunday at Wellesley College. She finished 20th out of 34 swimmers in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 6:05.01 and 24th out of 35 in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:15.03.

She's someone to keep an eye on over the next three seasons, according to Mustangs head coach Jennifer Rodger.

"Megan had some big drops on Sunday and very exciting races," Rodger said. "For a freshman, she had a strong season finding her place in distance freestyle events."

Rodger also noted the progress of Mullen, a captain, whose breakthrough in the 100-yard freestyle has been coming for some time.

"We were happy to see Tori qualify for sectionals in the 100 free, which has been a personal goal of hers all season," Rodger said.

For the boy's team, freshman Victor Greene qualified in the 100-yard breaststroke and three relays; junior Aidan Mulligan

Bellingham pulls away late from Norwood, 'Stangs now 0-9

Robbie Wladkowski, wearing No. 30 in blue, is a promising piece for the future of the Mustangs beyond this season. The freshman scored a pair of touchdowns in Norwood's 38-20 loss vs. Bellingham last weekend.

While the offense continues to trend in the right direction, Norwood High remains winless in 2017 on the gridiron following a 38-20 loss to the Bellingham Blackhawks.

The consolation round game, played at Norwood High School on Saturday afternoon, dropped the Mustangs to 0-9 and was the 17th consecutive loss for the team overall dating back to Week 4 in 2016.

It was the second week in a row Norwood has cracked the 20-point barrier, but Bellingham's 38 points scored were the second-most allowed by the Mustangs this season behind only Wellesley's 42 points on Oct. 14.

Things got off to a disastrous start for Norwood, as Bellingham quarterback Jim Kilduff connected with wide receiver Chris Domercant on seam route for a 69-yard touchdown pass on the very first play from scrimmage. The Blackhawks added a two-point conversion to put the Mustangs in an 8-0 hold before they even possessed the ball.

However, Norwood's response was swift. Jay Wladkowski recovered from initially mishandling the kick return at his own 16-yard line and ripped off a healthy 59-yard return down to the Bellingham 25. Three plays later, Jay's younger brother, Robbie – the lone freshman on the varsity squad for the Mustangs – rumbled and stumbled his way into the end zone after hurdling over a helpless Blackhawks defender. Jay's PAT got Norwood within a point, at 8-7.

Bellingham punted on its ensuing drive to give the Mustangs extremely favorable field position at the Blackhawks 28-yard line. Jake Smelstor capped off the brief drive with a 1-yard touchdown run on a fullback dive to give Norwood a 14-8 lead after Jay Wladkowski's PAT.

Robbie Wladkowski's big day continued when he picked off Kilduff on the next drive for Bellingham at around the Norwood 10-yard line, keeping momentum firmly on the side of the Mustangs for the time being.

Following a Norwood punt, the Blackhawks were able to tie the game on a jail-break screen from 12 yards out on a pass from Kilduff to Jake Prophet. The conversion failed, but the game was tied at 14-14, a score which held through halftime. Bellingham missed an opportunity to jump back on top as time expired in the first half thanks to a stout goal line stand for the Mustangs.

Whatever opportunity the Blackhawks squandered at first half's end, they were sure to make up for it and then some as the second half got under way. Norwood received the second half kickoff with a chance to retake the lead, but there would be nothing of the sort. Bellingham forced a three-and-out on the opening possession for the Mustangs and scored on each of its next three series to effectively put the game away, the game shifting from a 14-all tie to a 38-14 advantage for the Blackhawks.

Robbie Wladkowski added his second touchdown of the game late in the fourth quarter on a 1-yard stretch play.

Furious comeback goes for naught in field hockey tournament loss

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

For the last 52 minutes of the team's final game this year, the Norwood High field hockey team dictated the tempo in its Division 1 South preliminary round tournament game against the Dartmouth Indians.

It's what happened in the infamous eight minutes beforehand that sent the 20th-seeded Mustangs (9-8-2) to an early exit from the playoffs. No. 13 Dartmouth's three-goal binge before Norwood could gain its bearings resulted in a 3-2 loss for the Mustangs last Thursday.

"It's too bad field hockey isn't a 52-minute game," Norwood head coach Allison Doliner said after the game. "We dug ourselves a hole that was really hard to get out of. Circumstances weren't really on our side today in general. It happens; that's the beauty and the beast of the playoffs. If you don't come out and play the full 60 minutes, anything can happen. That's what happened today."

qualified in the 50-yard freestyle, 100-yard freestyle and two relays; and freshman Aidan Hurley, junior Matthew Murphy and senior Billy Tomasello all qualified in at least one relay event.

Mulligan is entering the postseason with career-best times in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyles, something Rodger attributes to his power off the block.

"I've been impressed all season with his ability to push it in close races and out touch the swimmer next to him," Rodger said, adding that his work underwater is also impressive.

Mulligan's time in the 50-free is 23.04 seconds, good enough to be the No. 2 seed at sectionals. He'll also be seeded second in the 100-free with a time of 52.47 seconds.

The Division 2 States meet, which takes place, Sunday, Nov. 19 at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, will feature – for now – three Mustangs on an individual basis, although more could qualify at sectionals. Jordan will be competing in the 100-yard breaststroke, Gillis in the 100-yard backstroke, and Mulligan in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyles will take center stage.

Several Norwood medley relay teams also qualified, as did the girls 400-yard freestyle relay.

Marching Band takes gold in championship

Jake Levin
Staff Reporter

The Norwood High marching band took home a gold medal at the 2017 New England Scholastic Band Association (NESBA) championships last weekend.

The Mustangs, competing in the Division 3 Class, beat out entrants from Reading High, New Bedford High, Melrose High, Oakmont Regional High and a co-op between Plymouth North and Plymouth South High.

Under the direction of band leader Steve Conant, Norwood compiled a score of 97.50 – its highest of the season – at the event, which took place at Lawrence High School. The Mustangs have increased their score as a team in each subsequent event this season, beginning with its 76.40 score in its first competition on Sept. 30 in Medford and compiling 83.00, 85.90 and 93.50 scores leading up to the triumph in Lawrence.

Competitors were scored based on the following categories: General Effect – Music, General Effect – Visual, Ensemble Music, Performance Music, Performance Visual, Color Guard, Percussion and Drum Major.

at pulling off the impossible, but the early mistakes were simply too large to overcome against the opponent from the Old Colony League.

The game truly could not have started off any worse for the Mustangs, as Sophia Sousa scored just 1 minute, 42 seconds into the contest to give the Indians (9-4-5) a lead it wouldn't relinquish. Hailey Camire scored the first of her two goals 5:49 into the first half, after which Doliner called timeout. The immediate return yielded nothing – Camire scored again at the 7:18 the playoffs in the Division 7 South bracket. It has won each of its consolation games, however, first a 48-14 runaway over Apponequet Regional High last weekend and now the rout over the Mustangs. The Blackhawks went winless in Tri-Valley League play but are now 4-0 outside of the league.

Norwood and Bellingham will not necessarily play each other in football next year, as the schools are slated to be on different sides of the TVL. The Mustangs will be in the large division, the Blackhawks the small. However, the chance for a crossover game persists with the school in the town that borders Rhode Island.

Norwood will travel to Canton High on Friday night at 7 p.m. to face off with the Bulldogs in its final consolation game of the season. Canton finished 2-5 in the regular season and missed the Division 5 South playoffs. Its lone wins were a 42-7 blowout over Pentucket Regional High on Sept. 8 in its season opener and a 31-2 throbber of Sharon High on Oct. 14, a common opponent of the Mustangs. The Eagles beat Norwood 34-22 in consolation play on Oct. 28.

In consolation action, Canton lost 21-6 against Plymouth South High and beat Medway High 29-16 last weekend.

The Mustangs will also have their Thanksgiving Day game with Dedham on Thursday, Nov. 23 at 10 a.m. at Dedham High School.

mark, pushing the game towards the feeling of a blowout – but Dartmouth would not score again for the duration of the contest.

“Dartmouth came out on fire that first 10 minutes,” Doliner said. “I had to call a timeout five minutes into the game already down 2-0. They put one more in before it was even 10 minutes and that’s a hard hole to climb out of.”

O’Rourke scored 5:14 into the second half, a sure sign the Mustangs weren’t trekking home to Norwood without a fight. Reilly cashed in off a corner opportunity at 15:38 of the second half, banging home the rebound after the initial save had been made on an Allie McDonough shot.

Time ran out before the Mustangs could pull off what would have been a comeback for the ages, however. For as listless as Dartmouth’s offensive attack looked in the second half, the team still managed to have six corner opportunities in the final 30 minutes to just two for Norwood. For the game, the Indians held a 9-5 corner advantage.

The game was played at New Bedford High School, about a 15-minute drive from Dartmouth High’s campus. Heavy rains earlier in the week washed out the playing surface in Dartmouth, prompting the move to a neutral site.

In either regard, the game was going to be played on the South Coast. And Doliner refused to use the distance as an excuse for the team’s slow start, citing a 4-0 win at Weymouth High earlier in the year that was also a travel burden.

“We’ve had a bunch of games like that this year where the first 10 minutes kind of dictate the game for us,” Doliner said. “I don’t know if it’s tournament jitters, combined with the long ride, combined with having a lot of young players out there. Today just wasn’t our day.”

Allie McDonough, wearing No. 17 in blue, finished her sophomore season as Norwood's leading scorer with 16 goals and five assists for 21 points.

The Indians went on to lose to the No. 4 Canton Bulldogs in their next game, 2-1. Norwood had beaten Canton in the regular season, also 2-1, on Oct. 6 at Norwood High School.

The loss marked the third year in a row the Mustangs failed to win a tournament game, following first round exits in 2015 (vs. Canton) and 2016 (vs. Hopkinton). However, there’s plenty of reason for optimism that next fall could be different for Norwood.

The Mustangs will return their three leading scorers from this season, in the sophomore McDonough (16 goals, five assists), freshman Maggie Curran (nine goals, five assists) and junior Bryn Garczynski (four goals, seven assists).

Norwood tends to be a program that reloads rather than rebuilds, and the valuable tournament experience several of its younger players received in the loss against Dartmouth should quickly pay dividends. Doliner was impressed with the poise shown by several of the team’s younger players after trailing 3-0 vs. the Indians.

“It’s good to see,” Doliner said. “The seniors wanted it bad and the underclassmen that are in some pretty big positions played their hearts out. It’s a tough break to end the season but I think it’s very promising for future years too.”

In all, Norwood will graduate 12 seniors: its two goal scorers from the tournament game in O’Rourke and Reilly; captains Cassie Cahill, Mia Fanizzi and Erin Murphy; as well as Ally Naumann, Meg Pagliuca, Meghan Quinn, Rachel McCracken, Katie Fitzsimmons, Franki DeVingo and Veronica Coard.

win this, we move on to the semifinals,” Reen said. “Really, the moment we stepped off the bus, we walked into the gym and we were all in game mode.”

Reen, a four-year varsity player like Ryan, said that Ryan’s first two kills of the game really set the tone for the match. Save for a 7-0 burst in the second set by the Lakers, who were trailing 14-4 after Reen had an eight-point service run of her own, Apponequet never put together any scare of significance into the Mustangs. While the Lakers made it to within 15-12 thanks to the burst, as soon as Ryan re-entered the match after a breather, it was – literally – game over. Jasmine James had a five-point service run to give Norwood some space to work with and the team gained the essential 2-0 match lead on an Andrea Zapata kill.

The only time the Mustangs ever trailed was after the first point of the third set, which went to the Lakers. Who else but Ryan was there to put a halt to any Apponequet momentum with a kill to tie the set early at 1-1, after which Norwood wouldn’t face a deficit again.

The Lakers had just two runs of three points or more throughout the match – the 7-0 run in the second set and a quick 3-0 run in the third set.

Amazingly, the Mustangs have now won more tournament matches than last year’s team, which finished 15-5 in the regular season. While the team regressed in terms of wins, the culture remained in place for Norwood. The team wasn’t just going to the postseason because of the Sullivan rule; it’s there because it’s capable of winning matches with the talent it still possesses.

“The biggest thing I said before the tournament was that we need to get in,” Nimblett said. “We’re a good team, we play in a tough league, and we’re going to be someone to be reckoned with. And that’s what has happened. Today just shows when we play at the top of our game what we can do.”

“I think one of the biggest things is having four senior captains who were on the team last year and have been in the same situation we were last year,” Reen said. “Coming into the tournament, we were kind of like ‘alright, it’s all or nothing.’ So we’ve stepped up as leaders and brought the team together.

The Norwood High girls volleyball team is the first Mustangs team to reach a sectional semifinal since the baseball team did so in the spring of 2015. That team went on to win a state title.

The girls have been grabbing on to what we’ve been saying.”

The Mustangs continued their Cinderella run last night, in an event held after the Record’s deadline against the Milton Wildcats. Norwood was swept by Milton in each of the team’s meetings this season. The Mustangs and Wildcats (12-8) are the lone Division 2 teams in girls volleyball in the Bay State Conference.

TEACHING SELF REGULATION TO YOUNG CHILDREN

Wednesday, Nov. 15, at the Savage Educational Center – Room 219, 275 Prospect St., Norwood from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m.

Self-regulation is a complete set of skills that exert influence over internal sensations and states. These skills are necessary for consistent performance, behavior and school readiness. Without them, a child may experience a life of chaos characterized by explosiveness, violence, anxiety, substance abuse, impulsivity, hyperactivity, distractibility or mood disorders. This skill development begins at the point of conception and continues into the late twenties. This session examines self-regulatory functions through a developmental lens and offers proven strategies to develop and strengthen them.

This workshop is for families with children from toddler to early elementary years. To register contact Beverly Boudreau in the CFCE Office at 781-440-5983 or e-mail to bboudreau@norwood.k12.ma.us.
